Exploration Ship Reaches Norwegian Port with Grim Relics

Only Odd Freak of Weather Made Possible Solution of Polar Riddle

[Copyright, 1930, and all rights reserved in North and South America and Japan by the Associated Press.]

ASSOCIATED PRESS-AFTENPOSTEN BOAT HEIMEN AT SKJAER ISLAND (Norway) Sept. 1—Dr. Gunnar Horn told the Associated Press today how two harpooners, seeking drinking water on bleak White Island, stumbled on the grim solution to the mysterious disappearance thirty-three years ago of the Andree aerial polar expedition.

Leader of a Norwegian exploration mission, Dr. Horn reached this Arctic Ocean port today in his expedition ship Bratvaag with the bodies of Salomon August Andree and one of the two men with whom he set out to fly over the North Pole in a balloon.

ON WALRUS HUNT

When the Bratvaag reached White Island last month and dropped anchor among the icebergs under its bare stone mountains and its great white peak walruses were seen disporting in the frigid seas and harpooners were at once put to work. Taking their catch ashore, the majority set about preparing the walruses for food and two were assigned to search out a stream of drinking water.

These two walked along the great white silence until their eyes fell on a discarded tin can that seemed so foreign to the desolate landscape they looked farther and saw a brown mound. They investigated and found the mound to be a canvas boat, half-buried in the snow. On the boat was a boathook. This they picked up and examined. On the shaft of the hook they read the inscription, "Andree polar expedition, 1896."

AWED BY DISCOVERY

And so, awed and almost unbelieving, they knew that they had found the belated answer to one of the most spectacular riddles in all the history of exploration.

"It was with strange feelings," Dr. Horn said in a statement to the Associated Press and the Oslo Aftenposten today, "we stood on the beach where the brave Andree and his men thirty-three years ago ended their last polar wandering."

As soon as he was apprised of the harpooners' discovery Dr. Horn and the other officers of his expedition went to the place where the boat lay, a worn sledge beside it, and then they let their eyes circle about for what they must have both hoped and dreaded to find.

Ventura Arrives at Bay City

Planes Dropping Flowers on Deck Greet Vessel as it Enters Golden Gate

Captain of Rescue Steamer Pays Highest Tribute to Skipper of Tahiti

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Rescued praising the rescuers and the rescuers praising those who kept a sinking ship afloat long enough to make it possible—

That's the way the Matson liner Ventura came home today with ninety-one of the 317 passengers and crew members of the ill-fated Tahiti, which went to the bottom of the Pacific nearly three weeks ago without a man, woman or child being lost.

And San Francisco praised them all impartially in one of the most stirring welcomes ever given a hero ship here.

Among all the survivors of the foundered Tahiti there was not one who did not have a word of tribute for some one else, and with them stood William R. Meyer, skipper of the Ventura, who, like all veterans of the sea, modestly discounted the tumultuous greeting given him as the hero of the occasion, and pointed to Capt. Toten and the crew of the Tahiti as the real heroes of one of the Pacific's most dramatic stories.

SCROLL PRESENTED

While low-scudding airplanes droned around the funnels of the Ventura as it came through the Golden Gate, pelting officers and passengers alike with garlands of flowers, Acting Mayor Rossi, Treasurer Matheson, Wilson Meyer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other executives of that organization, acting as the official greeting committee, faced Capt. Meyer on his own bridge and commended him. They paid him tribute in words and presented him with a scroll testifying to the gratitude of a thankful people.

And to them, Capt. Meyer, his ruddy face reddening with modest embarrassment, said they had the Tahiti crew to thank more than him.

It was the superb seamanship of Capt. Toten, he said, that kept the Tahiti afloat after the veteran vessel of the South Seas lost its tail shaft and shipped water so fast the ship could not survive. It was his courage and presence of mind in the emergency, Capt. Meyer declared, that made it possible to keep the passengers and crew members aboard the sinking vessel until the moment of actual danger arrived and then got the lifeboats out and his charges away before the Tahiti upended and went down in a rough sea.

HEAVY SEA RUNNING

"By the time we arrived," Capt. Meyer said, "virtually all those on

WASHINGTON HEAT FELLS THREE SCORE

Thermometer Registers 102 Deg. During Annual Parade of Firemen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive.)—With the thermometer in the kiosk on Pennsylvania avenue registering 102 degrees scores of persons were overcome by the heat as they watched the annual firemen's parade pass down the historic thoroughfare today. At times the sirens of the visiting apparatus were silenced so that the traffic would give way to ambulances and private automobiles conveying the victims to the hospitals.

The parade continued for two and one-half hours and before it ended sixty persons had been treated.

The heat exceeded that of yesterday when the highest was 101 at 3 p.m. Today 102 was reached shortly after noon and continued at that figure until after 4 o'clock.

MONTANA HAS GOOD FOOTBALL WEATHER

HELENA (Mont.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Snow, frost and general low temperatures today brought good football weather to Montana.

Snow fell at Butte, Boulder, Drummond, Great Falls, Anaconda and on mountains forty miles northwest of here.

A minimum reading of 30 deg. was recorded at Cutbank, 34 at Great Falls and Lewistown; 37 at Bozeman, 39 at Hetana and 43 at Glendive.

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, now has three new titles—vice-admiral, lieutenant-general and air marshal—through promotions in three British fighting services announced today.

The Admiralty announces "Captain, His Royal Highness Edward, Prince of Wales," is promoted to vice-admiral.

The War Office states, "His Majesty, the King, has approved the appointment of Colonel, His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales and Duke of Cornwall, to the rank of lieutenant-general."

The Air Ministry similarly records the King's approval of the Prince's promotion from group captain to air marshal.

The dead are Mrs. D. C. Briggs, Miss Inez Earnest, Mrs. A. D. Robertson, Miss Irene Robertson, all of Turner, and Mrs. Herbert Briggs, Portland.

EDUCATION'S TORCH FLARES

Ortiz Rubio in Message to Congress Foresees End of Mexican Illiteracy During His Term

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—President Pascual Ortiz Rubio in his message to Congress today expressed hope that illiteracy will be practically wiped out over all Mexico by the end of his Presidency four years hence with the co-operation of the State governments and the people of Mexico who, he declares, are taking a notable interest in the regeneration and incorporation of the native races which constitute 70 per cent of the population in Mexico.

At a recent convention of State governors held in Mexico City he said that the State governments should give preference over all other matters to public instruction, devoting at least 40 per cent of the State income to education. The States would, as far as possible, handle general education, while the Federal government should look after the remote and mountainous regions which are almost altogether inhabited by Indians most of whom speak no Spanish. These include towns under 1000 inhabitants.

PROGRESS RAPID

The President said that Mexican illiteracy has decreased in ten years from 90 to 50 per cent. Education is general in the towns and villages and the struggle is now with the more remote regions.

Mexico has over 7000 Federal primary and rural schools of which 1000 were opened this year. In the Federal, State and private schools there are 1,500,000 out of 3,000,000 of school age.

Last year's Federal and State budget for education was $29,000,000 and this year's budget is $34,000,000. The Federal government expects to open 2000 rural schools next year and to have 150,000 more children in schools in the Federal districts alone. Among the interesting statements of the President was one showing the efforts toward reconstruction of all forces of the nation which have been disrupted by twenty years of successive revolutions. He said that the National Agrarian Commission is working strenuously to take the agrarian question off the books of the nation and to leave the field clear for the reconstruction of agriculture and the establishment of agricultural credit.

He said that the Federal Agrarian Commission is working overtime to Pilot and Ranger Carrying Medicine to Victims of Mt. Whitney Rock Slide Fail to Return

FRESNO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Fear for the safety of Jack Schneider, Fresno pilot, and Forest Ranger Floyd Shellabarger of Lone Pine, who took off from Independence this afternoon to drop medical supplies to the rock-slide victims near Mt. Whitney, was expressed tonight when they had not returned to Independence or this city.

Schneider landed at Independence this afternoon and picked up Ranger Shellabarger, who was to guide him to the camp of the slide victims, the Republican learned tonight. They planned to return to Independence or Lone Pine before dark as Schneider had no night flying lights.

The plane took off from Independence about 4 p.m., and was last seen near Shepherd's Pass, which is about 12,000 feet high, at 5:15. It has not been seen since.

FEAR PLANE DOWN

Ranger Sam Clark, who is stationed at Lone Pine, said tonight that he fears the plane is down somewhere in the mountain fastnesses near Mt. Whitney. Clark said he had obtained an army plane from March Field with which to begin search for the missing plane early tomorrow morning.

At Fresno George Johnson, superintendent of the Fresno Municipal Airport, is in readiness to organize a fleet of planes to fly to Independence tomorrow and aid in the search. Clark issued a warning that planes with ceilings less than 15,000 feet should not attempt the trip.

VICTIMS TO RECOVER

Dr. Morton W. Fraser, Sequoia National Park physician, who is caring for Ed Jordan and Donald Downs, the slide victims, expressed confidence today that both would recover.

Holman Sets Speed Mark; Mrs. O'Donnell Carries Off New Trophy

CURTISS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT, (Chicago) Sept. 1. (AP)—The 1930 National Air Races wound up tonight with a crash and fatal injury of a famous pilot, a probable altitude record and the fastest speed ever attained at a meet of its kind.

The classic of the competitions—the 100-mile Thompson trophy race—brought victory to Charles (Speed) Holman of Minneapolis, and disaster to Capt. Arthur Page of the United States Marine Corps. More than 60,000 spectators saw Page cut out of the race while skimming in front of the stand at more than 207 miles an hour, waver across the field and plunge to earth. He died tonight in an Evanston hospital.

In three more five-mile laps he probably would have won the race.

HOWARD SURPRISED

Holman had only James Haizlip of St. Louis to contend with in the race after Page's crash, for Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of the transcontinental speed records, dropped out with motor trouble in the fifth lap. He started the favorite.

The average speed of the winner—201.91 miles an hour—was the greatest ever attained in a national air race event. Haizlip averaged 199.30 miles an hour for second place, and Ben O. Howard of St. Louis, who never expected to have a chance with his tiny little plane of low power, took third place with an average speed of 162.80 miles.

The race was the seventh in which Howard finished in money. He won five.

Capt. Moore of Kansas City went aloft shortly before the Thompson race in his try for the altitude record with one passenger. He came back down an hour and a half later with an altimeter reading something over 28,000 feet—sufficient for a world's record if his barograph corroborates the altimeter when it is tested by the Bureau of Standards.

MRS. O'DONNELL WINS

With him, all wrapped up in fur, went Miss Alice Campbell of Evanston, Ill., making the trip by virtue of a popularity contest. The present altitude record for a flight of the kind is held by Germany at 24,672 feet. Capt. Moore flew an Inland sport plane with Warner power.

Besides the trophy donated by Charles E. Thompson, Cleveland manufacturer, Holman won $5000 in the big-speed event, Haizlip received $3000 and Howard $2000.

With the many other winners of the ten-day meet they were lined up in the evening for the presentations. Race officials handed over more than $100,000 in checks, and many trophies changed hands.

Gladys O'Donnell, mother of two children in Long Beach, Cal., collected one of the largest totals. She won the women's derby from her home city last week, placed first in several races and crowned her flying skill with victory in the fifty-mile race for the Mrs. Robert R. McCormick trophy today.

Al Williams, Brooklyn stunt flyer, who entertained through the meet with the aid of an international team, was awarded the Barber and Baldwin Merit Trophy for the most meritorious flying.

Flying from Omaha to the Navy Field here last June, he set a record for "blind flight." He sat in a hooded cockpit and was guided by radio and his instruments.

A native of Minnesota, he graduated from the Naval Academy in 1917, and entered the Marine Corps. His mother lives in New York.

Capital Cheers Ancient Horses

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Three old gray horses came out of retirement today to prance over Pennsylvania avenue and their progress was marked by a crescendo of cheering from the thousands of spectators who watched the firemen's Labor Day parade.

The horses were retired six years ago when Washington's fire-fighting equipment was entirely motorized. They were sent out to pastures near Blue Plains, Va., to graze their lives away, but are brought back annually to march on Labor Day.

Mexican Crater Belches Smoke

PICHUCALCO (Chiapas, Mex.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Reports from the village of Ostuacan said tonight Chichonal Volcano began to belch columns of smoke and steam, causing the villagers to flee in terror.

The volcano hitherto had been inactive as far back as the inhabitants can remember.

Will Rogers Remarks:

TAHOE TAVERN, Sept. 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] Quit hollering about how poor off we are and look at the real troubles of some of these other birds. Down in the Argentine soldiers are guarding their President; Peru just loaded theirs on a battleship and advised him to head for Siberia; Brazil is in a huddle; the Labor government in England is about to join the unemployed; Hearst has joined Germany and Brisbane has joined Russia, so it looks like Mexico is about the only one with no trouble at all.

Captain of Craft Included; Victims Declared to Have Been from Seattle

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The captain and nine members of the crew of the halibut schooner Orient were drowned today when that vessel sank south of Seymour Narrows after colliding with the freighter Admiral Nelson, the Pacific Steamship Company offices were informed tonight in a message from Capt. F. L. Stevens of the Admiral Nelson.

The captain said the vessels collided in dense fog off Sisters' Light, about thirty miles south of Seymour Narrows between Vancouver Island and the British Columbia mainland.

Only three members of the fishing boat crew survived, he said. They were taken aboard the Admiral Nelson, which reached Bellingham tonight and were being brought to Seattle by automobile. Capt. S. H. Rud of the Orient, who was drowned, and all members of the crew, including the nine who lost their lives, were of Seattle.

The Admiral Nelson was bound from Ocean Falls, B. C., for Bellingham, when the collision occurred.

Survivors from the Seattle schooner crew were Howard Hansen, Alfred Ellingsen and Edward Landstres. Names of drowned men were not received in the message from Capt. Stevens.

Budapest Police Fire Revolvers into Mob of Attacking Socialists

BUDAPEST (Hungary) Sept. 1. (AP)—One woman was killed and 100 persons were injured today in clashes between police and Hungarian workers engaged in a Socialist demonstration.

Police estimated 100,000 persons participated in parades while the sidewalks were jammed with many thousands of spectators.

The more cautious residents went to the country to avoid the troubles which had been forecast by promoters of the "food and work" demonstrations.

The police used their revolvers and swords in dispersing the crowds after some of the rioters, mostly youths, stoned the officers.

ACE PASSES MIDOCEAN

Coste Sighted by Steamers

Position at 4 a.m. (G.M.T.) Given as 1725 Miles Off New York

French Confident Flyer will Repay Famous Lindbergh Visit

PARIS, Sept. 2. (Tuesday) (AP) The Air Ministry announced this morning that Capt. Dieudonne Coste had given the position of his plane, the Question Mark, to the wireless operator aboard the steamer Jacques Cartier at 4 a.m. (Greenwich mean time,) as 43 north, 41:15 west, route 272.

The position given is about 1725 miles east of New York. The route given signified just slightly north of due west of Paris.

The position given indicated a sharp southward turn to the plane's course which within a few hours placed it far to the south of the usual course off the New Foundland coast, and set it almost due east of New York.

It was presumed the change was to obtain better weather conditions.

PARIS, Sept. 1. (AP)—Far out over the Atlantic Ocean tonight, winging toward America, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and his flying companion, Maurice Bellonte, in the famous Question Mark sped along the lower edge of the great circle to repay the visit of the Lone Eagle of 1927, Charles A. Lindbergh.

The valiant Frenchmen bore with them as they raced through the darkness the hopes of millions of French people who prayed for their success and believed they would complete without disaster the westward voyage on which Coli and Nungesser went to their untold fate two weeks before the Lindbergh flight.

MESSAGES WATCHED FOR

Steamships' wireless operators were alert for messages from the radio-equipped plane which took off at 4:54 a.m., E.S.T. from Le Bourget, passing over Ireland some five hours later and was lost to sight in the heavy skies beyond Valentia, projecting far into the Atlantic on the northern point at the mouth of the River Shannon, which evidently the birdmen had followed from Limerick. Before nightfall two liners had been in contact with the flyers, the Rochambeau and St. Therese.

The Rochambeau tonight wirelessed the Air Ministry that at 7:20 p.m. (G.M.T.) Capt. Coste radioed he had run between two cloudbanks and was going to veer toward the north for better weather. The Air Ministry, however, did not believe the plane was in any danger.

SEIZES RIGHT MOMENT

In France tonight there was supreme confidence that tomorrow evening at the appointed hour, just as the dauntless Lindbergh kept to his schedule, Coste and Bellonte would sweep down to receive the welcome New York so well knows how to accord heroes.

Coste, cool and calculating, had awaited the moment when he would be favored by that rare combination of wind and sky that spells perfect flying weather over the North Atlantic. Today these conditions were approximated, although it was gloomy at home.

The flyers knew what kind of weather they wanted and they waited for it.

Late yesterday Coste made it known the weather report was so good and held such promise for at least forty-eight hours he had decided to start about dawn. When the morning broke, however, it was seen conditions over Le Bourget Field were so bad a safe take-off under heavy load seemed impossible.

Coste decided to wait, although every moment of delay cut down the precious hours of daylight for his arrival on the other side of the Atlantic.

After midforenoon conditions improved so rapidly a take-off was possible.

The ace, who in war chalked up his quota of enemy aircraft without turning a hair, saw his advantage. He bade a farewell to Mme. Coste, hopped into the cockpit of the Ques-

NIGHT VEILS BALLOON RACE

Six Bags Floating Eastward Near Lake Erie When Last Seen After Take-off at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1. (AP)—Trace of their progress obscured by a hazy night, six balloons competing in the eighteenth international Gordon Bennett balloon race were believed floating a few miles west of the Ohio-Pennsylvania line near or over Lake Erie at midnight tonight.

The Coast Guard at Ashtabula Harbor, about seventy miles east of Cleveland Airport, where the race started soon after 5 p.m., were constantly scanning the skies but reported no sight of them.

The last definite reports before the haze closed in at dusk came from Geneva where it was said three balloons were seen floating eastward north of town. Geneva is four miles south of the lake. That was at 8:30 p.m.

These were believed to be the City of Detroit, City of Cleveland and the Belgian entry, Belgica. A little earlier the other three racers, Goodyear VIII, French Pierre Fishback, and German Barmen, were sighted over East Cleveland, about thirty-five miles from the starting point.

Coast Guard officials and members of the balloon race committee discounted reports that a balloon had been seen to fall into Lake Erie off Sheffield Village, west of Cleveland. Coast Guard boats were sent to investigate, but found no trace of the balloon. Committee members could not account for the report unless there had been a stray wind blowing one of the balloons so far out of its course.

Weather Bureau officials revealed the possibility of the balloons traveling as fast as fifty miles an hour if they ascended to a height of 13,000 feet. They reported air currents from the west-southwestward blowing an hour at 12,800 feet, and as fast as forty-seven miles an hour at 5000 feet. The balloons at last reports had not attained such altitude.

Tahiti Passenger Recites Dramatic Experience

the Tahiti were safely in lifeboats. All we had to do was pick them up."

But it was not all as easy as that. A heavy sea was running when the transfer was made in one of the loneliest spots in the South Pacific and it was seamanship of the first order that kept the small boats from foundering with their human cargo before they could be safely transferred to the Ventura.

Some measure of this was evident in letters addressed to Capt. Meyer, his crew and officials of the Matson Navigation Company by the grateful passengers, who praised the Ventura personnel not only for the rescue, but for the thoughtful care that followed on the long trip back to civilization.

Joseph J. Weil and Hugh P. Allen, passengers, acted as spokesmen for the survivors in this.

Approximately fifty more of the rescued, now in Honolulu, will be brought back on the Maui on its next trip, thus relieving the Ventura of accommodating all the rescued beyond the point where more comfortable quarters and accommodations were available.

TYPICAL ACCOUNT

The story of the sinking and the rescue has been told in dispatches already, the Ventura having touched at Pago Pago and Honolulu before coming back here, but the experience of Miss Mary Mae Wamsley of Los Angeles, former University of Southern California student, is typical of the rest.

Miss Wamsley, beyond her first spontaneous expression of joy at being back on native soil and her declaration "I am getting back to Los Angeles just as fast as I can get there," looked back upon the incident with the easy perspective of an experience that might have been tragic, but was not.

"Of course," she said, "we were all terribly frightened for a short time after we realized the seriousness of our situation but the conduct of the ship's officers was admirable. They calmed us without any trouble and there was nothing to do then but wait to be picked up.

"We were in the life boat about forty-five minutes. The sea was rough but not stormy."

SONGS RECALLED

Smilingly, Miss Wamsley admitted she and others sang songs on the Ventura's decks while the Tahiti sank.

"Well, why not?" she asked. "There was nothing we could do about it and it helped to keep our spirits up."

Everywhere, from the yawning mouth of the Golden Gate to the pier where the municipal band and thousands of citizens played and shouted their happiness, there was a theme of gayety—thankfulness the affair was no worse than it was, and joy at getting back to solid land.

But in one corner of the Ventura there was sorrow.

Mrs. Betty Lilly, New York correspondent of a London newspaper, opened a letter from "home," eagerly expecting the congratulations of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Harrup, on her safe rescue. Instead, the letter was an announcement of her mother's death. Mrs. Harrup, 80 years of age, died from grief when she received the first word of the sinking ship—died before the radiogram arrived telling of the safety of her daughter.

TEARS FLOW

It was nearly 3 p.m. before the Ventura dropped her hook in quarantine and two hours later before she was warped into her dock, where the thousands of welcomers, their number obviously unexpected by the survivors, caused the first visible tears to flow. Then, and not until then, did joy verge on the hysterical. By that time with relatives and friends crushed in each other's embraces, no one cared.

Tomorrow the city's more extended welcome will take place, both at the City Hall and at a Commercial Club luncheon, where Capt. Meyer, some of his crew and some of the passengers will tell their experiences. The program will be broadcast nation-wide on the National Broadcasting Company network from 12:30 to 1 p.m.

BORAH WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN IN OCTOBER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, refreshed by several weeks of rest in Maine, said today after his return to Washington he planned to start his campaign for re-election in Idaho about October 1. The Idaho Senator said he would leave Washington Wednesday night but did not plan to initiate campaign speeches for at least a month.

MEXICO SCHOOL PLANS EXPAND

solve, finally and definitely, the agrarian problem in the States of Tlaxcala, Colima, Agua Caliente, Zacatecas and San Luis Potosi by the end of the present year in order that agriculture on a larger scale may have a new start there.

"This is necessary," he declared, "as the partition of lands among the peasant farmers, the division of haciendas and ranches and the creation of community land holdings have not solved the agrarian question and the reorganization of agricultural lands. It is urgent to make them as productive as the needs of the nation demand. It is necessary to inspire confidence and recreate the farms destroyed by successive revolutions and to attract capital once more to agriculture."

The President also sounds an optimistic note in speaking of the oil question. He stated that efforts are being made to strengthen oil credit and get employers and laborers to work together to build up the oil exploitation of Mexico. Already, he said, the situation is improving and new oil fields are likely to be opened.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

Perhaps the most interesting part of the message was that dedicated to foreign relationships. The President said:

"My visit to the United States last January as President-elect resulted beneficially to both nations, strengthening the already friendly relations of both countries and increasing the mutual understanding of the governments of both nations. The United States showed me a great and extended courtesy, especially during my visit to President Hoover, from whom I received notable attention, highly appreciated by my country and myself."

The President laid bare at length the underhand work and the attacks of Russia on Mexico despite the fact that Mexico had recognized the soviet government at a time when it took courage to do so. He said that the soviet government systematically carried on subversive and destructive bolshevik propaganda under the shadow of the soviet representative in Mexico. The insolent attitude and intolerable bearing of the Russian representatives and the Communist demonstrations organized by soviet authorities and directed against Mexican tenance of diplomatic relations between Mexico and Russia impossible. A flood of objectionable foreigners poured into Mexico who worked strenuously in the cause of international disturbance in Mexico.

AERIAL DEVELOPMENT

The President intimated that Mexico loves freedom, but not of the soviet brand. The President's statement showed that Russia's dream of making Mexico a bridge for Communist action against all the nations of America, especially the United States, has ended.

"There are over fifty landing fields for airplanes in Mexico and 180 more under construction," said the President. He said that the airplane was coming to solve Mexico's most difficult and urgent problems of communication, both national and international. Mexico is paying great attention to the construction of highways and is making special efforts to finish the road connection between Laredo and Mexico City, which is expected to be open for traffic by the end of this year.

The President pictured the interest in highway construction as shown by the State governments, and the aid given the Federal highway commissions in the task of constructing national highways. He predicted that the finishing of the international highways would bring a great influx of tourists from the United States to Mexico, thus strengthening international relations and creating understanding and good will.

RAILWAYS BANKRUPT

The President declared that the Mexican National Railways are in a state of bankruptcy. Therefore, he said, the government is asking special efforts to place the railways on a safe footing.

"The government has begun the reorganization of the railways into a new company, reducing the interest which has not been paid, amounting to over $41,000,000, decreasing the capital of the company by 50 per cent and increasing the government's holdings in stock from slightly over 50 per cent to 65 per cent in return for continuing the existing concessions," the President stated.

The President said that an agreement on the foreign debt with the international bankers had reduced the back interest burden by $352,000,000, which was due on foreign debts and national railways combined, and the cancellation of the interest had opened the way for the punctual payment by the government of future interest.

Downs, of Glendale, whose arm was crushed so badly that it had to be amputated by Dr. Fraser, was also improved, despite the threat of blood poison, and a second operation was deemed unnecessary today. He may be moved out within a week, the National Park Service said in a message relayed from Dr. Fraser.

Supplies dropped yesterday by an army pilot were picked up by Dr. Fraser's party almost undamaged, only two small bottles of medicine being broken.

EXPLORER JUBILANT OVER FINDS IN GOBI

PEIPING, Sept. 1. (AP)—Roy Chapman Andrews, head of the archeological expedition which has been working in the Gobi Desert, returned today from Mongolia, leaving his party in the midst of important work in the field. "This has been our best year," the scientist asserted, "as regards the number of specimens found. When the expedition returns at the beginning of October it will be possible to make some announcements of great scientific interest."

HUNGER STRIKER'S ABSTINENCE FATAL

LINCOLN (Neb.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Pneumonia brought on by a second hunger strike in the Nebraska penitentiary ended the spectacular career of Johnny Brown, 26 years of age, a Kansas and Nebraska bank robber. Warden Fenton said Brown stopped eating three weeks ago, and though willing to take food for the past few days was unable to retain it. Pneumonia attacked him and he died in three days.

LINDBERGHS STIR FEARS BY LANDING

Flying Pair's Nonarrival at New York Due to Fog Forcing Stop En Route

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Tuesday.) (Exclusive)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were forced down by fog at the air-mail field at Bellefonte, Pa., last night as they were returning here from Detroit, where they had been visiting on the way back from the National Air Races at Chicago.

Although the famous couple landed at Bellefonte at 10 p.m., two hours after their departure from Buffalo, where they had stopped for fuel, word of their landing was not received here until early this morning after two hours of anxiety for their safety.

Attaches at the Long Island fields frankly admitted that even the most skillful flyer could not have landed in the face of the thick blanket of fog which had swept in during the late afternoon and evening.

He arrived at Bellefonte at 10 o'clock and made no comment on his trip to the airport officials there except to say that the fog had kept him from continuing to New York.

'Lost' Aviatrix Finds Herself

BERKELEY, Sept. 1. (AP)—Surprised to learn she had ever been "lost," Miss Belle Hetzel, flying high-school teacher, came home today and ended a police search for her which started last Thursday.

A note explaining she was going away on a visit lay on her dresser in the home of Capt. Stanford E. Moses, navy officer, all the while the search was on. The wind had blown it face down and it passed unnoticed.

The note explained Miss Hetzel was flying to Los Angeles to visit a friend, Miss Mary R. Bragg, at San Marino.

SUICIDE BLAST PUZZLE SOLVED

Cell-mate of Wife-Slayer A. D. Payne Tells Secret

"Bomb Bottle" Carried into Cell Pasted to Leg

Explosive Placed Over Heart and Fuse Touched Off

AMARILLO (Tex.) Sept. 1. (NANA)—The final mystery in the A. D. Payne case was cleared up tonight.

R. L. Conder, Jr., cell-mate of Payne for a week, told how Payne smuggled deadly explosives into his cell and evaded a trial for murder early Saturday morning in a mysterious blast the nature of which had been unsolved by authorities.

Payne destroyed himself with a small bottle of powder which he had worn strapped to his leg above the knee from the time he was arrested on August 5. The narrow bottle, about three inches long, had been held in a hollow of his leg by a strip of adhesive tape.

SECRET REVEALED

Payne removed the tape from over the bottle about fifteen minutes before setting fire to the fuse and showed it to Conder, telling Conder how he had worn it there for more than three weeks without suspicion and how he intended using it later on that night. The suicide clause in his $10,000 life-insurance policy expired at midnight on Friday, and he is believed to have delayed killing himself until Saturday morning to enable his three children to collect the money.

Inserted in the bottle was a small fuse similar to one drawn from a firecracker, extending about a half-inch from the neck of the bottle. The bottle was corked with putty which held the fuse in place.

SWORN TO SECRECY

Payne swore Conder to secrecy about the self-perfected bomb, and just before the explosion stuck it inside his undershirt at a point opposite his heart with the fuse exposed. Reaching for a cigarette stub, which he held to the fuse for an instant, he then dropped face down on his cell bunk, pressing the bottle between his body and the mattress and almost instantly the charge blew a hole a foot square in his chest.

Corroboration of Conder's story came when Jailer J. W. Graves reported that a piece of adhesive tape about six inches long was found in Payne's cell shortly after his body had been removed. Undertakers found a seared strip about six inches long on Payne's right arm where the fuse had sprayed before the charge went off.

Conder was Payne's confidant from the day Payne entered jail, and Payne would talk to no other prisoner. His statement cleared the baffling mystery of how Payne made good his boast that he would never go to the chair for the murder of his wife.

DRY "SCHOOL" OPENS TODAY

Scientific Training of Agents Held Prohibition Boon

Department of Justice will Aid in Instructions

Technical Problems Among Matters Treated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Instruction in intelligent enforcement of the prohibition laws will be given a picked squad of twenty-four prohibition agents from all sections of the country at a sort of law-enforcement college, which will open here tomorrow. The course of instruction will be completed in thirty days.

This period of training, in the opinion of Col. Amos W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, should greatly improve the general efficiency of the agents and fit them to act as instructors to other agents in their respective States. It is planned to require all prohibition agents to take the course of instruction.

TECHNICAL PROBLEMS

The "school" will be conducted at prohibition headquarters. The faculty will consist of representatives of the Department of Justice and officials charged with prohibition enforcement.

Technical problems which long have baffled prohibition agents will be among the matters treated in the course. The agents will be taught what is evidence, how to prepare cases, the rights of individuals, when raids are legal, how far they may go in search and seizure, what constitutes intoxicating liquor—though doctors cannot agree on what the word intoxicating means—what circumstances warrant raids, preservation of evidence, what information is necessary to warrant an arrest and all other matters covering every detail of their work. Supreme Court interpretations of the law will be used in the course of study.

HOPE PINNED ON SCHOOL

"The schools are intended to instruct the agents in the method of gathering evidence," said Col. Woodcock, referring not only to his "college" in Washington, but to the courses to be given later throughout the country, "in knowledge of law, and in habits of discipline. They are intended to teach that integrity and intelligence are the qualities we wish; to train the agents to act always as gentlemen, to use their brains rather than their brawn and to use weapons only for defense.

"The schools will be the medium through which we hope to impress upon the agents our fundamental policy, that this law may be enforced fairly, honestly, earnestly and lawfully. On them we base our hope of success in enforcing the prohibition law."

PLANE SANS TAIL PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Wings in V Shape Used on Novel Three-Wheel Craft Tried Out in Florida

MIAMI (Fla.) Sept. 1. (AP)—R. V. Waters, president of the Greater Miami Airport Association, announced two successful flights were made today by Maj. B. L. Smith with an airplane without a tail, which was constructed here.

Construction of the plane had received attention and support from Glenn H. Curtiss, pioneer aviator, before his recent death.

Low landing speed featured the performances today, Waters said, the airplane, known as a motor glider, coming to earth at speeds of twenty-two and twenty-five miles an hour.

The plane is novel in that wings are set in a V shape, and there is no tail. It is powered with a thirty-horsepower motor, and rides on three wheels, one under the engine and one under the end of each wing.

Waters said today's flights were at altitudes ranging from 500 to 800 feet.

Driest Weather Year in Tacoma History Ended

TACOMA (Wash.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The driest year in the more than forty years that official weather records have been kept here ended at midnight Sunday, with only 23.13 inches of precipitation recorded by L. C. Cover, United States meteorologist. The average precipitation is 40.31 inches, which leaves the twelve months of the weather year 17.18 inches short of rain.

The last preceding weather year, ending August 31, 1929, with only 24.93 inches of precipitation, which was 15.38 inches below average, had held the record for dryness. Such yearly precipitation is far short of the showing of early years of the Weather Bureau in Tacoma when rainfall frequently went well over forty inches and for the year ending September 1, 1903, reached 51.21 inches.

Four Die After Safety Meeting

WILLIAMSON (W. Va.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Bound for their homes after attending a mine-safety meeting at Pikeville, Ky., four persons were killed and three others injured last night at Majestic, Ky., near here, as their automobile plunged down a 100-foot embankment. The driver swerved the car to avoid ramming another machine.

The dead, all residents of Thacker, Ky., are Mrs. Frank Butcher, 38 years of age; her son, George, 14; Mrs. Joe Sabo, 33, and her 6-month-old baby.

COMEDIAN'S WIFE ROBBED OF GEMS

Mrs. Eddie Cantor

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Jewelry valued at $20,000 was stolen today from the hotel room of Mrs. Eddie Cantor, wife of the comedian.

Mrs. Cantor discovered the theft when she and her husband returned early today from the amusement pier where he is appearing. The jewelry, which included Mrs. Cantor's wedding ring, had been left in a bureau drawer.

WRECK WITH $8,000,000 IN GOLD FOUND

Steamer Egypt Located by Italian Divers Following Persistent Search

BREST (France) Sept. 1. (AP)—The sunken wreck of the steamer Egypt which went down after a collision in 1922, has been located definitely by Italian divers. The Egypt carried a treasure of $8,000,000 in gold.

The wreck was located off Armen Light, near Douarnenez, by the treasure-seeking tug Artiglio. The Artiglio had been working persistently under all kinds of weather conditions to find the wreck, which had drifted from the place where it originally went to the bottom.

The steamship Egypt, a passenger liner, was sent to the bottom May 20, 1922, by collision with a French ship in a heavy fog on the coast of Spain near Finisterre, with the loss of about 100 passengers and crew and nearly 250 saved by the crew of the Seine, the other ship in the crash.

Soviet Launches First Dirigible Built in Russia

MOSCOW, Sept. 1. (AP)—The soviet government launched a dirigible balloon of its own today, the first ever built in Russia. Its completion was timed with preparations for receiving the Graf Zeppelin here shortly.

The airship, which really is a blimp, with a capacity of 2500 cubic meters, cruised over Moscow to the astonishment of many thousand persons who never before had seen a similar craft. It flew over the Kremlin and headquarters of various government management committees.

The new dirigible will be used exclusively as a training ship.

Cubans Release Accused Woman

HAVANA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Martha Lane Morlote, American widow of a Cuban aviation officer, was released by the authorities today after charges of spying against her had been investigated.

Mrs. Morlote, arrested Saturday just before her intended departure for Long Meadow, Mass., to visit her father, was held in a prison cell at Marianao where she went on a hunger strike. She left by airplane for Miami, Fla., en route to New York this afternoon.

STUDENT AVIATRIX VISITS PASADENA

SAN MARINO, Sept. 1.—Miss Belle Hertsel, student aviatrix who was reported missing from Berkeley, was located last night in this city, where she had flown to visit an unnamed friend.

She was reported to have disappeared from the Berkeley home of Capt. Stanford E. Moses, U.S.N., and it was feared her plane had been forced down among the Berkeley Hills.

Her friends reported today they understood Miss Hertsel already has started back to Berkeley.

GUNBOATS DUE FOR LAST TRIP

Old Sea Warriors Ready for Target Practice

Florida, Wyoming and Utah Bound for Discard

Trio Dropped by Navy Under London Treaty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Three fighting ships of the Navy have before them today one last duty—a battle practice for guns that never again will thunder against an enemy.

The Florida, Wyoming and Utah, bound for the discard under the London treaty, are preparing for target practice in southern waters the week of the 15th inst. On October 1 their names will be scratched off the roster of Uncle Sam's warships.

After the gun practice ends the Florida will return to Hampton Roads to discharge ammunition before being placed out of commission at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The Wyoming will transfer the flag of scouting fleet commander to the U.S.S. Arkansas and at Philadelphia will prepare to become a training vessel.

Destiny has reserved for the Utah the fate of target, steaming without crew under radio control to a resting place deep in the Atlantic.

For twenty years the Florida and Utah have served the United States. In 1914 they were at Vera Cruz during intervention by the United States. Both operated in conjunction with the British grand fleet in the North Channel during the World War. The Wyoming was with them there. All three escorted the U.S.S. George Washington with President Wilson aboard into the harbor of Brest, France, in December, 1918.

The Utah has won at various times every competitive trophy in the fleet.

JUST THINK of that! Most of our common ailments traceable to one relatively small section of the human body!

Yet it's easy to understand. Here is where food is assimilated. In all food is a certain amount of waste matter that cannot be digested. Unless this waste is promptly eliminated, it remains there to putrefy and contaminate the system.

But medical science has found the answer : : : in fresh yeast.

Yeast softens waste matter so that it is more easily passed off. It stimulates intestinal muscles to normal action.

In addition, yeast is rich in vitamins B and G and the "sunshine" vitamin D—elements often lacking in our nourishment. As a food, it helps to balance our daily diet.

In short, yeast works by natural means, whereas temporary measures such as cathartics and laxatives are artificial methods.

If you would free yourself of this long-standing evil that holds so many in its grip, eat yeast. Get three cakes of Fleischmann's fresh Yeast daily at the nearest grocery store, soda fountain or restaurant. Eat them regularly, 3 cakes a day, according to the directions on the label.

And keep it up! If you do, you will soon see how far-reaching are the effects of a clean, healthy intestinal tract on your general well-being.

Try yeast... for your health's sake.

LOAN OF SILVER TO CHINA URGED

Senate Trade Committee Hears Proposal

Would Provide 200,000,000 Ounces of Bullion

Hearing will be Resumed in Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—The Chinese trade hearing conducted by a Senate subcommittee today concluded the taking of testimony in San Francisco and tonight the members of the committee left for Los Angeles to hear witnesses. Following that they will go to Seattle to hear lumbermen, millers and others on the cause of the decrease in trade with China and to receive suggestions for remedying the situation.

Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman, was called away yesterday, leaving Senator Swanson, Virginia, to preside.

Former Senator Cannon of Utah, now a resident of Denver, was the chief witness today.

By reason of close contacts with officials of the Chinese government and Americans and Englishmen in semiofficial positions in China, Cannon's testimony as to conditions, the cause and the remedy was considered to be most important.

CANNON'S PROPOSAL

Cannon presented a remedial plan, summarized as follows:

(1.) United States government to loan the Nationalist government of China 200,000,000 ounces of silver bullion to be taken from supply now in United States Treasury.

(2.) China to issue bonds, payable, principal and interest, in silver bullion by weight.

(3.) Borrowed bullion to be minted and put into circulation by China under conditions to be fixed by the United States government.

(4.) Appointment of a commission of fifteen, seven by China, seven by the President of the United States, with the chairman to be the President or some one named by him. United States members of the commission to serve without pay. Duties to be to determine advances of the bullion and use to which it is put.

(5.) Coins to be minted by China to be of the same weight and fineness as present United States coinage.

FACING WORLD CRISIS

"The plan may seem unprecedented, but we must remember that all human progress has been made by taking new and sometimes daring steps," said Cannon.

"To stabilise world relations and to maintain peace we must devise means to provide work and wages for restless people of the world, and particularly the millions of so-called soldiers in China.

"The Orient will be sovietized by the Reds of Russia, or it will be guided by the safer ideals of the western nations. We are reaching a world crisis and if we delay too long it may be fatal," he added.

Cannon declared it is far more ethical for the United States to advance funds to preserve world peace and preserve western standards of civilization than to advance far greater sums to aid in war destruction.

Blumens Must Serve Out Term in San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Julius and Leopold Blumen, who took $400,000 away from the Bank of Italy in 1926 through a swindling scheme and are serving ten-year terms as a consequence, today were denied parole by the State Board of Prison Directors.

The United States Department of Labor holds a warrant for their arrest and has served notice it will deport both men when they are released.

The prison board considered eighty-eight cases during a two-day session yesterday and today. Four prisoners were paroled for hospitalization. They are Enrico Gullian of Los Angeles, convicted of stealing an automobile; Tony Barbosa of Los Angeles, robbery, second degree; Gebriele Ramirez of Los Angeles, violation of State Poison Act, and James A. Smith of Los Angeles, second-degree robbery.

Dry Crusader's Home Blasted

ENGLEWOOD (N. J.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Bootleg terrorists, seeking revenge for his dry crusading, saturated with gasoline the $50,000 home of Robert Renner, rich real estate dealer, in Norwood, N. J., early today, and then touched it off. The resulting explosion rocked the exclusive little suburb.

But for the fact that Renner, his wife and two little children were spending the week-end on the family yacht at Sandy Hook, and the servants had taken the holiday off, all unquestionably would have been burned to death.

Extra Day on Hoover Jaunt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—President Hoover and members of his party returned late today from a week-end trip to the mountain lodge on the Rapidan.

The Presidential party encountered an unusually large number of cars after it left the mountains and entered the hot atmosphere of the lowlands.

BOLIVIAN GENERAL ARRIVES IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—Gen. Hans Kundt, former general in the Bolivian army during the recent revolution, has arrived in Berlin. Gen. Kundt declared the causes of the revolution were so simple he himself was caught unawares. He said he was accused unjustly of having meddled in politics of the South American republic.

TINY TOWN HAS HUGE AIRPORT

Colorado Village With Dozen Houses Has 30,000 Acres in Its Landing Field

PICKETWIRE (Colo.) Sept. 1. (AP)—This man's town has only twelve houses and the population is barely thirty, counting the cow ponies, but believe it or not, Picketwire has an airport—30,000 acres of it.

For those who are interested, Picketwire is on the Purgatory River in the heart of Colorado cow country. Within a week two transport ships loaded with passengers landed here and the cow waddies decided the place needed an airport. The entire population turned out, cleared away the cacti, laid out a circle and erected a windsock.

The country is level and the pilots say they can land anywhere on the 30,000 acres surrounding the town and taxi right down the one and only street.

Two Killed as Bus Overturns

POCATELLO (Idaho) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Elizabeth Hammonds, 24 years of age, and a son, Audry Edwards, 12, were killed, and seven other occupants of a bus were injured near here this afternoon when the vehicle struck loose gravel and overturned into a pit. The dead and injured are all residents of Ozark, Ark.

James Yarbrough, driver of the car, is being held under $5000 bond on a charge of reckless driving.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE SAVED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Herbert Woodhall, music-store employee, tried to commit suicide today by jumping into San Francisco Bay from the deck of the ferryboat Calistoga. He was rescued by a lifeboat.

RIVAL REGIME SET UP IN CHINA

Gen. Yen Shi-shan Leader of Kuomintang Faction

Council of Seven Chieftains Formed in Peiping

Success of Move Depends on Attitude of Chang

PEIPING (China) Sept. 1. (AP)—The disaffected Kuomintang faction opposing President Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist regime today set up a rival national government here with a state council of seven chieftains.

The leader is Gen. Yen Shi-Shan, who has been one of the leaders of the northern coalition's civil war against Chiang. The others are Tangshaoyi, who was the first Premier of the Republic, Wang Ching-Wei, Kuomintang left-wing leader, Feng Yu-Hsiang, Christian general; Chang Hsueh-Liang, Governor of Manchuria, Lit Sung-Jen, leader of the Kwangsi military clique, and Hsieh Chih, of the Kuomintang right wing.

Whether the Kuomintang malcontents will carry out their plans successfully depends largely on the attitude of Gen. Chang Hsueh-Liang whose participation is considered doubtful in well-informed quarters here.

The announcement of the forming of the new government coincides with strong rumors that the Manchurian Governor, whose support both sides claim to have won, has decided to intervene in the civil war on Nanking's side. Such a step would make the northern military cause hopeless.

OCTOGENARIANS MEET AT FAMILY REUNION

QUINCY (Ill.) Sept. 1. (Exclusive.)—At a family reunion in Rushville there was an unusual occurrence in the meeting of four sisters, all past 80 years of age, who had not met before in fifteen years. The reunion was in the old family home where all four were born. The women are the Misses Mary and Laura Carson, Mrs. Sarah Potts of Rushville and Mrs. Ella Graves of Kansas City.

Physical evidence showed the wheels of the engine had left the rails at this point, shearing off bolts which connected two lengths of rail.

This, Frisco executives say, establishes that the wreck was deliberate and was either a youthful prank, a malicious deed or the work of an insane person.

Identification of the dead and injured and work of clearing the wreckage was virtually completed today. One official estimated the railroad's loss, including payment of damage claims, will reach $1,000,000.

LIST OF DEAD

The dead are Charles E. Ray, 53 years of age, of Maplewood, St. Louis suburb, engineer; Ernest T. White, 48, Maplewood, fireman; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Newton, the former an employee of the Postoffice Department at Washington; Mel Choir Arambula, 25, a laborer, St. Louis, and Miss Louise Davis, 19, of Fordland, Mo.

Eleven passengers remained in hospitals today. Forty-seven others reported minor injuries which did not require hospital treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton and their 4-year-old son, who was seriously injured, were on the way to the home of Mr. Newton's father at Marshfield, Mo., to spend their vacation.

SMARTEST CRIMINALS IN LUCRATIVE RACKETS

TRENTON (N. J.) Sept. 1. (AP)—When superior intellects decide upon a career of crime they invariably matriculate in the more lucrative fields of lawbreaking, such as rum-running, embezzlement, forgery and the like, according to a survey completed for the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor.

The records of 2003 male criminals committed to the New Jersey State prison were utilized by the committee in its determination of the relativity of intelligence and crime. They showed 68.6 per cent to be below average in intelligence.

"However, men of low intelligence are more often guilty of crimes of violence, such as murder, arson and cases with a sex basis," read the report submitted by Col. Joseph D. Sears of the National Prison Emergency Committee.

"The type of crime committed by the brighter minds is demonstrated by the figures showing how the smaller group furnished 33 per cent of the bigamists, 42 per cent of the dry violators, 51 per cent of the false pretenders, 51 per cent of the forgers and 71 per cent of the embezzlers," continued the report.

Rancher's Death Laid to Woman

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Myrtle Bell, 28 years of age, who came to California from Ogden, Utah, is in the Sacramento County Jail today charged with the murder of John Rechetta, 36, rancher who lives twenty miles south of here.

The woman is accused of stabbing Rechetta to death with a butcher knife after the latter assertedly angered her by calling her vile names.

WAR ON HOOVER CALLED SLANDER

Deliberate Misrepresenting Laid to Raskob Aide

Tilson Scores Democratic Publicity Director

Twenty-seven Statements Pointed to as Untrue

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) Continuous slander of President Hoover over a period of twelve months by the publicity bureau of the Democratic National Committee, headed by Charles Michelson, a former Washington correspondent, as director of publicity, is charged by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader in the House of Representatives, and eastern director of the National Republican Congressional Committee, in a statement which was made public today at committee headquarters in the Hotel Roosevelt.

Representative Tilson cites twenty-seven statements, with his personal comment, issued by the Democratic publicity bureau at Washington, during a period beginning September 15, last year, and ending August 22, this year, in all of which he declares President Hoover's administration had been misrepresented.

He declares the output of the bureau "certainly supports the charge that the business of this bureau is misrepresentation and that we have no parallel in American history of a person being paid, set up in an office and issuing such libelous misinformation about the President of the United States."

Mr. Tilson refers to Mr. Michelson as "Mr. John Raskob's personally underwritten propagandist." Mr. Raskob is chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The head of the Republican Congressional Committee points out that while Mr. Michelson has asserted the output of his bureau is free from misrepresentation, he has not denied statements occurring in a recent article contributed to Scribner's Magazine by Frank Kent, Washington correspondent of a Baltimore paper, that "the goal set for him by Mr. Raskob was 'to smear Hoover and his administration; to obscure Hoover achievements and to put Mr. Hoover in bad with the American people.' That is what he (the head of the bureau) is there for and all he is there for."

ALAMEDA, Sept. 1. (AP)—F. Myrten Johnson, Oakland aviator, today claimed to be the first person ever to refuel an airplane from an automobile.

The feat was performed here yesterday. Johnson's plane has a thirty-horsepower motor with a top speed of eighty-five miles an hour and can drone along as slow as twenty-five miles an hour.

Spencer Sparks, University of California track man, also attempted to refuel the plane by running underneath it and holding up a can of gasoline which was to have been caught by a hook lowered from the aircraft. Sparks was able to outrun the plane but was unable to make connection with the hook.

The automobile, with Ray Trak on the refueling job, made contact on its third attempt.

LEGUIA IN OWN ISLAND PRISON

Former President of Peru at San Lorenzo

LIMA (Peru) Sept. 1. (AP)—Augusto B. Leguia, who just a week ago resigned as President of Peru on demand of a military junta, today was placed in an island prison where in the eleven years of his dictatorship he jailed hundreds of political foes.

The island is San Lorenzo, in Callao harbor, and the former President was removed to it from the cruiser Almirante Grau, on which he took refuge after his resignation. There he became ill, and, although last week he was scheduled to be transferred to the prison the move was delayed until the 67-year-old man's health improved.

BENJAMIN PLATT

We Congratulate You

25 YEARS AGO YOU CAME TO Los Angeles, a poor boy. Determination was written in that move . . . Courage was its companion . . . Vision its handmaid . . .

It was not chance that in your choice of the business which you would found you should turn to music. Your natural love for that great Art dictated to your heart this choice. And in this choice lies the story of a great success, a fulfillment of a dream...dreamed by a dreamer who could make that dream come true...

Of those early struggles, only you are qualified to comment . . . for struggles they were in the tiny store that was the cradle of today's great institution. But back of it all was the glowing faith, the indomitable will, the burning desire to see your dream a reality . . .

. . . And what a dream!

To bring to all, to place within the reach of everyone, the great benefaction of music...to open to the homes of the community that even then was feeling its first urge towards greatness, the greatest treasure known to mankind . . . music . . .

Until today the institution which bears your name gives tangible evidence of how well you dreamed . . . . A mighty institution extending from the Sierras to the Sea. . . . An institution which has grown to be the largest music and radio house of the West . . .

An institution still faithful to the ideals upon which it was founded . . . still placing within the reach of every home in the Southland the media whereby Music comes to sing its glorious melodies . . .

And so, upon this, the completion of your 25th year in business in Los Angeles, we congratulate you upon the successes of the past, we thrill with you in the justifiable pride which such successes merit, we predict for you a continuation of those successes achieved through the strife for an ideal . . .

An ideal which cannot but carry on . . . and on
. . . and on . . .

OUR POLICIES OF SAFETY . . . AND YOURS

This monthly Statement shows a continuation of the consistent growth in savings that has advanced Pacific States Savings to its preeminent position among the thirteen thousand building and loan associations in the Nation.

But, of far greater moment, it shows a continuation of the time tested policies of conservatism, strength and liquidity to which this institution has been so long committed.

These policies of safety are demonstrated by the strength of our cash position, the size of our non-withdrawable invested capital, (the largest of any building and loan association in the West) the absence of Furniture and Fixtures, Real Estate and bank indebtedness.

An additional element of safety is our outstandingly low loan rate of 7%, which is attracting the choicest first lien collateral offered to any California building and loan association.

How do these policies of safety coincide with yours? Ask yourself if they do not afford you the protection you seek for your funds. On the basis of this Statement, we solicit the use of our 6% and 5¼% facilities by individuals, firms, corporations, executors, trustees, guardians of minor children and other legal custodians of funds, all of whom are empowered by law to place funds here.

A LOT of people who think a lot of things are wrong are merely wearing the wrong kind of shoes.

A lot of people who think they the getting old—wrong shoes.

A lot of people who think they are sick—wrong shoes.

A lot of people who think they are depressed and discouraged—wrong shoes.

Why, a lot of people think they are unhappily married—and it's merely shoes.

So I say that shoes are so vital to happiness that every man and woman in this city should—simply for the experiment—spend the money for just ONE trial pair of Arch Preservers. For $10.50 or a little more, it might mean an entirely new view of life.

EMPLOYERS EVERYWHERE TRY TO KEEP UP WAGES

Industrial Survey Shows Use in Most Sections of Part-Time Plan as Fairest Method

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—What industry is doing to keep labor in employment is shown in a review of wage and working conditions in a dozen States just compiled by A. C. Rees of this city, secretary of Utah Associated Industries and a national authority on the subject.

The symposium shows that employers almost everywhere have shifted labor about, both as to the place and hours of employment, in line with a concerted policy to keep the largest number on the pay roll.

Consultation among large employers and industrial associations throughout the country, says Rees, shows a uniformity of attitude to maintain part-time employment rather than reduction of pay roll or of wage.

In the West, Middle West and South, the States of which responded to a questionnaire sent out by Rees, it is shown that the present unemployment situation is being met, generally, by the voluntary acceptance of wage reductions in many instances, and the more general application of the rule of part-time employment. In all the large mines of Utah, with the copper and silver markets at low ebb, the latter form of keeping the employees busy has been in practice.

SOME OF RESPONSES

A partial list of responses to the industrial questionnaire sent out by Rees follows:

San Antonio: Men are working for less than old scale due to surplus of craftsmen. Endeavors are being made, however, to keep up the old standard of wages. Greater disposition among open-shop men to accept wage reduction than among union men.

Cleveland: No wage reductions. While unions have invariably taken advantage of prosperity and the shortage of labor to advance wages, employers here in spite of the surplus of labor have maintained wage scales. Industrial association interviews about 15,000 men monthly in endeavor to make placements. Recommendations have been made to employers to cut down the days of work per man in order to spread the work over a larger force. There is a real concern among the employers respecting the employment situation.

Detroit: No wage reductions. Industrial association is opposed to it. Endeavor is being put forth to start a building program but no results achieved.

Duluth: Instead of any reduction there has been an advance in wages in some of the building crafts. This was made officially by the Minnesota Building Employers' Association. People urged to institute home repair work in order to alleviate unemployment.

St. Paul: Building trades' wages advanced approximately 12 per cent. This is being paid by most contractors. Industrial plants maintaining old wage scales. In some of the small plants slight reductions have been made. General sentiment among the employers to maintain present wage standards. Some employers have reduced number of working days in order to give all workers opportunity for employment even if it is restricted.

San Francisco: No wage reductions by responsible and larger industries. Some reductions in smaller plants. At the same time, employers have resisted attempts to increase wages. Bakery-wagon drivers increased $1 per week. The industrial association has gone on record for the strict adherence to the old scale. Unemployment situation is serious but not critical. Employment bureau active in making placements.

PAY CUT IN FLORIDA

Florida: Reduction in wages irrespective of organized labor's attitude. This has been quite general. The individual employees have accepted this on account of the great unemployment. Employment bureau of the industrial association active in making placements.

Moline, Ill.: No wage reduction in factories.

Kansas City, Mo.: Advance of 5 per cent in building crafts. No reduction in wages.

Montana: Slight reduction in wages of auto mechanics, teamsters and blacksmiths. Some of the reductions were accepted willingly by the employees. Industrial association active in suggesting this reduction. Part-time employment used in order to keep all men on pay roll. Mining companies working men three weeks with one week lay-off.

Portland, Or.: No reduction in wages in building trades, although mechanics are offering their services for less money. Slight reduction in lumbering trades with lengthening of hours. Industrial association has gone on record against arbitrary wage cuts.

OTHER REPORTS

Omaha: No wage reductions. Industrial association has contended that no reduction shouldb e made unless economically sound. Movement under way to raise wages of common labor.

Salt Lake City: General wage scale maintained although reductions in individual cases. Men are offering their services for less for the reason that the building contractors are accepting work on smaller margins.

Minneapolis: Strong sentiment for wage reductions owing to extremely low level of commodity prices. Industrial association is contending for the maintenance of wage scales.

Recommendations citing how employers, employees, public officials, and the public may aid the present situation have been prepared by the Utah Associated Industries, while that organization's board of directors issued a statement to employers in which it declares that a survey of conditions leads to the conclusion that business itself must start business coming back. It stresses that from an economic standpoint it is necessary that the largest possible number of wage earners be given full or part time employment.

This stand, according to Rees, is directly opposite to the attitude displayed by organized labor during industrial crises. He contends that when there is a shortage of labor or extraordinary activity, organized labor immediately comes forth for higher wages, yet there is never a move on its part to increase production.

TANKER DAMAGED IN FOG COLLISION

SEATTLE, Sept. 1. (AP)—Damage to her stem was reported by the tanker Utacarbon on her arrival at Edmonds early today after a collision in heavy fog last night with the Japanese freighter Taigen Maru. The collision occurred five miles east of Race Rocks in the Strait of Juan De Fuca. The Utacarbon, of the Union Oil Company of California bound for Seattle, put in here under her own power.

DAVIS PRAISES LABOR POLICY

Secretary Speaker at Fair in Pennsylvania

Employers and Workers Join in Depression Fight

Slack Period First to Avoid Old Wage Slash

CLEARFIELD (Pa.) Sept. 1. (AP) The present depression is the first business slackness in the United States in which it was deliberately sought to offset its effects by keeping workers as fully employed as possible and without the old-time policy of general reduction of wages, Secretary of Labor Davis said today at the Labor Day celebration at the Clearfield County Fair and homecoming.

"On this Labor Day," he said, "we may congratulate ourselves because of the spirit of co-operation that generally prevails between American employers and workers during one of the trying times in our economic history.

"The old sweeping lay-offs and wage slashes have not been resorted to in this period of depression.

"The leading employers and the leaders of labor called into conference by President Hoover agreed to maintain employment and to institute no new wage demands. It was a mighty effort at stabilization and while it did not stave off some measure of the depression, it did prevent the country from hitting the bottom, as in every instance before. In due time, this application of wisdom and effort must bring a return to normal conditions. But until that occurs, we must exercise patience, we must share each other's burdens and we must pull together for the common end.

"No man has faced down more discouraging circumstances than those confronting the President. In the long run the very difficulties he has had to face will win him the support of the country. The nation also sympathized with the farmers themselves, who, on top of a state of world affairs which has shrunk their markets, have now to bear heavy losses through ruin of this year's crops."

HOLIDAY CROWD JAMS INTO FAIR

Grounds of State Exhibit in Sacramento Packed

Throng Believed to Number About 80,000 Persons

Many Events on Program as Labor Day Features

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive.)—Holiday throngs swarmed the State fair grounds today to make the Labor Day attendance one of the largest in the seventy-six years of the exposition's history. Standing room only signs were hung early at the entrance to the grandstand and horse show, while the various exhibit buildings were jammed with milling masses. The attendance was estimated at between 70,000 and 80,000.

In addition to special features arranged for the particular entertainment of those who celebrated labor's national holiday at the fair, the harness and running races were the attraction during the afternoon with boxing, the horse show and other events topping the evening program.

NEIGHBORS GRATIFIED

Representatives of the three Western States showing at the fair, Oregon, New Mexico and Utah, expressed gratification at the interest being taken in their exhibits. Their attractive and extensive displays are housed in the Western States Building. Tomorrow will be Sacramento Valley Day, Soroptimist Day, Iowa Day and Ad Club Day. The Soroptimist Club and Ad Club will hold dinners at the grounds, with members of the organizations present from all parts of the State. The California Swine Breeders' Association also will have a dinner at the grounds tomorrow night.

The Free for All Spelling Bee, a contest that has become one of the most popular events of the annual show, also is billed for tomorrow, the winner to be crowned State champion speller and to be awarded a gold metal.

COWS GET SHOWER

Visitors to the new $200,000 livestock pavilion are getting a kick out of watching a cow take a shower bath. The old hose and sponge method of grooming bossy has been junked in the new building for the ultra-shower bath for the members of the bovine family.

Charles P. Bayer, field secretary and exposition manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce who is a fair visitor, declares the exposition is one of the finest held by any State in the Union. He has just returned from inspecting the Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Wisconsin fairs, and also the Canadian National Fair at Toronto.

"I am more than pleased," said Bayer, "to find that the California State Fair is in the front rank among the top-notchers in the country."

Waitress Kills Belgian Count

BRUSSELS (Belgium) Sept. 1. (AP) Count De Brockhoven, 22-year-old member of the Belgian nobility, was shot by a 20-year-old waitress in a Brussels cafe today and died shortly after being admitted to a hospital.

The waitress, who is asserted to have fired the shots in a fit of jealousy, was held by the police. Her name is Marie Scheer. She attempted to commit suicide but succeeded only in wounding herself in the thigh.

ANDREE DEATH DETAILS GIVEN

Dr. Gunnar Horn Tells Full Account of Finds

Bodies Reach Norway Port on Exploration Ship

sledge was found a body—if indeed a skeleton in the fur garb of an Arctic explorer may be called a body—laid between two mounds of earth and partly covered with small stones. So had the last rites been observed by the survivor or survivors for one member of that gallant crew.

And somewhat further on, leaning against the mountain slope, feet buried in the snow, was a second clothed skeleton. It was headless, this one, and yet identifiable as Andree himself by a monogram on the jacket.

In the boat were a few bones, but Dr. Horn and his fellow-scientists were not able to determine whether they were human and represented all that was left of the third member of the expedition. He expressed the hope that study of the teeth and the whole skeleton would reveal whether it was the remains of Nils Strindberg or Knut Frankel.

BEAR DANCES AT SPOT

All that they found, all the physical and material remnants of the expedition which set out from Spitzbergen in high hope so many years ago, were taken to the Bratvaag. Last Tuesday an attempt was made to land on the island again for further search, but high waves prevented.

And so the Bratvaag turned back toward civilization. From its deck the last view of the frozen island which had held so grimly to its secret was the somehow eerie sight of a great white bear dancing about the cairn of stones that Horn and his men had raised to mark the spot where so much gallantry came at last to naught.

From evidence he found on the island, navigation books, the condition of the lost explorers' fur boots and such matters, Horn estimated they had struggled southward for about 180 miles before they reached the towering island and knew at last that their long battle was done.

KILLED BY COLD

The Andree party left Spitzbergen in their balloon on July 7, 1897, and Horn believed that they could not have stayed alive longer than the first part of September.

"The cold killed them," he said. "Their end must have been easy. They slept into death."

It must have been the deadening cold, increasing with the approach of the winter night, and not starvation, that finally conquered them, although exhaustion from their terrible trek across the broken ice may well have been a contributing factor. For at Andree's side was found his gun and in the boat was ammunition. There were feathers, too, indicating that birds had been shot, and near Andree, also, was a stove with oil still in its tank.

MANNER OF DEATH

The cold must have crept over them, slowly but surely sapping their vitality until death itself must have seemed to their numbed minds like a happy destination to their long hard journey. And so they waited for death. And it came. First to one, and his friends protected his body as best they could. Then to another, and the few bones in the boat may mean he chose that as his bier when he knew the end was close and laid himself down in the frail craft, prepared for death.

And Andree himself, to judge from the position in which his body was found, had resigned himself to the inevitable fate. He sat down in the snow and leaned back against the mountain slope, relaxed, knowing at last that any effort would be vain, waiting for eternal release from suffering.

The way the discovery of the camp was made seemed as if nature itself had decided the secret had been held long enough from humanity and for that reason eased its usual barriers about the bleak island.

RECOVERY WORK HARD

Dr. Horn said it would have been impossible to get the bodies, the boat and the other camp equipment to the Bratvaag had it not been for the unusually calm weather which set in just at the right moment and lasted just long enough to permit the work to be done.

Everything had to be dug laboriously from the ice that had set a grip of years on the remains of the balloon expedition, and so, of necessity, the work was slow. Had the weather roughened before it was done the whole attempt would have had to be abandoned, for it is impossible for boats to land on the island except in exceptional calm. There are many peninsulas, and on these icebergs are stranded. Between these the boats had to pass, something they could not have done in the customary surf.

Nature was at last kind in another way, Dr. Horn said, in that there had been little snow in the past season and so the camp and bodies were made visible.

He expressed the opinion that in the years that have passed since Andree and his men died the snow has often piled so high above them that searchers could have walked directly over the camp and never even suspected the grim secret shrouded beneath their feet.

BODIES DETERIORATE

Dr. Horn said the two bodies he found on White Island—those of Andree and supposedly of Nils Strindberg—had deteriorated in their long sleep in the ice until they were nothing but bones, although the clothing was fairly well preserved. More bones, which might be those of the third explorer, Knut Frankel, were found in the boat.

"It is natural," said Dr. Horn, "that in the thirty-three years they have been exposed to thawing and freezing they should have been destroyed. The world has had too great expectations. There is no question of being able to embalm these bodies, they are too far gone.

"But I do believe the bodies now are in the same condition as when we found them, for we have guarded them carefully. Whether those few pieces of bones we found in the boat belonged to the third member of the expedition it is impossible for us to say yet.

"That is a question which will have to be considered by experts. We have felt it was outside our province to examine the contents of the boat more closely."

Dr. Horn displayed Andree's precious diary and navigation books. The leaves of the diary were glued together from the paste in the binding and from dampness.

Dr. Horn said he believes there is no doubt that Andree's balloon came to grief because of the snow and ice which gathered on it and weighted it down until it crashed. He said the three members of the expedition had not built any hut or cairn. They had used the last bits of their strength to drag their boat up on the land.

"We also found Andree's camera," said Dr. Horn.

"It is of the reflex type and the plates are 2½ by 2½ inches. Fastened to the camera was a compass. The camera had open seams, which precludes the possibility of any pictures being reproduced."

DIARY STILL UNREAD

Dr. Horn was asked if he thought Andree had written in his diary until the last day.

"Well, that's what we all are asking about, but that can only be answered when the details are known," he answered.

Andree's navigation book appears to have been kept extremely well. Horn has put pieces of paper between the leaves in order to preserve the writing. The book is written in pencil and Dr. Horn said it was easy to read from beginning to end and explains many things.

BOOKS GUARDED

Pressed for further information, Dr. Horn hesitated, and then said: "I cannot divulge it. That is for others to do. I may say that the navigation book does not go up to the final day."

Dr. Horn expressed the hope the diary would prove complete to the final day and will explain the whole mystery. He has kept these two books locked in a drawer in his cabin and guards them carefully.

The explorer reached over and picked up the lead pencil which he had found in Andree's pocket. The wood was swollen and broken apart. Dr. Horn had tied it together with string.

NAVAL VESSEL TO ESCORT SEALER AS ANDREE HONOR

TROMSOE (Norway) Sept. 1. (AP)—The Norwegian naval vessel Michael Sars left here tonight to meet the sealer Bratvaag, which has the bodies of the Andree expedition on board, and expected to escort it back here at about 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

After the arrival the bodies of Salomon August Andree and his companions will be brought ashore and given in charge of experts.

It is planned that a memorial service be held in a Tromsoe church, Friday, so that the people of this city may pay a final farewell to the explorers who perished thirty-three years ago.

The bodies then will be taken aboard the Swedish boat Svensksund, which will transport them to the homeland, with the Michael Sars and the Bratvaag following. The ships will touch at Aalesund, which is the Bratvaag's home port, so that the people there may pay honor to the dead.

WRONG LETTER ALMOST SPELLS DEATH FOR MULE

FORT HANCOCK (N. J.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Jersey Lightnin', this fort's famed white mule, has just come as near eternity as a typographical error could send him.

"In accordance with the colonel's instructions, the white mule will be shot at 2 o'clock," read an official order at the post today.

Regretfully an execution squad led the mule out to his impending doom. Sensing danger, Jersey Lightnin' was kicking vigorously when Col. J. C. Johnson appeared.

"What's going on here?" he demanded.

The men replied they were on the point of carrying out orders. Then it all came out. The order should have read "shod" instead of shot."

COSTE PASSES HALF-WAY MARK

tion Mark and, with a smile started the powerful motors whirring. Fifteen minutes later he had made a take-off as smooth and effortless as Le Bourget ever saw.

Ten more minutes elapsed while the huge plane winged its way to the horizon and vanished in the west. As the mists closed about the ship, Mme. Coste stood still, staring at the distant empty sky, waved a faltering "bon voyage" and turned away.

Coste estimated his flight to New York City would require thirty-five hours.

Tonight, to the joy of all France, weather conditions remained favorable for westward flying. The meteorological bureau at Le Bourget said there was not the slightest concern about immediate conditions and every pilot knew that plane would find its objective.

FRENCHMEN WILL MAKE FLIGHT TO DALLAS

DALLAS (Tex.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Should Capt. Dieudonne Coste and his navigator, Maurice Bellonte, succeed in their flight across the Atlantic to New York, they will fly to Dallas, it was announced here today.

Col. William E. Easterwood of Dallas recently contracted with the flyers to make the Dallas hop, agreeing to pay $25,000 for a successful Paris-New York-Dallas flight.

Patriotism vs. Red Acts Urged

BALTIMORE (Md.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Veterans of Foreign Wars, here for their thirty-first annual encampment, were urged today by their president to rally to the defense of the recently created war pension act and to consider making May Day "one for patriotism and not Red riots."

Hezekiah N. Duff of Lansing, Mich., the president, in his report at the initial business session urged the veterans to follow the lead of the New York veterans, who held a patriotic rally in Union Square last May Day an hour before a demonstration under Communist auspices.

FORTY MILLION ADULTS want a cereal like this

. . . because of its combination of delicious flavor and special health-regulating benefits!

Out of 50,000,000 adults in this country, 85% (40,000,000) according to the medical profession, are irregular in health-habits.

Vegetables and fruits, the logical correctives, are not acceptable to all.

Now an extra luscious cereal (not a bran-food) comes to supplement the vegetables and fruits and thus "lend a most attractive hand" in health regulation. It includes soft, fluffy particles of vegetable-cellulose, the same kind that the best vegetables and fruits themselves contain.

These fine particles which you cannot see or taste increase in bulk four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating, forming one of the mildest, gentlest yet most effective types of natural bulk and roughage known.

Thus HEINZ Rice Flakes, while offering the most delicious flavor, also perform a service that no others can.

Serve them twice daily for one week (at breakfast and for dessert at lunch or dinner) to start the benefits; once daily thereafter to maintain them. Patented by HEINZ, you get this great advantage in HEINZ CEREALS ALONE.

Excellent for children. Your money back from any grocer if not satisfactory in every way. Send post card now for free booklet "Children's Futures Told in Foods" with sections about adult's needs. Address H. J. Heinz Company, Dept. R-16, Pittsburgh, sole makers of this new triumph in foods.

GIRL VICTIM OF SKIDDING AUTO

Fatal Smash Occurs on Street in Pasadena

Young Lady and Companions Returning from Party

Thrown Clear of Machine One Woman Uninjured

PASADENA, Sept. 1.—A girl is dead and two men are recovering from injuries as the result of an early morning automobile crash today.

Miss Rose Rosas, 20, of 108 East Angelina avenue, San Gabriel, incurred fatal injuries at 1:30 a.m. when a car in which she was returning from a party with her sister and two men skidded into a tree in front of 1224 South Marengo avenue and was demolished. She died an hour after the accident at the Pasadena Hospital.

Andres Gonzales, 29, of 624 West Sixth street, Los Angeles, the driver, and Alfredo S. Morales, 29, University Club of Pasadena employee, each incurred a fractured arm and bruises.

Miss Emalda Rosas, 24, a maid employed at 2680 South Oak Knoll avenue, escaped with a few scratches when she was thrown clear of the wreckage.

The accident was the result of too much speed, Patrolmen William Hesson and Lee Forrester reported. The police officers assert that Morales was driving south on Marengo avenue and that he apparently lost control of the machine in attempting to negotiate a sharp bend in the road, causing the car to sideswipe a pepper tree and roll over three times. The car came to a stop upside down more than 100 feet from the point of impact with the tree.

The two young couples were homeward bound after attending a party on South Marengo avenue, south of Green street. The police report the automobile is owned by Pellomino Cavan of 37 North Broadway.

Charges may be filed against the driver of the car, but he is at liberty pending the result of the inquest in the girl's death, the time of which has not been set.

Oil Company Seeks Permit for Refinery

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 1. The Superior Oil Company has purchased thirteen and five-eighths acres at Atlanta and California streets and will ask the City Council to grant a permit for the erection o fa refinery. When the Council meets this afternoon, it is believed that the permit will be asked for and granted.

East Side residents will oppose the granting of the permit, it is rumored. The site purchased is on the top of a small hill a few blocks back from the ocean and only four blocks from the business section.

The company paid a cash price of $1250 per acre for the property on which to build their refinery and it is reported that the refinery will cost approximately $150,000. The papers will be in escrow tomorrow. The two State park appraisal boards appointed by the State Park Commissioners and the Orange County Supervisors, appraised a portion of the land near where the refinery is to be located at $250, $350 and $500 an acre. The property for the refinery is farther from the ocean and less valuable than the site for the State park and yet a greater price was paid for it than the appraisers value the land for the park.

The Superior Company has never entered the refinery business before. They have always sold crude oil in the past. It is reported that they will put a new brand of gasoline on the market. The company has twenty-seven producing wells in the field here.

ACTOR'S BEACH HOME VISITED BY THIEVES

VENICE, Sept. 1.—Thieves entered the home of Lewis Stone, motion-picture actor, at 5309 Ocean Front, last night, according to a Venice police report, and in the absence of the family made off with an odd assortment of plunder includin g a woman's bathing suit, three hats of the masculine gender, a statuette, two cameras, a kit of tools, a lamp and other articles, most of them valued chiefly as souvenirs by Stone.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT; BOY IN HOSPITAL

PASADENA, Sept. 1.—Merle Shove, 6 years of age, of 1240 North Los Robles avenue, found yesterday that a plate-glass window pane was never meant to be used as a slide. He placed the large square of glass across his back steps and had several good slides before the inevitable happened — the glass cracked. The city ambulance rushed Merle to the Pasadena Emergency Hospital, where he was treated for a six-inch gash in one of his legs.

CHAMBER TO RESUME WEEKLY LUNCHEONS

COVINA, Sept. 1.—Following a vacation of three months, the Covina Chamber of Commerce will resume its weekly luncheon meetings tomorrow at Longworth's Cafe, it was announced today by Ben F. Thorpe, president.

Plans will be discussed and a definite program of activity will be outlined for the ensuing year. Improvement of roads in the Covina Valley will be one of the outstanding objectives of the chamber this year, Thorpe stated.

MERIT BADGES FOR SCOUTS

Mexican Boys, Members of Old Baldy Council, Honore dat Upland Meet

UPLAND, Seut. 1.—The first all-Mexican court of honor held here at the junior high school auditorium marked another stepping-stone in the progress of Boy Scout work in Old Baldy Council. Mexican Boy Scouts who received badges of merit came from troops in Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne, Claremont, Cucamonga, Ontario and Upland districts.

The auditorium of the junior high school was filled with relatives and friends of the Mexican boys, and the entire program and ceremonies were planned and directed by Eagle Scout Pedro Espino, an outstanding Mexican youth. Espino got his start in Boy Scout work in Upland Troop No. 2, all Mexican boys, under the leadership of Scoutmaster V. B. Anderson, six years ago.

Espino has been organizing and training new troops of Mexican boys and advancing older members to higher degrees during the summer.

His work was made possible by the aid of Mr. and Mrs. George Winter of Upland, Mayor P. H. McQuillin and various organizations sponsoring the troops.

In addition to training leaders for the newer troops Espino has also organized and trained a boys' chorus. This chorus sang several songs in Spanish, and Espino made a talk to the Mexican parents in Spanish on the meaning of scouting. O. A. Alderson, chief executive of scouting in Old Baldy Council, presented badges and awards to seventy-five Mexican boys, representing seven Mexican troops.

Talks were made by Father S. Garcia of Ontario, Mrs. George Winter of Upland, Guadalupe Lopez, V. B. Anderson, principal of the Mexican school in Upland, and by Pedro Espino's father and mother.

Burbank Again Puts in Effect Low Tax Rate

BURBANK, Sept. 1.—At a meeting held for the purpose, the local City Council definitely established $1.23 as the tax rate for the operation of Burbank for the next year. This is the same as the rate of the previous year, though it represents a reduction of the taxes to the extent of $24,000 by reason of a reduction on the assessed valuations in the city.

As figured out by City Clerk Webster, the items represented in the rate and the amount they are expected to produce are as follows: General fund, rate 88 cents, amount amount $33,144.

In addition to the foregoing, there is an additional rate of 3 cents which has been placed against the First National Improvement District and which is confined to the First National Studios premises. This is to pay for the benefits charged up to that property by the appraisers in recent condemnation actions connected with the obtaining of certain rights of way for the widening of Olive avenue, a main highway that runs between the business district of Burbank and the large studio property.

Balloon Sleeve of Nineties is New Style Fad

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1. Mrs. L. H. Woersterlin has just returned here from a summer trip abroad. While in Paris Mrs. Woersterlin visited a number of the shops where European dress styles are created.

"Within another year," she said today, "women of the United States will be wearing dresses that will look very much like those worn by our mothers in the middle part of the gay nineties. The huge puff, leg-o'-mutton sleeves will predominate." Mrs. Woersterlin says that we like to think nowadays that most of our styles are created right here at home in Hollywood.

"Maybe so, maybe not," she said. "I'm telling you what I saw. By Christmas of 1931 long sweeping skirts and balloon sleeves will be the vogue with all women."

Brush Fire is Under Control

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 1.—Breaking out anew at an early hour, after having been held in check throughout last night, a brush-and-timber fire, which yesterday threatened to spread from Kitchen Canyon, about four miles east of Buckman Springs, over national forest land into the Laguna game refuge today was making but small headway, according to report at the headquarters of District Ranger J. B. Stephenson.

A crew of 100, directed by Stephenson and L. H. Anderson, Supervisor, Cleveland National Forest, is battling the blaze. The fire died down last night, but broke out along a small section at dawn.

Approximately 100 acres had been burned by midnight. And hope was held at Stephenson's headquarters that the fire would be held in check today. Six crew leaders to direct the fire fighters were sent to the scene of the blaze yesterday by Luther C. Gordon of La Mesa, county fire warden.

FINANCE COMPANY TAKES OVER AUTO

COVINA, Sept. 1.—With the culprits still at large, the seven-passenger sedan held in a local garage since August 15, in connection with an attempted theft of oranges from the Henry Damerel grove on Badillo and Azusa avenue, has been released to a Los Angeles financing company, upon order of the farm detail of the Los Angeles Sheriff's office, who assisted local officers in the investigation. The finance company was given possession of the car upon failure of the owners to meet payments.

The sedan is registered under the name of Sam Davis, 5935 Madden street, Los' Angeles, but has been sold and resold since that time, it is reported, without the registration having been changed at the offices of the State Motor Vehicle Department.

PLAN TO DEPART AS CHINA MISSIONARIES

SAN FERNANDO, Sept. 1.—Despite news dispatches telling of troublous times in China, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Stannard, who have resided at 1215 Lucas street, are preparing to depart as missionaries to that country some time next week. They will serve the Baptist Foreign Missionary Board. Dr. Stannard and Mrs. Stannard have been given several farewell parties.

HARBOR CHAMBER MEETS

TORRANCE, Sept. 1.—The Harbor District Chamber of Commerce will hold its next regular meeting at the Royal Palms clubhouse on the 10th inst., with the Harbor City Chamber of Commerce as the host organization. Forty-seven chambers of commerce of this district are represented, and consideration of the proposed purchase of the Royal Palms property as a county park will be before the body at that time.

Wide Screen to be Used in New Warner Picture

"The Bad Man," which comes to Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater Friday with Walter Huston in the leading role, will have the advantage of the magnoscopic, wide-angle screen for the desert scenes of the Mexican bandit band in action, according to an announcement.

The use of the wide-angle screen was instituted for the sea scenes of "Moby Dick," starring John Barrymore, now playing, and proved so popular with audiences in building up dramatic action that it will be continued, according to First National studio officials, where "The Bad Man" was produced.

Huston plays the role of Pancho Lopez, a killer, a wit and a philosopher, who proves in this play by Porter Emerson Brown that he can be as good a friend as an enemy.

In addition, others in the cast are Dorothy Revier, James Rennie, O. P. Heggie, Sidney Blackmer, Guinn Williams, Marion Byron and Arthur Stone. Clarence Badger directed.

Pasadena Man Seriously Hurt

PASADENA, Sept. 1.—The life of John T. Bibb, 77 years of age, of 817 South Oakland avenue, hangs by a thread at the Pasadena Hospital tonight. Mr. Bibb, a retired local business man, incurred a probable skull fracture Saturday night when he was struck on South Fair Oaks avenue by an automobile driven by Kenneth Downing, 22, of 6419 Seville Road, Huntington Park.

At the Pasadena Emergency Hospital, Bibb recovered consciousness sufficiently to tell police officers that the last thing he remembered was attempting to cross the street in the middle of the block to watch a miniature golf contest.

Downing was questioned by police detectives and released pending the recovery of the victim.

TAX RATE REMAINS SAME AS LAST YEAR

GLENDORA, Sept. 1.—As set forth in the new city budget adopted by the City Council, Glendora's tax rate for 1930-1931 will be $1.94 per $100 assessed valuation. This is the same rate as that of last year and is based on the 1930 assessed valuation of the city just completed, totaling $1,786,250, showing a decrease of $143,230 from the previous year's valuation.

The only changes in the tax budget this year center in the appropriations for library, music and the park funds. The library fund was increased 13 to 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation, and the music and park fund was decreased from 4 to 2 cents.

Appropriations from the tax budget total $38,689.31 for the year, and are relegated to the following departments: General fund, $19,942.95; bond redemption, $7378.89; bond interest, $7977.18; library fund, $2991.44, and music and park fund, $389.85.

SCHOOL IN TENTS AT SIERRA MADRE

SIERRA MADRE, Sept. 1.—When grammar school opens here on the 15th inst., Sierra Madre children for the first time will attend their classes in huge tents now being erected on the school site on Highland avenue. According to school officials, the tents will be used until the new school building, now under construction, is completed. Contractors of the new $219,000 grammar school state that the entire building is expected to be finished by November 15, although the date is not definitely fixed.

CONSIDER ZONING

MANHATTAN BEACH, Sept. 1.—Plans submitted by the City Planning Commission for a master zoning ordinance for this city will be given a public hearing at a meeting in the council chamber in the City Hall tomorrow night. J. S. Daugherty, president of the commission, will preside.

PHYSICIAN IN PLANE ACCIDENT

Doctor Has Smash-up in Borrowed Craft at Glendale Airport

GLENDALE, Sept. 1.—Dr. Clyde Emery, 28 years of age, Los Angeles physician, was seriously injured today when the airplane that he was flying over the Grand Central Air Terminal crashed as he was piloting the Spirit of Ether, belonging to Dr. T. C. Young, using the plane with Young's permission, as he has done several times in the past.

As Emery attempted to make the landing at what appeared to be too great a speed the nose of the plane dipped suddenly and Emery attempted to climb again as the wheels struck. The plane leaped ten feet into the air and came down on its nose, breaking the propeller and damaging the motor.

Emery received a broken nose and a number of bruises and concussions, besides possible head injuries. He was rushed to the Glendale Research Hospital where his father, Dr. Robert D. Emery, 927 South Gramercy Place, Los Angeles, and a member of the hospital staff, helped in the operation that followed.

Emery's injuries are not regarded as likely to prove fatal, his father stated. The plane is a folding wing monoplane that was specially built to specifications prepared by Dr. Young, one of the leading flyers of Southern California.

Mail Carriers in Convention at Glendale

GLENDALE, Sept. 1.—Delegates to the conventions of the California State branch of the National Letter Carriers' Association and of the National Federation of Postal Clerks, in session here, buckled down to work today following two days of social affairs that have taken up their programs since their arrival here Saturday.

Elections of both groups had been planned for today, but so great was the press of business dealing with other matters that the delegates did not anticipate being able to ballot until late in the day.

Among those who addressed the carriers were Congressmen W. E. Evans and Joe Crail of the Ninth and Tenth California districts, respectively, who advised the delegates against any movement at this time to demand advance in salaries from the Postoffice Department.

L. H. Myers, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city and a similar office was performed by City Manager J. W. Charleville in an address before the clerks.

Legion Club Full of Birds

ONTARIO, Sept. 1.—When members of Ontario Post of the American Legion enter their clubhouse in West E street, day or night, they are greeted by a bedlam of bird calls, some shrill, some baritone, and some the booming bass of parrots with a vocabulary of nonparlor words.

There are over 100 birds in the clubhouse, all owned by Hans Serritzlew, Danish caretaker of the Legion property.

Serritzlew has made bird collecting his hobby, and has a variety of birds worth several hundred dollars. Included in his collection is one outspoken magpie that occupies the throne room in the front part of the building. Others are high-priced cockatoos, English and German canaries, and all the colored birds of the finch family.

Several weeks ago Serritzlew lost his prize parrot, a huge, gayly colored bird, that departed from the front yard when the owner started to give it the usual morning bath.

It perched downtown and the fire department and police department were called in an effort to rescue the bird, but it refused to be caught.

Serritzlew is a veteran of the World War.

Versatile Star to Appear Here

Monday night brings Katharine Cornell, one of the most admired of the country's younger emotional stars, here for the first time. She will appear at the Biltmore Theater under the sponsorship of Gilbert Miller and Guthrie McClintic in "Dishonored Lady."

A personal success in Michael Arlen's "Green Hat" brought Miss Cornell stardom. Subsequently she played the enigmatic Leslie Crosby in Somerset Maugham's "The Letter" and the role of Ellen Olenska in "The Age of Innocence."

The engagement here is for two weeks only, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

CHIEF RETURNS TO JOB OF SLEUTHING

COVINA, Sept. 1.—After being confined to his home since July 28, with an injured knee, Constable James J. Saunders is back again at his "old job of sleuthing," as he cheerfully calls his line of activities, in improvised quarters in the City Hall.

"I guess that I will not be able to do much sleuthing at that," he said as he hobbled about his office. "At least not for the present anyway."

Constable Saunders, who is also Chief of Police of Covina, is still considerably incapacitated by the injured knee, and City Hall headquarters were arranged for him so that he would not be forced to climb the stairs to the constable's office located in the Reed Building on Badillo street.

FALL FROM AUTO FATAL

Glendale Man Pitched from Rumble Seat in Crash on San Fernando Road Involving Three Machines

GLENDALE, Sept. 1.—Hurled from the rumble seat of a coupe in which he was riding, Elias D. Sandoval, 29 years of age, of 207 West Hawthorne street, received injuries last night that resulted in his death before he could be taken to the Emergency Hospital.

Sandoval, an employee of the Grand Central Air Terminal Cafe, and five other members of the cafe force, were riding in a coupe driven by Stanley Zedeker, 2800½ Dalton street, Los Angeles, when, according to Zedeker, a car swinging out of the line of traffic ahead of him forced his car over to the center of San Fernando Road at Highland avenue.

Zedeker's car collided with a truck driven by E. Uchiyama, Pacoima, and a third machine driven by J. B. Drake, 3634 Revere street, Los Angeles, was involved in the crash.

Francisco Carillo, a room-mate of Sandoval, was also thrown out of the rumble seat, receiving a possible fracture of one foot. Sandoval fell so heavily on the concrete that he died almost instantly. Police released Zedeker and Uchiyama after investigation. The inquest of Sandoval has been set for Wednesday at the Durr mortuary.

LIGHT WIRES TRANSPORT HEAVY LOAD

Illumination of Pomona Fair Grounds is Great Undertaking

POMONA, Sept. 1.—Approximately 10,000 electric globes, twenty miles of insulated copper wire, three huge transformers each weighing 7000 pounds, hundreds of switches, several miles of conduits and a crew of electricians will be required to illuminate the 107 acres of grounds, the twenty-five permanent and temporary structures and the parking-spaces at Los Angeles County Fair during the ten days from the 12th to the 21st inst.

Wiring in the great new agricultural building to be dedicated on the opening day has alone required an expenditure of over $25,000. The electric lighting will play an important part in the gorgeous decorative scheme in the structure and many of the features have been designed especially for and will be used the first time. A striking innovation will be the wave effect across the vast ceiling.

First there will be a flash of red at one end, followed by green at the next arch and then yellow. The light will flow along the arches in these alternating colors for the entire length of the building, or, they will begin at either end and meet in the center, or begin in the center and travel to the ends. Another switch is being installed to send the lights around the edges in an ellipse.

An idea of the magnitude of the wiring and lighting job may be gained from a few of the figures. The big arches supporting the roof and forming a part of the steel framework contain 16,200 feet of electrical wiring, and all of the wiring for the building runs up to a total of 23,340 feet, or more than four miles.

The building also is equipped with an emergency circuit so there will be double assurance of lights. The Southern California Edison Company has also installed two feed lines to further insure maintenance of complete electrical energy in the event that something should happen to interfere with the normal flow of electricity.

Community Play Well Received

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 1.—"Prunella," the three-act musical fantasy presented by the Community Players, has been well received by large audiences. Oswell Leonard Jackson, eastern stage director, now residing in this city, selected a well-chosen cast of characters, whose work was charmingly presented.

The setting for the play was in the attractive outdoor theater, situated in a beautiful canyon at the edge of the famous Laguna Art Colony, on the Coast Highway.

Miss Margot Sangster in the title role proved to be a most phenomenal success. Mrs. Susan Crandall Kimmell, Mrs. Nina McMillan and Mrs. June La Piere, as Prim, Prude and Privacy, respectively, played their parts exceptionally well. Marshall Ford as Pierrot, was well received.

SANTA MONICA SCHOOLS OPEN DOORS TODAY

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 1.—More than 6000 grammar-school, high-school, junior-high and junior college students in this city await the gong tomorrow morning for the start of the fall term. Teachers met with their principals today to perfect final arrangements for the opening. The last day of vacation witnessed the return of many Santa Monica students from mountain camps. The beaches were crowded with youngsters today, the last of their complete freedom from scholastic restrictions.

BASE FOR DRUGS IN OIL OF NEW FIELD

TERRA BELLA, Sept. 1.—Ichthyol oil, used as a base for drugs, is believed to be contained in the oil found in the new Terra Bella field, according to an announcement made today by T. O. Reed of the Jacques Oil Company. This company is drilling the Colton No. 1 on Sec. 34 for Mrs. Ona Jacques, the first woman operator to enter the new field. Mrs. Jacques is here today inspecting her property. There are nineteen derricks up today, with more to be erected within a few days, it was reported.

EARLY PREPARATIONS

BELL, Sept. 1.—Christmas is more than three months in the distance, but already, the Bell Chamber of Commerce has discussed the Christmas season, it being planned to decorate Baker avenue, the main business thoroughfare, very elaborately, and a massive Christmas tree also is to be stationed at the intersection of Baker and Flora avenues. The organization has appointed a committee to secure data on decorations and cost.

Irish Fishermen Ask Aid

Claiming that they have been deprived of their means of livelihood by the new Shannon hydroelectric project, fishermen of Killaloe, Ireland, have appealed to the Free State Dail for some form of compensation or pension which would save them and their families from destitution.

National Park Has Best Year

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, Sept. 1.—Visitors to the number of 111,500 entered the park this season, up to August 25, smashing all-time records for any season with travel up to September 30, the close of the travel year, yet to be recorded. Last year the total of 111,035 for the entire 1929 season was the high record, but a total of 130,000 is the conservative estimate for this season.

Commenting on the park's growth in popularity, park officials point out that travel to vacation resorts throughout the country has been less this season than last, due to the financial depression and the unemployment situation, so that the Sequoia growth is particularly gratifying.

This season at the park has been marked by the opening up of new camping sites, completion of many excellent trails to points of interest, establishment of larger parking spaces, and completion of a circulating road system to relieve traffic congestion.

On the 25th inst., a huge celebration is planned here commemorating the fortieth anniversary of the creation of the resort.

Fair Provides Thrills Galore

TULARE, Sept. 1.—"Thrills galore will be afforded visitors when they attend the amusement concession at the Tulare County Fair Grounds September 16 to 20, inclusive, this year," states Harry W. Perry, secretary of the fair.

The Foley and Burke combined shows, which have endeared themselves to the Tulare county public in past years because of their good, clean entertainment, and fun for the younger generation, have been obtained for this season, and, according to the secretary, this year's aggregation of fun makers and hair raisers will far surpass all previous shows given by them.

A new thriller is the "Lindy loop," said to cap the climax for thrilling rides, and then there is the Karn Fat Family, a side show exhibiting father, mother, two sons and daughters tipping the scales at a ton and a half of human weight.

EAGLE IS VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 1. On the return trip from vacationing at their summer home at Green Mountain Falls, Colo., Supt. C. B. Baldwin of the elementary school here, and his family experienced an accident with an American eagle in the mountainous wilds in Utah.

As the automobile in which they were traveling rounded a curve in the road the eagle flew up from the rabbit upon which it was feasting, striking the hood of the car and killing itself.

Supt. Baldwin did not want to leave the choice bird to be devoured by the vultures or wild beasts, so he picked it up and carried it to Las Vegas where he visited an undertaker, who embalmed it, preserving it until Baldwin could have it dressed and mounted by a taxidermist. Supt. Baldwin will present the young eagle with a wing stretch of four feet, to the visual education department of the school here.

UNION CHURCH SERVICE OVER FOR THE SEASON

ONTARIO, Sept. 1.—Sunday evening marked the close of union services for Ontario and Upland churches at Chaffey's outdoor amphitheater.

Rev. Shirley Shaw, pastor of Ontario First Christian Church, preached the closing sermon. Rev. Shaw recently accepted the pastorate of the Ontario First Christian Church, coming to Ontario from Eagle Rock. His sermon topic was "God's Measure of a Man."

Mrs. Shaw provided special music for the final outdoor union service. Mrs. Shaw is an accomplished vocalist.

TWO HURT IN AUTO SMASH

VERNON, Sept. 1.—Two machines were in a crash early yesterday at Soto and Leonis streets, in which Santiogo Rodrigas and Juana Rodrigas of 320 East Eighty-third street, Los Angeles, were injured, the former sustaining a broken nose and scalp wounds, and the latter laceration of the scalp and possible fracture of the ribs. They were taken to the Huntington Park Hospital. Ramiro Tellez was also somewhat injured. It was not learned how the accident occurred.

ATTACK IS FATAL TO AGED MAN

Young Mexican Held for Murder Following Death of Victim

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 1. — Bartolo Ramirez, 78 years of age, of Corona, victim of an asserted attack a week ago with beer bottles wielded by drunken intruders who sought to gain entrance to the aged man's house, died in the County Hospital here. Francisco Moreno, 26-year-old Corona laborer, has been jailed charged with murder and officers are searching for Moreno's asserted companion on the night of the assault.

Ramirez, his skull fractured and his head horribly battered, was not taken to the County Hospital until last Wednesday when his daughter returning from a motor trip to the northern part of the State found the senseless form of the old man lying neglected and unattended in the Joy-street residence, Corona.

The attack assertedly occurred early the preceding Sunday. Until late Saturday night officers and attendants at the County Hospital had no reason to suspect foul play and had assumed that Ramirez had been hurt in an automobile accident. Inquiries conducted by the man's daughter, however, disclosed that Ramirez had been attacked when he sought to prevent two intoxicated men from forcing entrance into the room of a young Mexican woman who occupied quarters in the Ramirez dwelling. Officers located Moreno without trouble, but the second man has disappeared.

Selig Company Provides Start for Director

Raymond Cannon, director of "Ladies Must Play," a sophisticated farce now showing at the R-K-O. Theater, is one of the youngest directors by point of age in the industry, yet one of the oldest in film experience. Cannon started his film career when he joined the Selig company for the production of "The Adventures of Kathlyn."

He next was director for Griffith and later leading man opposite Dorothy Gish. Then followed considerable work as scenario writer for MacLean comedies, Buster Keaton, Universal and Paramount. Cannon's first directorial achievement was "Life's Like That," a Fanchon Royer production, after which he was under long-term contract to Fox and then recently was at Columbia for "Ladies Must Play."

Tax Rate Goes Up at La Verne

LA VERNE, Sept. 1.—This city's tax rate will be 16 cents higher this year than last, yet it will produce a total fund $363 short of the previous year, it is revealed by the County Auditor's recommended budget and tax rate, which are expected to be adopted by the City Council at its meeting next week. The increase from $1.69 to $1.85 in the city tax rate is necessary, it is pointed out, because the total nonoperative values of city property have dropped from $1,690,295 in 1929 to $1,506,495 for the current fiscal year.

There is no possibility of a change in any budget account, it is said. The city will still have a general fund rate of $1. The water bond interest and sinking fund rate is 13 cents, street bond interest and sinking fund rate is 13 cents; sewer bond sinking fund rate also 13 cents; sewer bond interest fund, 17 cents; park bond sinking fund, 12 cents, and park bond interest, 17 cents, making a total of $1.85.

Due to the lower valuation this rate will net the city less than was received as a whole last year, as only a limited amount can be collected for the bond fund. In other words, the tax rate this year will net the city $27,839.95 as compared with $28,202.95 collected last year. The general fund will be cut from $16,902.95 to $15,064.95.

FORGER LOSES APPEAL TO APPELATE COURT

ONTARIO, Sept. 1.—Seven years in Folsom penitentiary face Leslie J. Eppstein, who several months ago was convicted of writing fictitious checks which his pretty young wife passed on Ontario merchants.

Eppstein appealed the sentence imposed after conviction by a jury in Superior Judge Charles L. Allison's court, but the sentence has been upheld by the Fourth District Court of Appeal, it was made known today in Ontario.

Eppstein was found guilty on three counts of issuing fictitious checks and was sentenced to serve one to fourteen years in Folsom penitentiary on each count, the sentences to run consecutively.

Eppstein had previously been convicted of a felony, and now is a two-time loser, which means a minimum of seven years in prison. Mrs. Eppstein's efforts to shoulder part of the blame were futile. Eppstein has been in San Bernardino County Jail pending decision of the Appellate Court.

ANY KIND OF JOB WILL KEEP HIM OUT OF JAIL

BURBANK, Sept. 1.—Harold C. Forbes who served fifty-six days in jail on a 500-day sentence on a liquor-violation charge is out today looking for a job. If he doesn't find one within ten days, Judge Watson asserts, he must return to jail and serve the rest of the term. Forbes was in charge of the "aging" plant on Victory Boulevard when it was raided by police several weeks ago. For every day he works Forbes will be given a two-day credit on his sentence, he was told by Judge Watson.

DROUGHT CRISIS NO RADIO FAULT

Scientists Dispute Charges Sent to Hoover

Suggestions that the ether radiation of radio signals has had something to do with the drought which has covered the entire country during the last several weeks is a false idea, according to radio experts who have been consulted on the subject.

It is pointed out that during the last year there has been practically no increase in the amount of power dissipated by radio stations, and there is little likelihood that such transmission would have any effect on meteorological conditions.

The Department of Commerce received last week a letter from O. D. Hill of Kendalia, W. Va., suggesting that the radiation of radio signals may be the cause of the drought. Mr. Hill also communicated with President Hoover expressing his views on the effect radio may have on weather conditions.

RADIO HAS NO EFFECT

William D. Terrell, chief of the radio division of the Commerce Department, to whose attention the letter was brought, expressed the opinion that there is no relation between radio and weather precipitation.

Mr. Terrell further pointed out that several years ago there was a period of excessive rain and it was then suggested that the presence of radio waves in the ether had been the cause of the rainfall. He said: "It is not within the power of man to alter the situation."

Mr. Hill in his letter to the department suggested closing all of the radio stations in the country for a period of sixty days, to determine whether or not radio signals were the cause of the drought, as he believed.

SUGGESTS CLOSING

His letter to the department states: "I believe these atmospheric and climatic conditions have been brought about by the universal dissemination of electricity by radio stations throughout the country, and if I am right the only way to demonstrate whether or not the radiodation is responsible for these conditions would be to cease all radio activity in the United States for, say, a period of sixty days, and by this method only can we find out whether or not the dissemination of the electrical currents are responsible for present climatic conditions."

Radio experts point out that scientists have frequently sought means of employing radio radiation for precipitating rain. They hold the view that if radio radiation does anything at all, it aids rainfall, but as far as known no definite demonstration of proof has been forthcoming. German scientists have been experimenting with the idea for more than five years, but have reported no progress. It is understood, however, that they have found that vegetation growing within the field of a radio frequency current has shown speedier growth than under ordinary conditions. This is attributed to the presence of ozone within a radio frequency field, which contains three parts of oxygen, an essential element in the growing of vegetation.

NO CHANGE IN POWER

It is further pointed out that during the past year there has been virtually the same amount of power transmitted by radio stations as during the previous year. Scientists can see no reason or means whereby radio signals would be responsible for retarding meteorological conditions.

It is also stated that in the East there are more broadcasting stations with an aggregate higher power than in any other part of the country, yet this section seems to have been the least affected by the drought. The Midwest and South Atlantic States, where radio stations are sparsely separated and have comparatively lower power, the situation has been the most serious.

PLENTY OF MUSIC READY

For a private dancing party there is on display at the Radio Show Beautiful a combination radio and phonograph which will play fifty records without stopping. All that is necessary is to connect with a light socket. The machine automatically changes needles and records, thus saving the host or hostess a lot of work.

WAVES GO EVERYWHERE

Obstructions mean nothing to radio waves, say engineers at the National Radio Show. Reception has been recorded in submarines far beneath the ocean waves, in tightly sealed bank vaults armored with six feet of steel, and in airplanes 20,000 feet above the surface of the earth. Nothing stops it, they say.

SEASONAL SALE PLANS MAPPED

Each Part of Year will be Made to Do Its Bit

That there is a distinct use and enjoyment of radio for every season of the year, is the opinion of a member of the executive committee of the Los Angeles National Radio Show.

He plans to make each season sell its own quota of radio sets by special displays, directly linking the radio with each period, and showing the advantages and enjoyments to be obtained by "tuning in."

As an example of his idea, he plans during the winter season to have his advertising reveal the occupants of a home stormbound by radio or snow outside. Comfortable before their fireside, they listen in on their radio to the hits of the newest musical shows, the strains of operas, the instructions of the bridge experts, or the special Thanksgiving or Christmas features arranged by the broadcast studios.

Spring will suggest radio Halloween or Valentine parties, news of the baseball training camps and the latest word of early outdoor sports.

Summer will be represented by a camping party, far from civilization, tuning in on the play-by-play accounts of the big league ball games or enjoying the melody of a symphony under the stars.

Fall naturally calls to mind the football season with its University of Southern California-Notre Dame struggle and other games of importance throughout the country.

VEST-POCKET SETS GOOD

Those who like miniature golf will find something along similar lines in the miniature radio receiving sets which can be carried in vest pockets. They are not only small but they give good results.

Municipally Owned Lines Facing Bankruptcy

Defaulting on Bonds Urged by Some Taxpayers

SEATTLE, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Another attempt is being made to solve Seattle's municipal railway problem. A new citizens' transportation committee, appointed by Mayor Edwards, has begun the apparently hopeless task of saving the lines from bankruptcy. Edwards named the committee when the City Council could not muster enough votes to authorize help from tax funds and the banks held $300,000 in pay-roll warrants which could not be met.

Seattle's experiment with municipal ownership of her street-car lines has been such a failure even the most ardent municipal ownership advocates here profess to see no way out of the mire.

Many problems confront the citizens' committee in addition to the immediate necessity for finding money to pay the operating crews of the line. These problems include the retirement of $10,000,000 in purchase bonds plus 5 per cent interest, which covers a two-year period, due to a moratorium granted by the courts; funds for rehabilitation of the lines on which practically nothing has been expended since the city took them over ten years ago and the problem of increased expenses with decreased revenues.

COMPETITION GROWS

Increasing the revenues seems impossible. The fare is now 10 cents, or three tokens for a quarter, making 8 1-3 cent fare; but during the past ten years the habits of riders have changed. More automobiles are in use, more jitneys operated and hundreds of low-fare taxicabs are on the streets.

The "magnificent distances" that Seattle riders have to cover, some rides being fifteen miles long, makes the use of taxicabs and jitneys almost general among persons in the outlying sections, for the distance can be covered in from one-third to one-fourth of the time a street car takes.

As Seattle has grown to a large extent chiefly on the "outer rim," the long-distance rides for the street cars have decreased, in some cases 75 per cent. And with the inability to get funds, the voters refusing to sanction bonds for extension of lines, the system has not kept pace with the growth of the city.

Among the suggestions being given serious consideration are:

Creation of a "nonpolitical" commission to manage the lines, the idea being to turn the system over to a "business men's commission" for a period of years with full power to act.

A general levy of two mills in the tax rate to provide $800,000 annually, a proposal that taxpayers emphatically oppose.

Stricter enforcement of the anti-jitney law; it is openly violated now by a huge flock of "bootleg" jitneys.

Raising of taxicab fares by ordinance, the minimum rate now being 10 cents and the new rate proposed to be 25 cents. This plan is advocated by Mayor Edwards.

Looping of cars in the downtown district to avoid congestion.

DEFAULTING URGED

There also is the plan, which many citizens and property owners indorse, which is to default on interest payments and let the owners of the bonds take back the lines and do what they please. Advocates of this plan say they do not care if the bond holders refuse to operate the lines, that some other means of transportation can be devised, but they do not disclose what those other means are. It is known, however, that the Stone & Webster interests, which sold the lines to the city, "do not want the lines back under any conditions."

It is all a nice mess, and is costing Seattle a big sum. Default on the bonds, it is declared, will damage the city's credit. But others reply that things could not be any worse than they are now.

It is pointed out that paving between outer rails of the lines, either neglected or never installed, would cost the city $3,000,000 to $4,000,000, there being some forty miles of unpaved car tracks.

"We are tied hand and foot and cannot move an inch," says Councilman Otto Case, a municipal-ownership advocate who wants to take the lines out of the hands of "political management."

ABJECT FIASCO

Thus far no one has openly suggested cutting down expenses by reducing the pay of the operators, or suggested making a bid for new business by reducing fares.

With money demanded right and left, streets unpaved, interest in practical default, riders decreasing, no money for extensions except from taxes and the city likely to default on pay warrants, it is all not a pleasant thing to contemplate, especially on the part of the mumunicipal-ownership advocates.

Thus the Seattle street-car experiment, so blithely entered into just after the war, with its sponsors declaring municipal ownership would mean "lower fares, better service, rapid extensions, higher wages for the crews and enough money to pave the streets without cost to the taxpayers," is proving one of the most costly experiments without one single expectation realized. The only thing Seattle can boast of in connection with her street-car experiment "is the most abject and dismal municipal-ownership fiasco" in the United States.

WIFE WINS DECREE ON CRUELTY PLEA

VISALIA, Sept. 1.—On a charge of cruelty, her action not contested, Mrs. Veda Brundage Richards, member of a pioneer family here, was granted a divorce from W. H. Richards, after a hearing before Superior Judge J. A. Allen. She was awarded custody of the three minor children and $75 a month for their support. The couple were married in 1917 and separated a few weeks ago. The complaint asserted that the husband frequently remained away from home all night. Richards is a local automobile dealer.

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field III, recently married in London, escaped injury and Lord Rothermere was knocked down but uninjured in the wreck of a Glasgow express at Euston station in the night. Twenty persons received injuries when the train crashed into the buffer stops.

The first of two locomotives hauling the train plunged against the buffers, the second engine was smashed and several coaches were telescoped. The third coach crushed six feet into the one before it.

AIR FLIVVERS ENVISIONED

Safety Plane Demonstrations at Chicago Forecast Era of Universal Flying

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Occupying a minor place on the program, but of more profound interest to the lay spectator than the daredevil stunting and break-neck speed featured in the 1930 national air races, which closed today at the Curtiss-Reynolds Airport, was the performance of a half-dozen "safety" craft.

Hovering, climbing steeply and slowly, landing short without rolling all over the lot, taking off without taxiing great distances, maintaining lateral stability during flight and alighting without the use of a human control are feats outside the realm of the standard airplane.

But engineers who are working toward a safe flivver plane for the man on the street pin their faith to the implements which make such performances possible.

AIR FLIVVER VISIONED

In the relatively crude performance of the McDonnell Doodlebug, the Greene "Guardian Air" self-control plane and the three autogyros, spectators at Curtiss Field saw, perhaps, the beginning of the day when air flivvers will make flying as popular as motoring, and when housewives and business men will be able to take off from their front lawns and alight in a landing spot within walking distance of city shops and offices.

The chief accomplishment of the McDonnell ship, designed and built by J. S. McDonnell of Chicago, is its ability to land and take off, using less than 100 feet of run, and its steep climb.

Slow landing and slow flying is accomplished in the McDonnell plane by the use of a successful combination of wing slots installed on the forward edge of the wing and wide wing flaps attached to the trailing edge. Slots and flaps are not new developments, although aircraft designers have shown a reluctance to adopt them for general use.

QUALITY DEMONSTRATED

Slots are used to prevent the deadly stall resulting from the loss of flying speed. The function of the slots was successfully demonstrated by McDonnell in a steep, slow climb and slow landings, which would be extremely dangerous for most ships.

The trailing flaps of his craft are let down on landing to provide a drag and thus decrease speed. A wide and substantial landing gear makes it possible for the ship to drop heavily without danger of damage or tipping over.

Through the race meet, McDonnell demonstrated the qualities of his craft by landing and taking off in a 100-foot circle, and landing it expertly each time.

The self-control plane on the first day of the races landed in a cloud of dust far out on the field. The pilot's hands were off the controls when he landed.

Otto W. Greene is inventor of the "Guardian Air" device which he has installed in a Stearman biplane. He has been working at this device for twenty years and only recently learned to fly in order to learn what final refinements were needed on the plane.

SAFE BLIND FLYING

In its present stage the device controls the ailerons and elevator, leaving the pilot free to concentrate on his instruments when flying blind. It is actuated by the combined action of a vane, which "feels" the air ahead of the wings and a pendulum placed among complicated electrical contacts in a small box in the fuselage.

The Stearman installation has been tested by many mail pilots who express their faith in it as a means of safe blind flying. In demonstrations, Greene has flown in clouds with his hands off the controls and done figure eights close to the ground in a manner to amaze veteran pilots.

Greene says his device applies the exact proper bank for any turn made with the rudder; keeps the plane on an even keel in bumpy air much better than any human hand could control it; prevents stalls and spins and permits the plane to fly on even keel at the absolute stalling point.

Greene and other pilots have taken off and landed with their hands off the controls many times, although the main purpose is to enable safe flying under blind flying conditions.

GUARANTEE OF WAGES ADVOCATED

Green Says Industry Must Guard Against Distress Caused by Cycles

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—In an address at the State Fair here today, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said: "Those who manage and own industry, those who control and administer the affairs of government and those who work and are represented by men of their own choosing will be well nigh guilty of moral and criminal negligence if they permit society to be intermittently exposed to the deadening and destroying effects of cyclical periods of unemployment."

Green urged establishment of a secured annual wage earners' income as a guard against poverty and suffering during such periods.

OLD-AGE PENSION DECLARED INEVITABLE

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1. (AP)—A prediction that old-age pensions are inevitable and that social and economic forces are driving industry toward the five-day week was made tonight in an address by Frank Morrison, secretary of American Federation of Labor, speaking at Glen Arm, near here, under the auspices of the Baltimore federation.

SHORTER DAY TO AID UNEMPLOYED ADVOCATED

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Sept. 1. (AP) An abbreviated working week to aid in affording jobs for the unemployed in times of business depression was urged here today in an address by George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants of North America.

Germany Holds 'Legs' Diamond for Washington

AIX-LA CHAPELLE (Germany) Sept. 1. (AP)—Detectives of the German secret service tonight arrested Jack (Legs) Diamond, American gangster, as he arrived at the frontier on a train from Antwerp after being expelled by Belgian authorities.

Police said extradition of Diamond to the United States for an asserted murder has been requested. The prisoner took the arrest calmly but was not disposed to talk. He was travelling under the name of Jack Nolan. The gangster was expelled from Belgium after he had been detained early in the day and released late in the afternoon, on the ground that he was an undesirable alien.

Since his passport had been visaed for entrance to Germany the Belgian authorities brought him to the frontier.

LABOR DAY QUIET

VISALIA, Sept. 1.—Although organized labor throughout Tulare county made no formal observance of Labor Day, streets here were decorated by the local labor council, and practically every business house in the five leading towns of the county was closed for the day, as were the banks, libraries and newspaper offices.

ORINOCO PARTY REACHES GOAL

Dr. Dickey and Companions Back to Base

Two Thousand-Mile Trip in Open Boat Ends

Sources of River Mapped, Strange Fauna Found

BY DR. HERBERT S. DICKEY

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

CUIDAD BOLIVAR (Venezuela) Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Our expedition arrived here today, haggard but happy after a trip of more than 2000 miles by outboard motor to the head waters of the Orinoco and back.

The Orinoco originates in at least three streams. On July 30 we reached a point on the main stream fifty miles higher than the previous attainment of white men in latitude 2 deg., 19 minutes 13 seconds north and longitude 64 deg. 22 minutes 5 seconds west.

We found here a wall of gigantic boulders through which vestiges of the river ran in rivulets. We made a compass traverse of the previously unexplored main stream and of two unmapped important affluents and located two more hither unrecorded tributaries.

Ascending one of the former which enters the Orinoco from the southeast we found a region remarkable in fauna and flora. There were miniature ducks the size of quail, crimson morning glories as large as saucers and jet-black parrots.

The Guaharibos Indians, notoriously ferocious, proved meek and frightened. They are not white but a saffron-yellow naked folk living in the Stone Age and provided a unique collection of ethnological material.

We sail for Trinidad en route to New York Wednesday.

Dr. Dickey and his party on its leader's third attempt to reach the source of the Orinoco had not been heard from since the end of June, when an amateur radio operator at Lima, Peru, was in communication with the expedition and a letter from the explorer received here by Hawthorne Daniel of the American Museum of Natural History, described the unusual hardships encountered on the jungle river journey.

Dr. Dickey, accompanied by his wife and representatives of the American Indian Haye Foundation, for which he gathered material, sailed from New York on March 20 for Trinidad. The party was held up at Port of Spain when the river steamer on which it was to proceed broke a paddle and was further delayed at Ciudad Bolivar, 225 miles from the mouth of the river, by low water.

Leaving Ciudad Bolivar in a small sailing vessel early in June, the expedition reached San Fernando de Atabapo, two-thirds of the way up the river, on June 21. At that time Dr. Dickey was confident he would arrive at the headwaters by August 15.

DARE LEADS TO SHOOTING OF WOMAN

Royal Canadian Police Officer Jailed Following Drinking Party Episode

DAUPHIN (Man.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Crazed, officials said, by the taunts and laughs of several women and men, who "dared him to shoot," a constable of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police drew his revolver and shot and wounded a 26-year-old woman at a picnic grounds in the Assinaboine Valley, on the Saskatchewan-Manitoba boundary, sixty-five miles from here, today.

The woman, Mrs. Sophie Light, wife of E. J. Light, president of the Board of Trade of Ipswich, S. D., is in a hospital here, critically wounded, a bullet in her abdomen. Physicians, however, believe she will recover.

The constable, A. Prien, of the Regina detachment of the police was held tonight in a local jail and will be arraigned in court here tomorrow.

The shooting, according to witnesses, was the culmination of a drinking party, and marred the celebration, which was the occasion of the linking of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan highway systems. It occurred in view of 6000 persons, including Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, and officials of both Provinces, as well as representatives from South Dakota, guests at the opening of the new highway.

Bolivia Indians Attack Fort on Paraguay Front

LA PAZ (Bolivia) Sept. 1. (AP)—Bolivian Indians attacked the Paraguayan Fort Rojas Silva, says a foreign office statement issued here today. The attack is said to have been in reprisal for the asserted killing by the Paraguayans of an Indian.

The statement was issued on information received by the general staff from the Bolivian Fort Arge, in the Chaco Boreal, scene of serious border clashes between the two countries. These border differences only recently were declared settled after each country had made the necessary amends.

The statement says the incident occurred outside Bolivian jurisdiction.

McFARLAND RANCH MAN SUCCUMBS

McFARLAND, Sept. 1.—James C. Gobel, 47 years of age, native of Tennessee and rancher of this district for many years, died early today at a local hospital. He leaves his widow, Mrs. James Gobel, and two sons, Herbert and Conor Gobel, all of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Siddell of Chicago. Funeral rites will be conducted at Flickinger Chapel tomorrow at 2 p.m.

The Ideal Investment for Both Institutions and Individuals

A number of years ago the Mortgage Guarantee Company determined to provide a form of investment that would meet the most exacting requirements of conservative institutions, especially for the employment of trust funds; a form of investment combining the highest possible degree of protection with sure and adequate yield.

Creating a New Standard

Notwithstanding the fact that institutional investors had found that first liens on conservatively appraised improved real estate produced a better income than any other form of investment of comparable safety, it was resolved to develop a still higher form of protection than any type of collateral security alone could provide. As a result of the plan then formulated, the Mortgage Insurance Act of California was passed in 1913. This act, as interpreted and applied by this Company, is one of the most effective pieces of legislation in the United Sates for the protection of Mortgage investors.

Under this act, all appraisals are made by State-approved appraisers, and filed with the State Insurance Department. All appraisals are made on a very conservative basis, after a careful survey of all surrounding conditions and contingencies; and under no circumstances can loans exceed 50% of the values thus established.

In addition to this wide margin of security, the loans are insured by this Company as to both principal and interest.

Dependable Insurance

Investment insurance should be judged by the same standards as other forms of insurance, namely, by the character and strength of the issuing companies. In this connection attention is invited to the record and personnel of the Mortgage Guarantee Company—one of the foremost institutions of its kind in the United States—and to its financial strength as indicated by capital, surplus and undivided profit of more than $8,900,000 and resources of more than $95,000,000.

Nationally Distributed

First-lien investments originated and insured by this Company are purchased throughout the United States by banks, insurance companies, trustees, executors, guardians, and private investors whose purchases are restricted to securities of the very highest order; and it is significant that they are held by more than 150 institutions in amounts totaling over $45,000,000.00, as well as by thousands of individual investors.

For Investors of All Classes

Insured First Mortgage Certificates of this Company are issued in denominations of $100 and multiples thereof, and offer the same advantages and conveniences to small investors as to institutions.

They are legal investments for State and Savings Banks, Trust and Insurance Companies and other institutions whose investments are restricted by law. These Certificates are also eligible for deposit with the State Treasurer to guarantee the faithful performance of trusts.

They are issued in registerable form and interest is paid by the check of the Company promptly on due dates, either quarterly or semi-annually as the buyer may prefer; hence there are no coupons to clip. Moreover, the holders of these Certificates are entirely free from the cares and responsibilities (such as collection of interest, supervision of the pledged property, etc.) which are necessarily assumed by the holder of individual mortgages. They are also free from the worries of market fluctuations and the uncertainties of dividends or interest payments which constantly concern the holders of speculative securities.

Exceptional Yield

Considering the lesser yields of other forms of strictly high-grade investments, and the insurance against any loss of either principal or interest which these Certificates provide, the yield of 6% is exceptional.

Investors may choose maturities of two, three, four or five years, in denominations of $100 or any multiple thereof, and with any combination of quarterly or semi-annual interest dates.

The descriptive booklet may be had by personal call, by telephoning TRinity 0831, or by mailing the coupon.

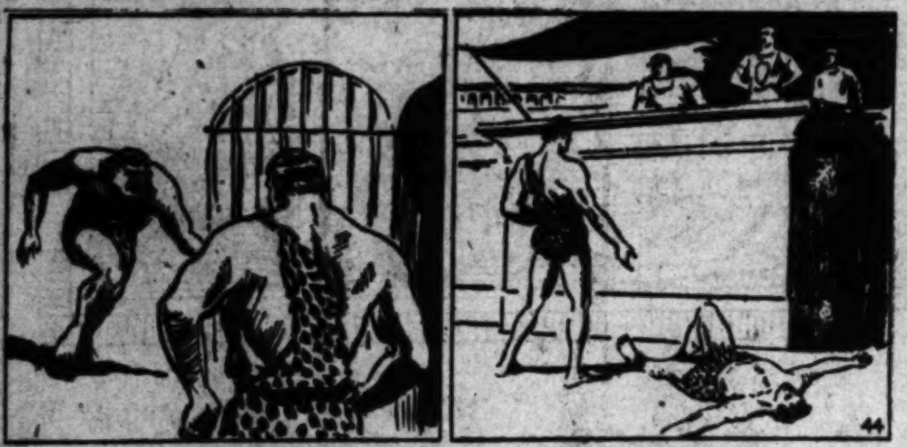
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



"Habet! Habet!" cried the crowd and thousands of closed fists were outstretched with the thumbs pointing downward. Tarzan ignored them and waited for his opponent to recover. The bewildered brute rose with a growl of rage and charged again, only to have the terrible reverse headlock hold clamped once more upon his neck.

As the murderer lay unconscious upon the sand, the crowd cried for his death. The ape-man looked up into Caesar's loge. "Is this not enough?" he demanded. "While that man remains alive in the arena, you are not victor," the master of the games announced. "Good!" said Tarzan. "The rules of the contest shall be fulfilled."

He stooped and seized the unconscious form of his antagonist and raised it above his head. "Thus I carried your emperor from his throne-room to the avenue," he shouted to the audience. Screams of delight came from the crowd, while Caesar went white with rage. He half rose from his seat, but what he contemplated was never fulfilled.

Tarzan swung the body of the murderer up and down like a pendulum and then upward with a mighty surge, hurling it full into the loge of Sublatus, where it struck Caesar, knocking him to the floor. "I am alive and alone in the arena," shouted Tarzan, "and by the terms of the contest, as just announced, I am victor!"

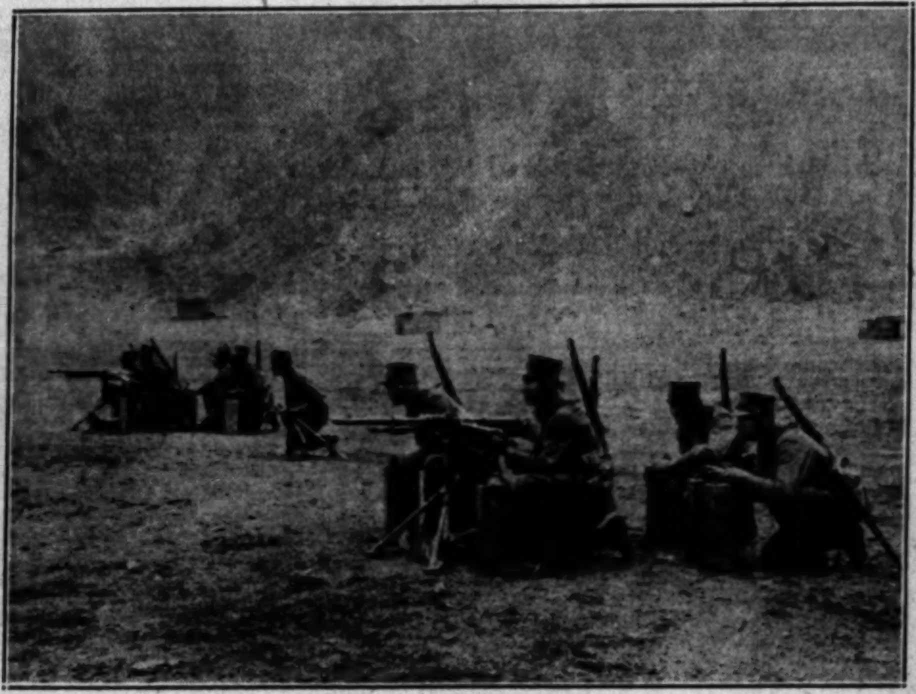
Peruvian Government Undergoes Housecleaning Under Cerro Regime



Complete Reorganization of the Peruvian Government is Under Way with the Accession to Power of Lieut.-Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, whose revolt against the former President Augusto B. Leguia has met with success on every hand. Cerro, shown above at left, has ordered the arrest of most of the officials of the Leguia machine and has recalled a dozen or more of the present Peruvian representatives in other countries. Photo at right shows machine gunners of the garrison at Arequipa, where the revolt had its inception. (P. & A. photos.)

FINANCIAL

STOCK ROSTER SHOWS GROWTH

Los Angeles Exchange List Reaches New Peak

Dividend Payments for Year Gain 13 Per Cent

Oil Shares Continue to Top Trading Activity

Despite the many stock issues removed from the Los Angeles Stock Exchange during 1929 and 1928, new and additional listings during the month just closed brought the total number of shares listed on the board to a new high record for all time, F. E. Sanford, secretary and manager, announced yesterday.

Many issues were removed last year due to the raising of minimum par values to meet the exchange requirements under its policy of elevating the standard of its listings. In 1928 the list was sharply depleted when on the formation of the curb exchange all mines and "unlisted" securities were removed to the junior market. There are listed today 131,901,194 shares.

DIVIDENDS GREATER

Total dividends paid during the period just closed were $9,741,847, the lowest dividend month of the current year. However, total cash disbursements for the year to date amount to $144,839,019, an increase of 13 per cent over the $127,863,160 paid during 1929 to date, and 34 per cent higher than the $107,845,902 cash payments for the similar period in 1928.

The volume of transactions over the exchange during the past month was the lowest this year with 411,097 shares of $12,207,237 market value crossing the board. The most active issues of the month was Transamerica Corporation with a turnover of 179,500 shares. After establishing a new low of 18 3-4, this issue rallied during the last trading day of the month to 23 3-8 and closed at 23 1-4 for a net gain of 1 point.

OILS DOMINATE

The most active group during the month, the oil stocks, registered losses ranging from 3-4 of a point to 3 points while the few gains in this section were confined to fractions. Rio Grande Oil common, with a 21,000-share turnover, closed at 15 5-8, a drop of 1 3-4 points. Richfield Oil common finished the month at 15 for a loss of 2 3-8 points. Standard Oil of California dropped 1 3-8 to 60 7-8, while both Union Oil issues registered fractional gains. Union Oil of California closed at 40 3-4, near the high level of the month, for a gain of 1-4 of a point, and Union Oil Associates followed with a 1-8 of a point gain to 40¾, the high for the period.

Investment Trust Favorites Shown

Of the twenty-five common stocks found in greatest quantity in the portfolios of the nation's 100 leading investment trusts, nineteen, or 76 per cent, are included in the thirty-stock portfolio of Super-Corporations of America Trust Shares, according to an S. W. Straus & Co. analysis of Keane's recently issued "Manual of Investment Trusts."

The thirty-three stocks most favored by investment trusts are Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Electric Bond and Share, Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central, General Electric, United Gas Improvement, Union Pacific, United States Steel, Atchison, Westinghouse, International Harvester, Texas Corporation, International Telephone and Telegraph, Columbia Gas and Electric, American Smelting and Refining, Public Service of New Jersey, Sears, Roebuck, Standard Oil of California, American Tobacco B, Pacific Gas and Electric, Southern California Edison, American Can, American Power and Light, North American Corporation, United Corporation, Woolworth, Southern Railway, General Motors, Du Pont, Kennecott Copper.

Stock Exchange Trading Spurts

Volume of trading on the California Stock Exchange for the week ended August 29 continued to show an increase over the previous and recent weeks, according to a statement issued yesterday by the exchange. Trading for the week amounted to 19,903 shares of $190,789 market value, against 20,705 shares valued at $175,503 for the preceding week.

August trading aggregated 69,069 shares, having a market valuation of $621,686. This compares with 79,587 shares, valued at $1,101,365 for the month of July, and represents a decrease which is directly traceable to the seasonal dullness and the vacation period, it was stated.

OIL MERGER TO CREATE NEW GIANT

Total Assets Involved in Phillips-Independent Deal $316,000,000

Consolidation of the Phillips Petroleum Company with the Independent Oil and Gas Company, which has been approved by executive committees of both and which is subject to action by Phillips directors and directors and stockholders of Independent Oil and Gas, will result in an organization having assets of $316,000,000, Frank Phillips, president, announced yesterday in a statement elaborating the set-up of the merger as reported last Saturday.

The consolidation will have approximately 2,600,000 acres under lease in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Colorado, Michigan, California, Louisiana and Kentucky, with a combined potential net oil production of 125,000 barrels a day, coming from 3688 wells. It will have fifty-four natural-gasoline plants with a daily output of approximately 1,000,000 gallons of grade AA natural gasoline, with facilities for converting such portion of this grade into other grades as market demands may require.

The combined companies will have 1600 bulk and service stations, with approximately 10,000 resellers and three refineries.

The combined paid-up capital and earned surplus of the two companies, as of July 31, were $165,768,009.56, of which Phillips represents $126,145,173.34, and Independent Oil and Gas $39,622,836.22. Earned surplus of Phillips Petroleum on the same date was $36,777,028.04, and for Independent Oil and Gas, $9,110,342.03. Net cash and current assets of both companies are more than $40,000,000.

Share Value of International Superpower Up

International Superpower Corporation reported yesterday a liquidation value of $46 a share as of July 31, last, an appreciation of $4.70 a share, or 11.5 per cent over the same date a year ago. At the end of June this year the portfolio showed an average gain of $2.76 a share or 6.8 per cent above the close of 1929, whereas, the management points out, the average management type investment trust showed a decrease of approximately 3 per cent during the first half this year.

The report also draws attention to the fact that at current prices International Superpower is selling on the New York Curb Exchange approximately 20 per cent below liquidating value and yielding 7 per cent.

Principal holdings in corporations serving the West include 500 shares of Santa Fe, 2000 Pacific Gas and Electric, 4000 Pacific Lighting, 1050 Pacific Public Service A, and 2500 Southern California Edison. Among the heaviest investments at the end of June were: 30,000 shares of United Corporation, 10,000 Pennroad, 17,000 Commonwealth and Southern, 7000 Consolidated Gas of New York, 8530 Electric Bond and Share, 8000 Niagara Hudson Power, 6000 National Power and Light, 5000 Pennsylvania Railroad, 8000 United Gas Improvement, and 8000 United Light and Power A stock.

OYSTER SEASON OPENS

September marks the opening of the oyster season, giving employment to 15,000 men, according to an announcement yesterday by General Foods Corporation, one of the largest producers of oysters. Approximately half of the oyster fishermen have been unemployed during the summer.

OIL BUSINESS SHOWS HAND

Producers Face Critical Necessity of Severe Cut in State's Output; Now Running at Loss

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Lately the oil companies in California have elected to lay the cards on the table. Too much oil, too much gasoline, discouraging operating results and complaining stockholders have combined into a train of circumstances impelling the industry to show its hand.

In a series of conferences starting today, the industry will attempt through the committee on State-wide curtailment to agree on the most severe remedial measure it has considered. This committee will present data to back up its story and will ask the wholehearted support of the oil companies, their stockholders and the general public.

SURVEY MADE

Data prepared under the direction of the general committee are expected to show the urgent necessity of immediately driving down the State's allowable daily production by approximately 45,000 barrels. Under the present curtailment program the State is allowed 596,000 barrels daily.

Sponsors of this movement, headed by Paul N. Boggs, Union Oil vice-president and chairman of the general committee, frankly state its success is necessary if the oil companies are to operate at a profit in the next twelve months. They admit oil companies are running at a loss under present conditions and they promise no improvement unless rigid measures are adopted.

When the allowable production of 596,000 barrels was established, the curtailment committee anticipated the normal increase in the consumption of gasoline this year. But gasoline sales have declined instead of increased, and now the industry faces the problem of cutting back crude oil output to balance with the lower rate of gasoline consumption.

ACCORD EXPECTED

Tentative discussions within the industry have led the curtailment committee to believe the oil producers will accept the sharp reduction in allowable production, probably to about 545,000 barrels daily. The committee furthermore believes this program, if successfully followed, will place the California oil business on a firm foundation of prosperity.

No advance is anticipated in crude oil prices. But as soon as the output of oil is adjusted to the demand for gasoline, it is probable that higher prices for the finished product will reflect the economic balance. Producers believe the present price structure for crude oil is sound, but they contend the subnormal level of gasoline prices eliminates a fair profit for refining and selling the commodity.

With gasoline prices adjusted to a fair basis, the oil companies expect to again report profits to stockholders. When this objective is obtained, the industry also expects to take its normal place in contributing its share to the prosperity of the State. As the largest industry on the Pacific Coast, the prosperity of the oil business is necessary, as the sponsors of curtailment point out, to the prosperity of other principal lines of economic activity.

RELATION TRACED

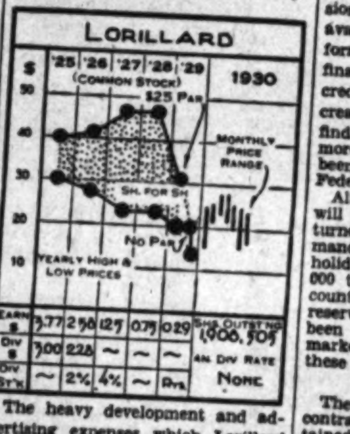
Figures compiled by the general committee plainly illustrate the relationship between a profitable oil business and the prosperity of other industries. Petroleum products on the Pacific Coast have an annual value of $750,000,000, largest of the principal industries. Oil companies employ 20.8 per cent of the wage earners employed in the principal lines, and the total annual pay roll is 28.8 per cent of the total.

Curtailment of the purchasing power flowing from the oil business quickly shows up in decreased sales for other business enterprises depending directly and indirectly on a healthy condition in petroleum.

AMERICAN NATURAL GAS PROFITS GAIN

Consolidated income account of American Natural Gas Corporation, a subsidiary of Tri-Utilities Corporation, issued yesterday, shows that gross revenues, including other income, for the year ended June 30, last, amounted to $11,267,187, as compared with $10,807,394 for the preceding twelve months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes totaled $6,369,132, as against $6,335,256. Gross corporate income before interest, depreciation, depletion, etc., was $4,898,055, which compares with $4,472,138 for the twelve months ended June 30, 1929.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



The heavy development and advertising expenses which Lorillard has undergone in the past four years to introduce Old Golds in the face of the intensive competition of three other large tobacco companies is expected to be rewarded in 1930 with a substantially better earnings showing than in the past few years. Besides Old Golds ranking fourth among the popular priced brands, other well-known products of the company are Rocky Ford cigars, Murads, Beechnut tobacco, Between the Acts little cigars and other lines of tobacco products. Twelve plants are operated in the eastern section of the country, including the two large cigarette factories, one in Louisville, Ky., and the other in Jersey City, N. J., each of which has a capacity of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 cigarettes daily.

While earnings have declined in each of the past five years, it is reported that sales of Old Golds so far this year are well ahead of last year and that profit margins have also been increased by higher wholesale prices, a combination of factors that should favorably affect the 1930 earnings showing. Auxiliary products are also showing good sales increases over 1929.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt, $35,012,200. Seven per cent cumulative preferred ($100 par,) $11,307,600. Common stock (no par,) 1,900,505 shares.

CURRENT DATA

Current production of the company's 5-cent cigar, Rocky Ford, is running at about 3,000,000 weekly.

Basis of Trust Holdings Solid

Total assets of the twenty-eight companies, the common shares of which underlie North American Trust Shares, average more than $850,000,000 each, according to a survey made by Distributors Group, Inc., sponsors for and national distributors of this trust, reputed to be the largest of the fixed type. These companies are:

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, Canadian Pacific Railway, Illinois Central Railroad, Louisville and Nashville, the New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Royal Dutch Company (New York shares,) Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil (New Jersey,) Standard Oil of New York, Texas Corporation, American Radiator and Standard Sanitary, American Tobacco, Du Pont (E. Lumber Output Cut at Seattle

SEATTLE, Sept. 1.—Continuing on the low production schedule they have followed since late in May, a group of 350 mills reporting to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending August 23, operated at 46.77 per cent of capacity. This figure compares with 47.21 per cent of capacity for the preceding week, and with an average of 63 per cent of capacity from January 1 to June 1.

These 350 mills have reduced output during the past thirteen weeks by 582,296,000 feet, which represents more than four weeks' production for practically the entire lumber industry of Washington, Oregon and British Columbia at present operating schedules.

Orders received by a group of 228 mills, for which the association has a weekly record, exceeded the output for the week ending August 23 by 7.97 per cent.

YEAR'S NEW FINANCING SHOWS SMALL DECLINE

New public financing in the United States during the first eight months to August 31, excluding domestic and Canadian municipals, aggregated $4,119,144,000, according to preliminary compilations announced yesterday by Otto P. Schwarzschild, editor of American Underwriting Houses and Their Issues, and manager of National Statistical Service, New York City. This total compares with $4,496,847,000 for the same period of 1929.

The review includes stock issues as well as bonds and notes. Preferred stocks of a set par were considered at par, while all no-par stocks were calculated at public offering prices. The record was compiled from advertisements of syndicate offerings, and the head of the syndicate was assumed to be the firm appearing in the leading position in the advertisement.

The compilation reveals that J. P. Morgan & Co. led the list of investment houses during the first eight months by heading syndicates amounting to $660,778,000. Harris, Forbes & Co. with $335,259,000 ranked second and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. third with $259,325,000.

An analysis of the financing during the first eight months reveals that of the total new offerings of $4,119,144,000, bond and note issues aggregated $3,607,139,000, or over 87 per cent of the total, while stock issues amounted to only $512,005,000. Domestic public-utility financing totaled $1,414,971,000, accounting for more than one-third of total offerings. Domestic railroad issues ranked second with $633,356,000. Canadian corporate and other foreign issues aggregated $829,141,000, while new financing for financial and investment companies totaled $232,670,000, of which over two-thirds comprised bond and note offerings.

The following table shows the activities of investment houses heading syndicates aggregating $60,000,000 and upward during the first eight months of 1930:

EASIER CREDIT MAY CONTINUE

Bankers Sight Ample Funds for Fall Business

Low Rates Expected to Hold in Seasonal Upturn

Reserve System Status Best Since Formation

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) Business in the United States will be able to finance its seasonal expansion this fall at the lowest rates available in years, according to informed bankers. The advent of the final quarter, when demands for credit and currency normally increase and money rates advance finds the money market this year more completely relaxed than it has been since the formation of the Federal Reserve system.

Although the current month-end will have required a substantial turnover of funds, and currency demands to meet expenses over the holiday, estimated at from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 for the entire country, which will draw down bank reserves heavily, there has as yet been no indication that the money market will be greatly affected by these events.

PERIODS COMPARED

The present situation is in sharp contrast to conditions which obtained at this time last year, or even in 1921, a period which has been frequently compared with the present. Last year the month of August brought an advance in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to 6 per cent, compared with the present rate of 2½ per cent, the lowest in the history of the bank. During the last week of August, 1929, call money mounted to 9 per cent, stock exchange ninety-day loans went at 9 per cent, commercial paper was 6 1-4 per cent, and bankers' bills 5 1-8 per cent.

The nearest comparable period in the past was that of the year 1924. Even then, however, the approach of the fall credit demands made itself felt well in advance of the final quarter. Call money and bankers' bills rates began to harden in July and did not again drop to levels as low as those now ruling.

EASE EXPLAINED

The explanation of the current ease in money conditions and still more of the confident expectation on the part of money market authorities that easy money will continue is to be found largely in the attitude of the Federal Reserve. The central banking authorities have amply displayed their readiness to "pump" credit into the market whenever the opportunity appeared. Their chief difficulty in recent months has been the unwillingness of the money market to retain this credit. It has been found that expansion of the reserve banks' portfolio simply resulted in a retirement of member-bank indebtedness or of currency so that in the end, total outstanding Federal Reserve credit was left no higher than before.

With the seasonal pick-up in the demand for credit, however, it is to be expected that the market will absorb future releases of central bank credit. There is little doubt among informed bankers but that the bank of issue is prepared to pursue the easy-money policy adopted after the stock-market break of last year and since continued until such time as there are definite signs of the recovery of business.

During the coming months it is thought this easy-money policy will find its expression through the bill market. The bank of issue has maintained a buying rate for bankers' bills of 1 7-8 per cent for all maturities up to seventy-five days for nearly two months. But despite the attractiveness of the rate offerings of bills to the bank have been comparatively light.

Distribution of World Crop Held Problem

Proper distribution of this year's short crops has replaced the problem of anticipated agricultural surpluses in the world's return to prosperity, according to Ray Vance, chairman of the executive committee of the Yosemite Holding Corporation, who has just returned from an extensive tour of Europe.

"While crops will be bad on both continents, such a condition is not without its bright side," Mr. Vance stated. "Already unused bank deposits with resulting low-money rates prove that a large part of world decline in business is due to fear rather than to lack of purchasing power. Leaving the crop failure out of consideration, improvement should be just ahead of us.

"This improvement may be postponed by short crops but for the same reason it will be better founded when it comes. Just a few weeks ago agricultural surpluses were the world's most pressing economic problem and they threatened to be a drag on the next prosperity; today, the only problem is to distribute them to users who need them badly. This way of curing the situation is like a surgical operation. It makes the patient even sicker for a time but the cure is more likely to be basic and lasting."

GREENE TELLS TRADE DRIFT

Editor of "Nation's Business" Says July Situation Worst of Year with Slow Upturn in August

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (Exclusive)—The expression so frequently heard that things are "scraping on the bottom" was certainly truer of the business situation in July than in any month preceding, says Frank Greene in his monthly review in Nation's Business, published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"Trade and industry," he observes, "were at a low ebb in July. The weather was against trade and crops although good enough for vacation activities. Many industries, particularly those which had had an unsatisfactory half-year's business, took advantage of the opportunity to suspend operations for from one to three weeks or more. Retail buyers took some interest in reduction sales in summer wear with the result that this was about the most active of all branches. Wholesale trade slackened and did a hand-to-mouth business in small replacements. Altogether, the month's operations were probably the lightest both in volume and value that have been witnessed for years past," and he continues:

UPTURN BEGINGS

"With the advent of August a conspicuous gain in industry was scored in the case of automobile production, which was resumed on a four to five-day basis by perhaps 200,000 men if not more. This resumption in turn speeded up demand for automotive products and accessories of various kinds besides helping iron and steel production.

"Out of the mass of heat-and-drought damage reports in July there came, as is not unusual, some seeming offsets in the matter of price movements which seemed to reaffirm the truth of the old proverb that what is one man's meat is another man's poison. After reaching new low levels in late July, the lowest since 1914, in fact, wheat turned sharply upward, but before this had happened, on July 29, corn, usually playing second fiddle to wheat in the matter of prices, passed the so-called premier cereal, gaining 21 cents a bushel from July 8 to August 5.

"The suggestion of crop damage as a source of business revival undoubtedly has its economic shortcomings, especially at a time of widespread depression and unemployment in industry, but it may be submitted that this country has often before displayed independence of ordinary economic rules, this not so long ago by the way, and as the saying is 'gotten away with it' for a time at least.

GAINS RARE

"In checking up the results by what few returns for July are available at the time of writing and those for June and the half-year which are now fairly complete, one is struck by the paucity of increases shown. Failures for July showed an increase in number of 22.9 per cent and for the seven months were 19.3 per cent larger. Liabilities on the

Industrial and Rail Earnings Show Decline

Combined net income of 516 industrial, railroad and utility corporations so far reporting for the first half of the current year is 27 per cent under the earnings of the same group for the first half of 1929, according to a compilation of Standard Statistics Company issued yesterday.

The rail division shows a larger percentage loss than the industrial, thirty-three companies reporting a decrease of 35.5 per cent, while 461 units in the industrial group report a decrease of 30 per cent. The utilities show a small gain.

Detailed figures of earnings in the first half this year of the various divisions showing the percentage change from the same period a year ago follow:

CALIFORNIA-OREGON POWER TO BUILD UNIT

Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation announced yesterday that the California-Oregon Power Company has been authorized by the Federal Power Commission to construct a hydro-electric project on the Klamath River in Oregon. Construction work on the first unit of approximately 50,000 horsepower will be started as soon as other necessary arrangements can be made.

TRADE QUIET ON METAL MARKET

Copper Price Unsettled at Around 11 Cents

Zinc Situation Weak in Face of Output Drop

Lead Improves with Closing of Mexico Mines

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor the Mining Journal, Phoenix

Continued dull metal markets have prevailed with no change in prices, copper remaining at 11 f.o.b. Connecticut Valley, with occasional offeroings at 10 3-4; lead stable at 5.50 f.o.b. New York, and zinc at 4.30 f.o.b St. Louis. All metal consumers are so well bought ahead that there is little interest in the present market.

Certain zinc producers are trying very hard to keep the price of the metal up in the face of an adverse statistical situation. Distress zinc is being bought to keep it off the market, and some sellers are remaining out of the market at current levels. Producers are reluctant about selling for future delivery at present prices.

The drop in world production of zinc in July was the first favorable statistical indication of better conditions. The world production, excluding Netherlands and Poland, who do not report, was 92,771 tons, as against 96,303 tons in June and 98,360 tons in May. United States production was 40,038 tons, as against 43,473 tons in June; Germany, 9413, as against 9668; Canada, 8978, as against 9204, and France, 8096, as against 8154.

MEXICO MINES DOWN

A factor that is improving the lead situation is the closing down of certain Mexico mines on account of the low silver price. There have been a number of properties with lead-silver values which could profitably operate at current lead prices if silver were normal, but the abnormally low price of silver is making it inadvisable to further deplete their resources.

Lead stocks now total about one month's supply. Stocks at American refineries on August 1 are reported at 62,880 tons, which show an increase of about 7400 tons over July 1, and of about 20,800 tons over May 1, when reserves were the smallest so far reported this year. Shipments in July at 48,825 tons were approximately 1000 tons smaller than in June, but the extent of the recent falling off in domestic consumption is best seen when the figures are compared with 62,500 tons in January, 65,000 tons in February and 65,700 tons in March.

FREQUENT PRICE BREAKS

The copper price breaks below 11 cents are for limited quantities, although about 3000 tons weekly are finding their way into the buyers' hands on such concessions. While the quantity is not large, it is enough to cause buyers to wait, particularly foreign buyers, who are eagerly watching the market to see if the domestic consumer can force the price down again.

While some financial publications call the present situation in copper a deadlock between consumers and producers, it can hardly be considered as such. The reason why the consumers are not buying is that they have already bought so much that they do not need any more now and probably will not need more for a couple of months. It is not to be expected that there will be a good domestic demand until November and December, although the foreign demand should maintain evenly because they have not been able to stock up. The wavering price slows up the foreign demand.

The nearest thing to a deadlock is that the producers continue to ask 11 cents, while bidders are seeking a 10 3-4-cent price. While the buyers say that they are not anxious to buy, they admit that metal offered at liberal concession might interest them. The indefinite factor is, what constitutes an attractive concession?

CONSUMPTION SMALL

The actual copper consumption in Europe is small, probably about 60 per cent of last year's figures. Germany's copper imports the first six months of this year were only 71,814 tons, against 108,839 tons a year ago. French imports for the five months ended May were 59,481 tons, against 66,203 tons, and British 66,996 tons, against 79,311 the first half of last year. The imports of nearly all other countries have decreased proportionately.

United States mines are taking almost the whole of the cut in copper production. Total world production of copper in July amounted to 143,605 tons, as compared with 145,797 tons in June. Production was at the daily rate of 4633 tons, which is the lowest daily average since January, 1928, when the rate was 4631 tons a day. United States production in July was 67,638 tons, against 69,638 tons in June, while Chile and Peru produced 23,328 tons, against 23,043 tons in June. Production in Canada in July totaled 11,820 tons, against 11,005 tons in June, 8782 tons in May and 7580 tons in April.

WATER SUBSIDIARY EARNINGS INCREASE

Pittsburgh - Suburban Water Service Company, a subsidiary of Federal Water Service Corporation, reports gross revenues of $332,834 for the year ended July 31, last, as compared with $311,522 for the preceding twelve months. Gross income amounted to $187,820, which compares with $176,548 for the year ended July 31, 1929.

Massachusetts Investors Trust

A Retirement Income in 15 Years

To accumulate an income-yielding estate for retirement, a sound investment program is necessary, plus regular investments at stated periods.

We have prepared several definite plans for investment in Massachusetts Investors Trust described in a folder "FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE THROUGH SYSTEMATIC INVESTMENT OF SAVINGS". They provide triple growth of capital, through your savings, plus reinvestment of dividends, plus appreciation of holdings. They offer complete security through wide diversification and experienced management.

MASSACHUSETTS INVESTORS TRUST

$1,000 invested today should grow to $8,000 in 15 years—$5,000 should grow to $40,000—or monthly investments of $50 or $100 should create an equally substantial retirement fund over the same period.

Send the coupon below for folder F-209, explaining these plans.

other hand were 31 per cent less for July, but 36.9 per cent larger for seven months. This variation is explained by fewer bank failures for the month, but more bank and other large suspensions for the year to date. On the favorable side in July, were the 20.9 per cent increase in municipal, State and other public bond sales, designed to provide capital for improvements intended to give work to unemployed. For seven months a gain of 9.2 per cent is shown.

In industry, iron ore shipments dropped 19.5 and 26.1 per cent, pig iron production declined 30.2 per cent and 17.7 per cent and steel ingot output declined 39.5 and 21.1 per cent, respectively, from July and seven months of last year. Silk consumption in July decreased 22.6 per cent and for the seven months fell 12.5 per cent, but gained 35.9 per cent over June. Car loadings declined 14.5 and 10.1 per cent for July and the seven months.

EXPORTS DROP

For June exports of merchandise fell off 23.9 per cent and imports 29.1 per cent, while for six months the decreases were 20.7 and 24.1 per cent from a year ago.

Building in 170 cities showed a decrease of 34 per cent from July a year ago, but a gain of 5.9 per cent over June. The point to this is that New York City gained 50 per cent over June, while decreasing 5 per cent from July last year. For seven months the permits for building decreased 48.3 per cent from the like period of last year.

Cement production for June gained 2.5 per cent and for the half year increased 1.1 per cent, while cement shipments decreased fractions of 1 per cent for both periods. Cotton consumption decreased 28.8 and 20.5 per cent, cotton cloth production 30.5 and 14.1 per cent and cotton cloth sales 43 and 21 per cent for June and the half-year from the like periods a year ago. Bituminous coal production declined 12.7 and 10 per cent, respectively, and anthracite production 2.6 and 8.2 per cent, respectively, from June and the half-year of 1929.

AUTO OUTPUT OFF

Automobile production for July fell 21.4 and for seven months 33.7 per cent from a year ago. Coincidentally rubber consumption in June and the half-year declined 20.2 and 19.3 per cent, respectively, from last year. On the other hand, gasoline production gained 5.4 and 7 per cent and gasoline consumption 8.2 and 9.1 per cent over June and the six months of a year ago.

Cigarette output gained 8.5 and 1.7 per cent, while confectionery sales fell off 3 and 4.5 per cent, respectively from June and the half-year of 1929. Cigar and manufactured tobacco production decreased 6.6 and 3.4 per cent for June and 7.3 and 1.5 per cent for the six months. Wool consumption dropped 25.6 and 24.2 per cent from June and the six months of last year.

UTILITIES GAIN

For May and five months public utility earnings gross and net, gained over a year ago, whereas gross railway earnings and net operating income dropped 14 and 33 per cent, respectively for May and 11.3 and 32.8 per cent for the five months from a year ago. Tire production and shipments decreased 25.3 and 22.7 per cent for May and 27.7 and 23.9 per cent for five months from like periods of last year.

Among the really small decreases of the periods under review, the production of electricity is notable with a decrease of only 1-5 of 1 per cent for June with 1.7 per cent gain for the six months.

The small size of the June increase when compared with those of industry as a whole is possible to be taken as a sign of domestic use being maintained in the face of reduced industrial consumption.

SURVEY ISSUED BY LAND BANKS

were still subject to redemption, would be $6900. This in a bank whose loans aggregated $1,194,000.

"These figures, as small as they are, do not represent losses. For example, the real estate that stands on the books of such a bank at $11,500 net after deducting special reserves, possessed an original appraised value of not less than $39,000 and the banks have been selling farm lands in increasing volume in the past two years.

"Thus farm lands owned outright by the banks stood on their books as of June 30, 1930, at an amount after the deduction of reserves, which constituted only nine-tenths of 1 per cent of the total assets of the banks, and the total amount of Sheriff's certificates, judgments, etc., (representing lands still redeemable by owners) represented only one-half of 1 per cent of the banks total assets."

GALLAND LAUNDRY EARNINGS HIGHER

Net earnings of Galland Mercantile Laundry Company for six months ended June 30, last, amounted to $60,022 after all charges, equal to $2.40 a share on the outstanding capital stock against $53,816 or $2.15 a share for the same period last year, E. R. Galland, president, announced yesterday.

BY PORTER FLINT

Daily production of oil in the Elwood field increased over the week-end due to the completion of the Pacific Western Oil Company's Tideland Permit No. 92-7 on a pier that extends 1600 feet from shore.

Pacific Western's latest project came in at the rate of 4500 barrels of 37-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth below 3400 feet and is flowing into the tanks. It is the company's fifth successful producer on the same permit and is offset on the northwest by Caroline Spaulding's producers and on the southeast by projects brought in by the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination.

Completion of Pacific Western's Tideland Permit No. 92-7 will increase that field's potential to more than 106,000 barrels daily. At the last meeting of the fact-finding committee, Elwood's actual potential was estimated at 104,155 barrels daily, with an effective potential of 80,373 barrels daily. To keep within the bounds of the field's allowable daily production, operators there have agreed to absorb any overproduction to aid the State-wide oil-curtailment program.

Near Completion

With landing of seven-inch oil string to bottom at 8323 feet, the Superior Oil Company's Huffman No. 1 on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills field will probably be placed on production today or tomorrow. This project is two miles northwest of the Associated Oil Company's Whepley No. 1, most recent completion, and if it comes in as a substantial producer will extend the field and bring about greater activity by companies holding acreage there.

Rigging Up

The General Petroleum Corporation is rigging up Berry No. 1 on Sec. 30, 28-21, in the south Belridge district and will be ready to spud in within a few days for a deep test. Interest in this project is because of the unusual amount of excellent oil sand penetrated in the Belridge Oil Company's No. 15 six miles due north in the north Belridge district. More than 300 feet of oil sand has been cored in Belridge's undertaking and indications are that a production test will soon be made with bottom of the hole below 5400 feet.

Shallow production has been proven on both the south and north Belridge district by the Belridge Oil Company. The company's No. 15 has produced high gravity oil from a depth of 5086 feet. General's Berry No. 1 is the first deep test in the south district of that area and its outcome will be watched with interest.

The Richfield Oil Company's No. 1 also in the north Belridge district, is making progress with the drill below 4450 feet but is not deep enough to encounter the deeper sand formed in Belridge's test. The Continental and Union oil companies have offsetting acreage and both obtained shallow production. Until deep production is obtained the larger operators will withhold similar extensive tests, it is asserted.

George F. Getty's Lincoln Drilling-Getty No 1 at Lost Hills is another wildcat test being watched by operators. Little information is obtainable at present. This project is drilling below 1900 feet and field reports state it has encountered a few scattered showings of oil sand. It will be a deep test and is located on holdings formerly belonging to the Lincoln Drilling Company and who entered into a drilling agreement with Getty.

To Deepen

Instead of testing upper showings the Barnsdall-Cypress combination in the Venice field is deepening Burks No. 13 at the extreme southeasterly end of the Burks lease and will continue to at least 6000 feet before making a production test. This project is drilling below 3700 feet and encountered considerable oil showings.

Decision to deepen Burks No. 13 is based on the producers completed by George F. Getty, Inc., Mohawk Petroleum, the Superior and Union Oil companies in that district. The operator's Burks No. 13-A, however, which is making progress below 750 feet, will try out the upper sand if it is sufficient to justify a production test.

Heavier Equipment

Heavy duty equipment is being installed on Forster's Okay No. 2 on Sec. 13, 8-8 at Capistrano to prevent possibility of a gas blowout, according to company officials. Operations will be halted a short time to enable installation of the necessary equipment. Bottom of the hole is at 4340 feet and is in the Vaqueros formation, according to field reports.

Drilling Ahead

Rapid progress is being made by the Continental Oil Company in Elliott No. 2-16 on Sec. 2, 21-17 on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills field. It is drilling below 2470 feet and offsets producers completed on the adjoining section due north by Standard and Petroleum Securities.

The Associated Oil Company's Watson No. 1 on Sec. 34, 22-18 on the north dome recently suspended drilling in oil sand with bottom of the hole at 7040 feet and will remain shut in until expiration of an agreement on July 31, 1931.

New Test

The Standard Oil Company is building a steel derrick for No. A-33 at Huntington Beach and will start drilling soon. The new project is in the old portion of the field near the discovery well and not far from the Bolsa No. 1. Standard's Irvine No. 1 in upper Newport Bay is drilling below 1910 feet.

Building-Loan to Open Office

The Guaranty Building and Loan Association of San Jose, which has maintained a branch office in Los Angeles for the past year, has just executed a long-term, lease on ground-floor quarters on South Hill street for the establishment of permanent headquarters here for Southern California. The new offices are expected to be fully equipped ready for opening about October 15.

The San Jose association, having been organized in 1919, has been developed rapidly to a position of prominence under management of its officers, Walter M. Sontheimer, president, stated. Resources today total more than $16,000,000, with capital and surplus of $750,000. Branches have been established in San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles and no acquisitions or mergers have been made, according to Mr. Sontheimer.

Appliance Sales Increase Scored

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Operating subsidiaries of Central Public Service Corporation sold customers in their territories merchandise and appliances of a total value of $2,476,442 in the first seven months of 1930, E. L. Callahan, general commercial manager, reported today. These sales, which are net after deduction of all returns and allowances, represent a gain of 9.9 per cent over the total of $2,252,180 in the corresponding period last year.

Importance of these sales activities to producing properties, Mr. Callahan said, is indicated by the fact that more than half of all sales are new installations, materially increasing the demand for gas and electrical service in Central Public Service territory. Sales of gas equipment and appliances showed an increase of 15.9 per cent to $1,642,057.

INVESTMENT TRUST REPORTS EARNINGS

International Equities Corporation reported yesterday for seven months ended July 31 net profits available for dividends on the class "B" stock equivalent to 16.56 per cent of the paid-in amount of such stock. The equity available for the "B" stock on the basis of July 31 quotations was equivalent to 120.16 per cent of the paid-in amount of the same stock. There are 20,000 shares of "B" stock paid up to the extent of $12.50 a share.

SECURITIES UNIT TO OPEN BRANCH OFFICE

The Los Angeles Investment Securities Company, member of the Los Angeles Stock and Curb exchanges, will open its Pasadena offices today in a new location on the mezzanine floor of the First Trust and Savings Bank Building. T. Fenton Knight is manager of the brokerage department of the Pasadena branch, and Charles L. Corbett heads the bond department.

DIVIDENDS

Dividends payable today, according to the Standard Statistics Company compilation, follow:

Florence Stove Company quarterly of 50 cents.

Swan Finch Oil Corporation, quarterly of 43¾ cents.

Union Mills, Inc., quarterly of 50 cents.

FEDERAL WATER UNIT EARNINGS SHOW GAIN

Oregon-Washington Water Service Company, a subsidiary of Federal Water Service Corporation, reports gross revenues of $596,060 for the year ended July 31, last, as compared with $600,272 for the preceding twelve months. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, other than Federal income tax, totaled $314,446, as against $333,946. Gross income amounted to $281,614, which compares with $266,326 for the year ended July 31, 1929.

THE BANK of AMERICA of CALIFORNIA has assumed this 50-year lease which assures investors a 6.12% income

FOR THE retired man or woman who desires a dependable 6.12% income...year in and year out ..backed by a direct operating charge of one of the largest and strongest banks in the West, we suggest Merchants National Realty Corporation 6% Cumulative Preferred Stock.

The company has leased the banking premises in its properties, which include the height-limit Bank of America Building at Seventh and Spring Streets, Los Angeles, to The Merchants National Trust and Savings Bank, now The Bank of America of California...for a period of 50 years from June 1, 1927. The terms of this lease provide that the Bank must pay an annual rental, which, combined with other income from the properties, must at all times be sufficient to meet all operating expenses, taxes and insurance, as well as interest and sinking fund requirements of this issue.

This lease constitutes a direct operating charge of the Bank and ranks ahead of dividends on the Bank's capital stock, which are being paid at the rate of 20% annually. A sinking fund now in operation will retire all of this stock within the next 24 years. We offer:

MERCHANTS NATIONAL REALTY CORPORATION

PLAN

Hollywood Business Properties, Ltd. is a realty holding corporation owning, controlling under 99-year leases, improving and operating centrally located business and income property in the heart of the Hollywood area.

HOLDINGS

The company owns, controls or is interested in more than a mile of street frontage which constitutes some of the choicest "key" properties to be found in the central business district of Hollywood. Seven of these properties are corners on Hollywood Blvd., including the Taft Bldg. at Hollywood Blvd. and Vine Street—the very heart of Hollywood development.

HOLLYWOOD

According to recent statistics, Hollywood is growing more rapidly and substantially in building construction and increase in property values, than any other community of similar size in the world.

Indicating the enormous profit producing power of Hollywood realty, a survey by a leading title company shows that 328 business corners in Hollywood have increased 2147% during the last ten years, or 214.7% annually.

Hollywood Business Properties, Ltd. offers securities to the public backed by such properties.

DIVIDEND RECORD

The company has a most impressive dividend record. Starting business in January, 1928, it has paid stockholders as follows:

PREFERRED STOCK—January, 1929 (at close of first year's operation) 7%. July, 1929, 3½% for the six months' period. January, 1930, 3½%; July, 1930, 3½%. COMMON STOCK—July, 1929, $1.25 per share; January, 1930, $1.25 per share; April, 1930, a 200% stock dividend (two shares for every one owned); July, 1930, $1.25 per share. Current dividends are at the rate of 7% on the preferred stock, payable 3½% semi-annually, and $2.50 per share on the common stock, payable $1.25 semi-annually.

BUY NOW

. . . for present income . . . for appreciation . . . for future profits. We offer this stock in units of two shares of preferred and one share of common at $60.00 per unit, netting 10% at current dividends, and advise its immediate purchase.

TONE OF COTTON SURVEY BULLISH

Central Belt Crop Estimate Sharply Reduced

Total Yield Forecast at 50 Per Cent Normal

Quality of Staple Reported Generally Shorter

MEMPHIS, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—On the strength of first-hand reports of damage to staple, and reduced production, the cotton crop in the States of Arkansas, Mississippi and in Southeast Missouri and parts of North Alabama and West Tennessee may accurately be said to represent only 30 per cent of a normal crop, which is 20 to 25 per cent less than the average production of the past decade or so.

In Southern Arkansas, the production is cut from one-fourth to one-third, a private dispatch from Lake Village, in Chicot county, today being typical:

"Cotton ginning is rapidly progressing with 200 bales handled so far, where the gins in this vicinity handled 9000 bales last year. Only 6000 are expected this year due to small plants, shedding and premature opening."

In Southeast Missouri, the crop is very spotted, the condition ranging from 20 to 85 per cent, with possibly 50 per cent as an average. Cotton made fair to good progress in the northern half of Arkansas and Southeast Missouri the past week where sufficient rainfall occurred, but this did not reach every section. Profuse shedding of squares is reported in both States, where rain has not been felt and the crops continue to deteriorate, having stopped blooming. In most places, it is opening a week to two weeks prematurely and the staple is one to two lengths shorter. The plant is generally fruiting very poorly, too. The army worm continues to cause more apprehension than actual damage.

In Mississippi, the weather since August continues unfavorably dry, except some northeastern and in a few eastern sections. The drought was partly relieved in scattered localities, mostly in the upland sections. The crop as a whole has not made progress in Mississippi since June. The plants are undersized with general complaint of shedding, top blooming and premature opening. Weevils are missing, but traces of army worms are very prevalent. Picking is making good progress in the southern section and will begin generally in the northern half within ten days.

In Alabama cotton weather since the 1st inst. has been a little more favorable, but the crop had suffered so extensively, that it responded with little vigor to rains. Many localities are still badly in need of rain. Similar complaints are made of top blooming, small plants, premature opening and heavy shedding.

The crop deteriorated in Louisiana during August, with much of it through making entirely. Army worms are generally distributed. The cotton is opening rapidly, with picking general. Some complaint is made of premature opening.

In West Tennessee, due to the extremely spotted condition, the outlook for yield is the poorest in years. Army worms are doing some damage in many areas and some red spider is reported. Picking will get under way in two to three weeks.

All through the valley, there is plenty of cheap labor. Nowhere is more than 50 cents per 100 pounds paid for picking and both whites and Negroes are fighting for work at this price.

Twelfth Area Bank Loans Up

Security loans of reporting member banks of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District for the week ended August 27 was reported yesterday at $462,000,000, against $461,000,000 on the same day a week ago, an increase of $1,000,000. The loans a year ago totaled $421,000,000.

Combined principal assets and liabilities of the reporting member banks over the three weeks dealt within the report follow (quoted in millions:)

SENATE BARBER SHOP HASN'T ANY SIGN

There is no mark on or above the door to indicate that this Capitol ground floor room is devoted to beautifying Senatorial heads, whiskers and other upper-story appurtenances. However, the strong odor of bay rum, etc., which exudes into the corridor, does give it away. All the help there is Negro, and most of them are old servitors who have been there for years. "Deacon" Sims is naturally reticent to talk about the things in which your scribe took the most interest, but the latter noted that the shop still retained the old-fashioned mug rack—ninety-six mugs for that many Senators. The government pays for the mugs but the Senators are privileged to take them home as relics when their term of office expires.

The towels are also furnished by the government but, what is more interesting, they are still hand-laundered. The government has its own laundry but colored women yet do these towels by hand, at greater cost than if done as are the towels of other government departments. But, as Rev. Sims argues: "Why shouldn't the Senators have better?"

The barber shop and Sims's spirituals are often a welcome retreat for Senators hard pressed on the floor or pestered by visitors from without. It is a standing joke for Borah's office to give out word that: "Senator Borah is in the barber shop." So few can find it.

Senate barber shop service is free to Senators. This is different from the House barber shop where the fee is 25 cents for a haircut and 10 cents for a shave. The Pathfinder was interested to know whether any of the eight Representatives patronized the latter, but the indignant denial by Mrs. Mary T. Norton at our inquiry dissuaded further inquiry.—[Pathfinder.

TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Today is your birthday. Let me see if I can prove it.

Yesterday is dead, and a dead day cannot be the birthday of a live man.

Tomorrow is unknown, unborn, and surely an anticipated, unknown, unborn twenty-four hours cannot be your birthday.

In other words, today you are born anew, with all of life's new opportunities before you.

So far as mortal life is concerned you died with the dying yesterday. You cannot live tomorrow today, so today is really your birthday. No other day exists.

Let children celebrate their years, but a man should learn to appreciate that each single day is his birthday, for, be it remembered, there is no day but today.

There is another way to look at it: All your responsibilities are of today. All your joys are of today. All that you understand is happening right now.

At midnight you were one day farther from your arrival and one day nearer your destination.

When we look this fact squarely in the face, is it not wise to put forth every effort today, for tomorrow will be one day late.

Here is another slant upon this subject:

If you are around 20, this is your 7000th today. If you are about 60 this is your 20,000th today.

What have you done with all these days?

Today is the only day in all the centuries that have passed, or in all the centuries to come—the only day that you can call your own.

Today! How the word thrills one when we fully appreciate its meaning!—[The Silent Partner.

GOOD PRACTICE

Bernard Baruch, the financier, said at a wedding breakfast in New York:

"The old days when a woman had to ask her husband for every cent—so much for meat, so much for milk, so much to pay the gas bill—those old days, thank goodness, are gone forever. I suppose that today 999 husbands out of every thousand make their wives suitable allowances.

"I once knew a man who didn't believe in allowances for wives. I met him one morning just as he was leaving the house for business. Suddenly the door opened and his wife called:

"'George George!'

"'Well, what's wanted?' he said, pretty sharply, as he halted and looked back.

"'Leave me money for the roast, dear. Don't you remember the roast you ordered?'

"George took out his wallet.

"'Money, money, money!' he growled. 'What a spender you are! When I'm dead I guess you'll have to beg.'

"'Well, I'll be better off at that,' said she, 'than some poor women who never had any practice.'"

Weather Still Mystery to Man

With all his wonderful scientific knowledge man still can't do a thing about the weather, says Capper's Weekly.

All the weather experts can do is to sit back, issue monotonous and discouraging reports and wait until the right meteorological developments occur to make moisture fall from the skies. And they can't do a thing toward bringing about the conditions that make rain.

But we have learned enough to put fake "rainmakers" out of business. Fifty years ago a long-continued drought like the one of this summer would have been made to order for rainmakers. Even as late as 1891 Congress was induced to vote $9000 for experiments in rain-making. Most of the work was done in Texas by Gen. Robert Dryenforth of the Department of Agriculture who set off large quantities of dynamite and exploded hydrogen-filled balloons. A little rain did fall but weather experts declared it would have fallen, anyway.

For some reason the idea that explosions in the skies will produce rain persisted for years. In 1911 the late C. W. Post of breakfast-food fame tried to scare moisture from the sky by a heavy bombing at Battle Creek, Mich. Rain fell soon afterward but it also fell all the way from the Great Lakes to Pacific Coast at the same time. This was the gamble the professional rainmakers counted on—that rain might accidentally fall after their operations enabling them to claim credit for it and collect.

Weather experts have long kown that hot, moist air from the earth forced up into the cool skies causes the moisture to condense and fall to the earth as rain. Away back in 1841 a scheme to accomplish this artificially was patented. The plan called for a giant tube 1500 feet high through which the warm, humid air was to be forced upward with blowers. That is all there was to it. To check a rainy spell all that was necessary was to reverse the blowers and pull the chilled air down to earth. But the invention never got beyond the model stage.

A serious proposal by Australian scientists in 1903 was to install large, open pots of chemicals which would generate hydrogen, gas that would rise and in doing so create an upward whorl. Nothing was heard of it again.

A discovery by the United States War Department a few years ago was thought to have rain-making possibilities. In experiments to dispel fog at sea it was found that an airplane flying through a fog bank and spraying electrified sand liquefied the vapor particles and caused them to fall like drops of rain. Clouds, being vapor too but of greater density than fog, were liquefied in the same way. So with clouds present it was proposed to make rain fall but tests showed this was possible only on a very small scale and of no practical value. Besides, they had to have the clouds handy first.

While the long, droughty spell did not bring back the rain-makers it brought out many fantastic ideas of how to produce rain. One local weather prophet has been insisting the increased use of radio is responsible and has demanded the government shut down all broadcasting stations for six weeks. Another would load balloons with ice and send them up to attract and condense moisture.

Capper's Weekly has been getting letters from a Pennsylvania local weather prophet who was told in a "vision" there would be no rain until September 21, and that this drought was sent as a judgment upon sinful man. But already there have been scattered showers and we don't believe the folks in those parts are without sin any more than in "Sunny Kansas."

HAMES BOND HOUSE TAKES NEW TITLE

PRETTY MUCH

Representative Fiorello La Guardia, at a luncheon in Atlantic City, was hard on modern fashions.

Street Parades Snarl Traffic

The enthusiastic parade watchers of the past no longer crowd the curb at the first thud of the big bass drum. Swarms of busy moderns, rushing to catch trains or keep luncheon appointments fret and fume when a parade holds up the traffic.

"Today a parade is no joke," complains Robert Benchley, in Liberty Magazine. "Next to a big fire there is probably nothing worse than a parade for jamming things up. There are still a lot of people who will wait on the curbing for hours to see one, but there are also a lot of people who can't wait for hours. A man who has to catch a train or keep a date never seems to enter into the parade spirit—not when he is caught by the necktie and prevented from crossing the street by a large cop while phalanx after phalanx of strangers wearing red sashes and carrying bamboo canes shuffle past.

"To have one section of a city's populace lining the streets cheering and another section held in check by the police, furming, is a state of affairs which tends to civic unrest.

"The police arrest pedestrians who don't hold out their hands when making a left turn, and chase automobilists who go straight ahead when they should go in a circle. They arrange red lights and green lights and orange-bysoutheast lights and blue-by-southwest lights in an attempt to straighten out the traffic tangle on our streets.

"Yet, let the National Association of Cyclone Underwriters petition for a permit to march up the main street of a city and throw traffic into a five-hour chaos, and not only do they get their permit but the police get out their riot machine guns and help them to spread confusion. There is a flaw somewhere."

A GOOD FIGHTER, BUT—

Dr. Addison Moore, former pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, Detroit, said on his return from Europe:

"Old Europe, with her old-fashioned methods, puts up a good fight against young America—a good fight, but a losing one.

"Old Europe is like old Jerome McWade, the Paint Rock farmer. Jerome and his two sons got to wrangling about their strength one summer morning, and Jerome swore that he could load hay as fast as his sons could pitch it. This was a challenge, the boys took him up, and the old man climbed in a spry way into the hay wagon for the struggle.

"The struggle began. Down below the two boys pitched like all possessed. Up in the wagon old Jerome loaded like lightning.

"But youth is one thing and age is another. Jerome kept yelling bravely. 'More hay! More hay!' But his loading got more and more untidy all the time, while the boys tossed faster even than when they started. Still, as he scrambled and staggered about, old Jerome kept singing out, 'More hay! More hay!' And then he tripped as he dug in his fork and fell from the wagon to the ground.

"'Aha,' said the eldest son, 'what do you want down here?'

"'What do I want?' snarled old Jerome. 'Why, more hay, of course.'"—[Detroit Free Press.

Profits Higher for Pacific Gas

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—A statement given out by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company today reports net earnings for the six months' period ended June 30, 1930, amounting to $6,530,432 after charges, but before accrued dividends on common stock, equivalent to $1.60 per share on the average of 4,062,947 common shares outstanding during the first half of the year. As compared with the first six months of 1929, this represents an increase in net profit of $721,084.

Satisfactory increases in business also were recorded by the Great Western Power Company of California, San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation and Midland Counties Public Service Corporation, of which control was acquired on June 12, 1930. Earnings of these subsidiaries available as a return upon the company's investment in the properties were reflected to the extent of less than three weeks in the statement released. Actual merging of the operations of the Great Western Power Company with those of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, is now well under way.

JOINS BROKERAGE HOUSE

Moore, Leonard & Lynch, members of the New York Stock Exchange, announce that Samuel M. Soupcoff is now associated with the partnership. Mr. Soupcoff for many years was connected with the American Smelting and Refining Company, and is especially known for his work in appraising valuations with reference to the oil and metal industries.

Bed-rock bargain prices of real estate!

WE WANT TO MAKE LOANS . . . to the bargain-hunting purchasers of real estate . . . during these times when the future-discounting prices of Southern California real estate . . . have been shrunk to figures of ten years ago . . . and we have 37½ years of appraisal experience . . . to back your judgment in the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA.

You'll have to live many a year to witness the shrinking effect of depression again in Southern California, when this era of speculative convalescence is over. We've seen this happen four times in 37½ years—and it is bargain-time for the shrewd investor.

THERE NEVER HAVE BEEN SUCH BARGAINS . . . nor such terms of purchase on income properties and homes . . . unless you reach back more than a decade when Southern California was half as well populated as today . . . and had but half the purchasers.

Let fools play the stock-market while small investors and shrewd fortune-makers pick up the real estate bargains that are minus contractor's profits, commissions and fictitious values. You are in an era of forced sales, foreclosed values, and income bargains.

We haven't enough foreclosed bargains to go around but we'll be glad to help you finance just what you want, and your realtor will HELP YOU FIND IT. Then come up to the 10th floor of the I. N. Van Nuys Building in Los Angeles, where WE practice economy, too.

NEW LOAD LINE LAW IN EFFECT

First American Cargo Limit Measure Operative

Rule Applies to Craft Plying in Foreign Trade

Adoption Heralded as Step to Greater Safety

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

United States' first load-line law fixing cargo limits for vessels of more than 250 tons, gross, plying foreign, goes into effect today. It is heralded as an important safeguard to lives aboard, to cargo and to the ship as well, and places America's offshore fleet on a parity with that of principal maritime nations which have had such freeboard laws for years.

To the casual observer it may seem only the relocation of that little white circle with irregular marks on the forward and after parts of ships. To ship owners it is declared to mean to hundreds of vessels the curtailing of their carrying capacity and, therefore, their revenue. Yet overloading has been declared one of the greatest menaces to safety at sea.

Not all vessels' freeboard will be changed, as many have sought in the past to conform to safe standards, but all must needs meet the new regulations, which means many must undergo new survey. The regulations are set down by the Department of Commerce and have the effect of law. They apply only to vessels over 250 gross tons sailing foreign. Coastwise, intercoastal and Great Lakes ships are exempt for the time being, but foreign ships leaving American ports will be compelled to recognize load lines equivalent to American standards.

It is reported the American Bureau of Shipping will be the authority for determining these Plimsoll marks and many ship owners already have made application for assignment of freeboards. As these take time and depend on availability of vessels to be examined, ship owners have been urged to apply at once. Assignments generally will be made, it is understood, in their order of filing.

Special considerations will be given tankers and lumber carriers, it is declared, in accordance with the international load-line conference just completed by twenty-seven nations.

ATLANTIC-EUROPEAN SERVICE INAUGURATED

America's only waterborne service between the Pacific Coast and the United Kingdom got under way yesterday when the steamer Jefferson Myers sailed east with every foot of her space filled with Pacific cargo.

She is the first of five vessels to enter that trade for the Pacific Atlantic Line, backed by Portland (Or.) capital. Following her will be the San Julian, due here eastbound October 1; the Peter Kerr, October 21; the San Lucas, November 16, and the San Pedro, November 27.

All vessels after calling at London and Liverpool will proceed to Philadelphia and return here intercoastal. Through bills of lading from this coast will facilitate transshipment of Pacific cargo at United Kingdom ports for points on the Continent. While the service primarily is to United Kingdom, the Jefferson Myers for this voyage at least will call at Rotterdam as well, according to E. N. Tormey, district manager for Interocean Steamship Corporation, agents.

The latter also is agent for a new Norwegian ship line plying between this coast and Europe. The first ship, the Brandanger, is due today and upon returning from the north September 20, will inaugurate the new run, sailing for Havre, Antwerp and Rotterdam. The Heranger, another new Norwegian motorship, will follow October 20.

Bids are to be opened in New York today upon the proposed construction of four intercoastal liners for the Panama Mail Steamship Company. George A. Armes, president of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, will attend the opening, which will include a bid from the local shipyard. It is believed the award may be announced within two weeks.

Eight ships flying six flags will be General Steamship Corporation's portion at its docks this week. The Italian motor liner Feltre yesterday sailed with passengers and freight for the Mediterranean. Today the Shepard freighter Sea-thrush will bring 3000 tons of North Atlantic cargo for discharge here. Thursday will mark the arrival of the French liner Wyoming from Europe with passengers and cargo. Five ships are due Friday. They are the Italian motorship Diallo from the Mediterranean; Norwegian motorship Bernanger from South America; British Kerr Line motorship Silverbell, to start the Manila-Calcutta-Singapore trade, and two freighters of the "K" Line.

Mrs. Mildred Allport, wife of the American commercial attache at Berlin, and two children were among the twenty passengers embarking on the Hamburg American motor liner Portland here yesterday for Europe. The liner carried fifty-one passengers and 7000 tons of Pacific freight.

When Will Our Talkies Grow Up

Great surprise can scarcely be felt at the cries of disappointment with which the most recent talkies have been greeted by some of the shrewdest judges of films in England. There can, indeed, be no doubt that the talkie has of late gone down in the estimation of not a few devoted film goers. It is nevertheless astonishing that the question should be seriously propounded in the English press whether talkies will not in the near future beat an ignominious retreat before a triumphant return to popular favor of the silent film. The chief reason advanced by English critics for the present coolness toward the talkie is that so far very few talkie producers have been able to appreciate the new possibilities that speech has bestowed on the art of the cinema.

There is, it is urged not without justice, on the whole so little originality in the dialogue and the plot of most talkies to distinguish one from another. Nor do the critics in England see signs of any effort on the part of the talkie producer to discover those new forms that would convert the cinema into a center of artistic expression as distinct from the theater as it is from a picture gallery or a concert hall.

If dissatisfaction results in a more alert attitude of the film industry, not only toward the technical side of sound production but also toward the intellectual content and the dramatic emphasis of the talkie, the prediction, made in all seriousness by an English publicist, that the Shakespeare of the future will be found on an Atlantic liner bound for Hollywood, may well come true.

The present seeming inability of the talkie to strike out on a line of its own, in place of continued dependence on the somewhat outworn tricks of the music hall and revue stage, account mostly for its presumably brief period of unpopularity in England and elsewhere. The silent film, too, had to pass through a similar stage of unimaginative and insincere handling. It recovered somewhat, only to find itself superseded by the talkie. Now, though occasionally silence may still charm his admiration, the film goer has been too powerfully wooed by the marvels of sound to renounce the talkie in favor of his old love. To regain his full favor, however, the talkie will have to appeal in the future as much to his intelligence as to his imagination.—[Exchange.

There is No East Nor Any West

One by one our treasured traditions are being taken from us, are being transformed, blotted out by the utilitarian. It is well that the poet who sang, "East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," added the thought that under certain circumstances "there is neither East nor West."

The East has always been a land of mystery, and many a novelist has utilized this part of the globe as one of the chief tools of his stock-in-trade. Who has not read of a deeply veiled figure walking along the dark and narrow streets of, say, Cairo or Constantinople, all that was visible being two flashing eyes! Gone alas, to a large measure, is the veiled figure, and what do we get instead? Western short skirts, a hat that strikes a note of incongruity and an unveiled face in which the eyes seem no longer to flash. Then logically, of course, the purdah has also gone, that wall which aforetime secluded the veiled woman being no longer necessary with the disappearance of the veil.

Then again the fez in many parts of the East is as rare as the dodo, and its place is being quite generally taken by the derby, or is it darby? This unpretty headpiece is generally several sizes too large, and is apparently balanced on the ears. In the same way the romantically flowing robes of the male easterner are being discarded for unromantic and baggy-kneed pants.

Even the animals are being affected by this distressing wave of westernization. The camel, with his supercilious snout and contemptuous stare will soon cease to "pad" silently across the sands of the desert, his place being taken by the more noisy automobile and tractor.

These blows at the picturesque are coming thick and fast, the latest being struck by the King of Siam's estimable desire for progress. No longer shall we be able to visualize an Asiatic queen reclining on multi-colored cushions, while she is kept cool by the slow-swaying to and fro of the air-disturbing punkah, the punkah-wallahs being "swarthy Ethiopians," to use a term much loved of the lady novelist. Its place has been taken, horrible to relate, by a commonplace, up-to-date American refrigerating plant. One shudders at the picture, almost devastating in its desecration of the traditions of the East. That it will, of course, be much more efficacious does not enter into the picture.

And so, in view of all these more or less tragic happenings, it will be well to prepare oneself to withstand the shock of reading in the paper one of these mornings that the Dalai Lama of Tibet has been seen in the streets of Lhasa attired in a tall hat, spats and a monocle. Truly "there is neither East nor West."—[Exchange.

Propeller May be Shifted

Summer residents at the seashore often desire to have the use of a motor boat without the expense of erecting a boathouse. It is extremely convenient to run the craft up on the shore as with a row boat but the propeller of the motor boat prohibits this. The craft must be run up to a pier or anchored offshore. This has been overcome by a new arrangement which permits of the propeller being hoisted so that it is entirely out of the way when it is desired to run upon the sandy beach. The shaft is a flexible one and an ingenious piece of mechanism holds the propeller rigidly in place when driving the boat and raises it above the water when out of service.

And So It Goes

Aide: Will it work?
Chief: It always has.
Aide: Which side will we take?
Chief: Both sides, stupid.
Aide: But what will the people think—
Chief: They don't think. If they did we could not use the religious issue.

Cools Room, Extinguishes Fire

The members of the American Chemical Society recently had their attention called to a new refrigerant for which some very interesting things are claimed. It is said to be easily made use of for the purpose of cooling rooms even in the hottest climate and at the same time it is available as a fire extinguisher.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Byrd's, Eighth between Broadway and Hill—"With Byrd at the South Pole." Adventure in the Antarctic which is well worth seeing.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Cheer Up and Smile." Youth turns to song and dance for light amusement. Arthur Lake.

California, Main near Eighth—"El Cuerpo Del Delito." The Spanish version of the "Benson Murder Case" is a fine example of workmanship.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Holiday." A film play of quality and delight with Ann Harding at her best in defense of youth.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood — "Hell's Angels." It took Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"All Quiet on the Western Front." Eric Remarque's masterpiece of the war receives splendid treatment. Lew Ayres.

Egyptian, Hollywood Boulevard—"Wild Company." Dramatic misdeeds of the rich. Frank Albertson.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Good Intentions." The upper crust of the underworld provides exciting drama. Edmund Lowe.

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"A Throw of Dice." An exquisite scenic of India which might be shortened.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Once A Gentleman." Edward Everett Horton battles his way to laughter.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Call of the Flesh." A romance of poetic Spain beautifully done with Ramon Novarro.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th—"The Matrimonial Bed." A French farce which is quite amusing. Frank Fay.

News Reel Theater, Broadway near Eighth—Current Events.

Pantages, Hollywood at Vine—"Manslaughter." Heavy dramatic from Claudette Colbert.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Animal Crackers." The four Marx brothers in an informal evening of puns and capers, and don't miss them.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"Ladies Must Play." What happens in social circles makes intelligent entertainment. Dorothy Sebastian.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"The Dawn Patrol." An air victory, as well as a film one. Richard Barthelmess is excellent.

Tower, Bdwy. at Eighth—"Three Faces East." Von Stroheim and Constance Bennett in a story possessing some good moments.

United Artists, Broadway, near 9th—"Eyes of the World." A moralizing tale on hypocrisy handled as well as possible by the cast with Una Merkel.

Uptown, Western and Tenth — "Romance."

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"Moby Dick." Sentiment is missing from this tale of the sea, though adventure isn't. John Barrymore.

Warner's Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Old English." More of the charming sentimentality at which George Arliss is a past master.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"It's a Wise Child." A splendid cast enacts this modern treatment of an old theme. Recommended to those who take comedy with a grain of salt and lots of pepper.

Biltmore, Fifth and Grand—"Candle-Light." Airy entertainment, frequently humorous is this Viennese piece. Eugenie Leontovich leads the cast.

Egan, Figueroa at Pico—"The Missing Witness." Hysterical courtroom highlights, all familiar. Maude Fealy.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"The Poor Nut." The campus sap becomes a hero overnight and it's worth seeing. Elliott Nugent.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Good Old Days." Reviewed in today's Times.

Former Husband of Peggy Joyce Will Wed Again

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—An announcement today said Miss Geraldine Fitch, New York newspaper woman, will shortly wed Count Costa Morner of Sweden, a former husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

Count Morner, who is 33 years of age, came here in 1920 as a member of the consular service but now is engaged in publicity work. He married Miss Joyce in 1923 and they were divorced in Paris in 1924.

Miss Fitch is the daughter of the late William Sherman Fitch and a niece of Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Fire Rages on Goat Mountain

WILLOWS, Sept. 1. (AP)—A fierce fire was raging on Goat Mountain in the California National Forest, southwest of Stonyford, Glenn county, today. The fire is said to have started on a ranch Saturday night and to have spread rapidly over a wide territory.

Appeals for help have been sent to neighboring communities and to Willows.

Former Liquor Agent Accused

SEATTLE, Sept. 1. (AP)—William M. Whitney, former assistant prohibition administrator, took $1500 in 1925 to "keep me out of trouble after I was indicted in the first Olmsted case," Edward H. McInnis, former rum runner, testified in the Lyle-Whitney conspiracy trial in Federal Court here late today.

Plane Used to Plant Trout in Mountain Lake

MODESTO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Planting trout in inaccessible lakes in the Sierra by plane and parachute is the latest.

Game Warden Brown of Mariposa, and Pilot L. Gallison of Merced told of the experiment today.

Taking four containers of young trout they flew over a group of small lakes near Wawona. Opening the containers and attaching them to small parachutes they dropped them overboard and observed them float lazily down and sink in the waters of the lakes.

The experiment was so successful, Brown said, that it will be repeated on a more extensive scale in cases where it is impossible to drive a truck containing young fish to certain high lakes.

Georgia Mayor Bans Fascists

ATHENS (Ga.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Mayor Dudley issued an order here today prohibiting the American Fascist organization from selling its publication, the Black Shirt, on the streets of the city.

In a statement accompanying his order, the Mayor said the organization "has no right to dictate to employers of labor." He said further that "such an antisocial, antiradical organization, apparently set up for the personal profit of its organizers, will not be tolerated in the community."

CRASH FATAL TO SMALL BOY

Hurled Out Upon Pavement When Cars Upset

Coroner's Jury Finds Both Drivers Blameless

Six Hurt in Kern Mishaps; One Seriously

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 1.—Thrown from a car when it collided with another at the intersection of Fourth and Oak streets, here, last night, Harry Gautschy, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gautschy of this city, received injuries from which he died a few minutes later.

The child and his young brother were riding with their uncle, Ernest Gautschy, local drug-store clerk.

The Gautschy car collided with another light car driven by C. Collins, elderly rancher and long-time resident of the Poplar district. Collins was alone.

Both cars turned over and the little boy was thrown to the pavement. The other three escaped uninjured.

An inquest this morning resulted in a verdict that the child came to his death from a fractured skull sustained in an unavoidable automobile accident. Blame was not placed on either driver. Testimony brought out that both were traveling at a moderate rate.

Arrangements for funeral services had not been completed, but probably will be conducted some time tomorrow.

THREE CARS PILE UP GOING IN SAME DIRECTION

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 1. — Six persons were hurt in Kern county in traffic accidents over the week-end. One of them, a miner, is injured seriously. A local boy was struck down by an automobile while crossing a street, and the other four, all residents of Los Angeles, were hurt in a freak accident south of here.

They are: Floyd Smith, 24 years of age, Poso Creek miner, head injuries. Unconscious.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Stoner, 5419 Chester avenue, Los Angeles, minor injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jones, Los Angeles, minor injuries.

Smith received his injuries early today when his automobile was involved in a collision with another at the intersection of Chester avenue and Thirty-fourth street. He is at the Emergency Hospital.

Vivian was hurt last night when struck by an automobile while crossing Baker street in front of the Bank of Italy building, East Bakersfield branch. He is at the County Hospital.

The four Angelenos were hurt about twelve miles south of here on Golden State Highway. The Stoners and Joneses were occupying separate cars, both of which were traveling northward. A third car struck one of the first two from the rear and all three piled up on the highway.

Mrs. Stoner, riding in the front seat with her husband, was thrown to the rear seat and suffered body bruises. Stoner, a clerk in the Los Angeles Superior Court, sustained a broken right hand. The Joneses were not hurt seriously.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN HURT IN COLLISION

TULARE, Sept. 1. — Mrs. Thomas Spurgeon of Los Angeles sustained severe lacerations about the head and arms yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding was struck and forced off the highway south of town by a machine driven by William Silverman, also of Los Angeles. She was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Spurgeon's husband, their daughter and grand-daughter, who were also occupants of the wrecked machine, escaped with only minor injuries.

According to reports, the crash occurred when the Silverman car attempted to pass the one occupied by the Spurgeons and cut in too quickly because of another car approaching from the opposite direction.

Tulare County Unit of Harbor Body Formed

VISALIA, Sept. 1.—Organization of a temporary Tulare county unit of the Central Counties Harbor Association has been effected here, with representatives from Tulare, Exeter, Woodlake, Porterville and Visalia. Ernest G. Dudley of Exeter presided.

H. L. Luken, representing San Luis Obispo county interests, explained the proposed Morro Bay harbor development, and said that San Luis Obispo, Fresno and Kings counties already had organized county units of the proposed harbor association and that with organization of similar units in Tulare and Kern counties all would be in readiness for organization of the business set-up required by the government.

This five-county organization will have as its primary purpose investigation of the economic phase of harbor development, and will check up on probable imports and exports at the proposed harbor.

Representatives of the new Tulare county unit will meet with delegations representing other county units some time within the next two weeks to complete formation of the central counties' association.

Officers chosen for the Tulare county unit include: Dudley, chairman; Emory Whilton of Tulare, vice-chairman; E. M. Howard of Visalia, secretary, and Charles Osborn of Porterville, treasurer. A fifth representative will be chosen from Lindsay by the four officers.

VISALIA ALUMNI CALLED

VISALIA, Sept. 1.—All former students of Visalia Junior College are invited to attend a meeting in this city the first week in October, according to an announcement made by John Gearhart, Jr., president of the alumni association. At that time it is expected to perfect a permanent organization of alumni along the lines tentatively mapped out at a meeting here last spring.

SCION OF OIL MILLIONAIRE KILLS SELF

Charles Bedford, Jr., Uses Gas in His Cheap Room at Lower Brooklyn Hotel

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (Exclusive) Stretched on the cheap bed of the bare $1-a-night room he occupied for five years in a lower Brooklyn hotel, Charles E. Bedford, Jr., 28 years of age, son of the millionaire vice-president of the Vacuum Oil Company, was found dead this afternoon with a gas tube in his mouth.

Discovery of the body and disclosure of his identity brought renewed sorrow to the elder Bedfords, who saw their son, a mere boy, leave for the battlefields of France early in 1918 as a member of the American Expeditionary Forces and welcomed him home less than a year later, broken in health and mentality from the horrors he went through.

His death by his own hand recalled his two escapes from the Bloomingdale asylum and revealed that his family must finally have consented to let him live as he willed, providing a $15,000 trust fund for him in 1926.

Young Bedford was committed to Bloomingdale on his return from France, but escaped shortly afterward. Committed a second time in 1923, he again escaped in that year.

His effects revealed the family had set aside the trust fund in control of the Equitable Trust Company on February 11, 1926, and that he had been drawing the interest from this fund ever since. A bank book revealed that on February 4, last, he had in the Patchogue (L. I.) National Bank a balance of $3153.29.

PLATFORM ANNOUNCED BY HEFLIN

Convention Puts Senator in Independent Race; Other Candidates Named

MONTGOMERY (Ala.) Sept. 1. (AP)—In accepting formal nomination by an independent convention today, Senator Heflin, named to succeed himself, and his running-mates, defined the issues on which they will base their campaign, among them "reorganization of the Democratic party in Alabama."

Hugh A. Locke of Birmingham was nominated for Governor on the ticket with Senator Heflin, and Dempsey M. Powell of Greenville was named for Lieutenant-Governor.

The three were barred from the regular Democratic primary under the ruling of the State executive committee, which excluded as candidates those persons who failed to support the party's Presidential ticket in 1928.

The twenty-seven members of the committee who voted for the rule were attacked by each of the independent nominees in their speeches of acceptance. The emblem of the independents is a Liberty Bell in a circle, across the top of which is inscribed: "White Control." Beneath are thirteen stars representing the original colonies and the inscription "Down with the 27."

A resolution declaring the convention reaffirmed its belief in the prohibition plank of the Democratic platform of the Houston convention in 1928 was unanimously adopted.

GIRL MAKES THREE-FLAG COAST HOP

Ruth Alexander Flies from Vancouver, B.C., to Agua Caliente, Mex.

AGUA CALIENTE, Sept. 1. (Exclusive)—Ruth Alexander, 21-year-old San Diego altitude air champion, made the first nonstop flight by a woman from Canada to Mexico when she landed her light monoplane here at 7:15:30 p.m.—15h. 54m. 30s. after she left Owen's Pasture, Vancouver, B. C.

Her tiny Barling sport craft, powered by a 110-horsepower Warner motor, bucked headwinds all the way down the Pacific Coast and was forced to 12,000 feet over the Siskiyou Mountains.

The men's record for the hop of nearly 1500 miles is 9h. 14m. 2s., held by Col. Roscoe Turner, but set in a plane with a motor of nearly 400 horsepower more than that in Miss Alexander's machine.

The flying miss told representatives of the Richfield Oil Company, sponsors of the flight, and National Aeronautic Association timers, she had to drive a flock of sheep off the northern field before she could get a runway cleared. She was nearly exhausted at the end of the trip. It took her two hours and forty minutes to cross the mountains of the Ridge Route—so strong were head winds and air bumps. She landed here on a lighted airport.

Her craft carried 117 gallons of gasoline at the take-off.

LAST RITES FOR MINING MAGNATE

PASADENA, Sept. 1.—Funeral services for John A. Adams, retired Utah mine owner and brother of Gov. W. H. Adams of Colorado, who died last night at his temporary residence in this city, will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Ives and Warren chapel, 100 North Hill avenue. Entombment will follow in Mountain View Mausoleum.

Mr. Adams was 75 years of age. He was a native of Wisconsin and had been a local winter resident for the last eight years.

Besides Gov. Adams, he leaves a son, C. R. Adams of 105 South Oak street, Pasadena; a son H. W. Adams of Beloit, Wis., and a daughter, Mrs. E. A. Dockstader of Boston, Mass.

After being a successful Colorado cattle raiser, Mr. Adams entered the mining field in Utah.

El señor Bilbo, gobernador de Misisipí, ha declarado el viernes "Día de Parker" en toda la entidad federativa mencionada. A la llegada del capitán Parker a Jackson, capital del Estado, habrá una parada. Después, el gobernador promoverá a Parker al grado de coronel del servicio aéreo de la Guardia Nacional. Se le impondrá, además, en nombre del Estado, una medalla de honor acuñada en oro.

Hoy Terminan los Testimonios de Descargo en la Causa de Reyna

Con el testimonio de dos testigos más se espera que dé hoy por terminada su prueba testimonial la defensa de Juan Reyna, procesado por el asesinato del guardia de Los Angeles Verne Brindley, perpetrado hace seis semanas. La causa se ha estado viendo en la sala del juez superior McComb.

La acusación, encabezada por el teniente fiscal Blalock, alega que Reyna, al ser aprehendido, echó mano de la pistola del guardia Brindley, y le mató. Hirió al mismo tiempo a L. E. Williams, colega de Brindley.

En defensa propia, Reyna alega que los guardias le pegaron rudamente en la cabeza con las culatas de sus pistolas. El defensor del reo es el letrado C. V. Rude.

Los Globitos de Goma Constituyen un Peligro en las Playas

Los globitos de juguete que sueltan los aeroplanos sobre las playas como anuncios, son peligrosos para los bañistas, según el superintendente Hoyt del Departamento de Sitios de Juego y Recreo de Los Angeles. Dice que los guardas de las playas se están viendo negros para rescatar a los que se disputan los globitos nadando mar adentro para atraparlos. Hacen esfuerzos esos nadadores para llegar antes que los demás hasta los globillos de marras, y se encuentran luego sin fuerzas para volver a la orilla.

Ya Hoyt ha escrito a varias empresas petroleras y de otras clases rogándoles que no se anuncien de esa manera, y dice que, ya sabedoras del peligro que ello acarrea a los nadadores, están contestando de acuerdo con lo pedido.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Error Ortográfico que Iba a Costarle la Vida a una Pobre Mula

FUERTE HANCOCK (Nueva Jersey), Septiembre 1.—"Jersey Lightning", que así se llama la famosa mula blanca de este fuerte, se acaba de ver a las puertas de la ternidad, tan solo por haber sustituido un tipógrafo la letra "d" por la letra "t" en una palabra de la lengua inglesa.

En la tablilla de anuncios oficiales del puesto apareció esta mañana la orden siguiente: "De acuerdo con las instrucciones del coronel, la mula blanca será fusilada (shot) a las dos de la tarde."

Con la repugnancia que es de imaginar, un pelotón de ejecución condujo al malhadado animal hasta el sitio donde iba a dársele muerte. Pero, bifateando el peligro, "Jersey Lighining" comenzó a tirar vigorosas coces, que causaron la alarma de los presentes, e hicieron suficiente ruido para que se presentara en escena el coronel J. C. Johnson.

"¿Que ocurre aquí?", interrogó el jefe mencionado.

Los hombres le contestaron que iban en ese momento a ejecutar sus órdenes. Entonces se aclaró el error. La orden, dada por el jefe era de que la mula fuese herrada (shod) y no fusilada (shot.)

NEVADA TO VOTE TODAY IN PRIMARY

Governorship Main Focus of Interest, with Three Republicans in Field

RENO, Sept. 1. (AP)—More than 20,000 of Nevada's 42,000 registered voters are expected to go to the polls tomorrow to select party nominees in primary elections.

Fred B. Balzar, incumbent Republican Governor, is opposed for his party's nomination by Mayor E. E. Roberts of Reno, former Representative, and Richard H. Cowles, State Senator from Washoe county.

Horace A. Agee, holder of large cattle and ranching interests in the eastern part of the State, and Charles Richards, former Representative, are seeking the Democratic nomination.

Neither of the Nevada Senatorial posts is at stake this year and Representative S. S. Arentz is unopposed for the Republican nomination. He will meet Lieut.-Gov. Maurice J. Sullivan, a wet, in the November general elections. Sullivan has no opponent for the Democratic nomination.

Kern's Cotton Harvest Opens

DELANO, Sept. 1.—Harvesting of the 1930 crop of cotton in this district will begin this week when J. C. Sharp, who is farming in partnership with Walter L. Wallace, will begin picking their crop. They have 380 acres planted on the Wallace lands in Sections 25 and 30, northeast of town. A crew of fifty pickers has been engaged and as the crop continues to mature more rapidly this crew will be increased until several hundred are at work.

Sharp made his first planting on March 18, last, and continued at intervals through the spring, so that he will have fields maturing until late in the fall. The Acala variety was planted and there is an exceptional yield.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD AS COUNTERFEITERS

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Joseph Diens, 25 years of age, and Robert Gould, 25, were arrested here today by secret service operatives, and charged with counterfeiting. Officers said the pair admitted passing counterfeit $20 bills in Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland. A search of a hotel room revealed forty-two counterfeit bills, William McSwan, United States special agent said. They will appear before the United States Commissioner tomorrow.

POSTAL EMPLOYEE FATALLY WOUNDED

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—James Desio was shot and killed today in the City Hall branch of the post-office, in the Federal Building, where he was employed as a clerk. OIL RESTRICTION UP FOR REVIEW

Special Committee will Meet Today

Attention of Industry on New Curb Efforts

Greater Co-operation of Fields Forecast

The attention of the California oil industry will be focused on today's meeting of the special committee of eleven to be held at the California Oil and Gas Association to make a thorough review of the oil-curtailment program which has been in effect nearly a year.

With some of the keenest minds of the industry watching developments of the oil-curtailment program and members of the special committee of eleven, today's session is expected to map out a new effort to bring about greater harmony among the various operators and bring the State's daily flow of oil down to the minimum, or all that is really needed for consumption.

That the oil industry as a whole will endeavor to limit production to its requirements, is indicated by the week's meetings that also will include a session of the fact-finding committee headed by W. E. Dunlap to be held tomorrow. On Thursday, the general committee, with Paul Boggs presiding, is expected to consider the new potentials and allowables set and to approve them. Each of the gatherings will be held in offices of the California Oil and Gas Association, where ample room has been provided for them by Edwin Higgins, managing director.

Paul N. Boggs

FIXED POTENTIAL SET

When the fact-finding committee last met, the fixed potential for the State increased 36,690 barrels daily during the first half of August while the average daily production increased 13,555 barrels daily during the same period. Total allowable for the State was set at 1,176,650 barrels daily and reports state that slight increase is expected unless new production is brought in at Venice, which now is the most active oil field in the State.

The lowest daily production obtained since oil curtailment went into effect is 603,000 barrels daily as against the desired quota of 596,000 barrels daily. If sales of petroleum products have dropped off from 9 to 11 per cent as recently declared by Mr. Boggs, it is probable that the State's new allowable will be lower than 550,000 barrels daily.

Success in obtaining co-operation from the principal operating oil companies was more assured recently when it was announced that the Santa Fe Springs oil field operators agreed to abide by any cut in production that might be levied against them by the fact-finding committee. Removal of that obstacle, in view of the fact that the operators still remain to sign the agreement, indicates the the importance of State-wide oil curtailment is at last being felt, according to officials. Mr. Boggs recently stated to all oil operators that the Santa Fe Springs field, one of the greatest in the world in point of production and gas supply, has to a great extent exhausted its reservoir of gas since its discovery eight years ago, and could have supported the greatest industrial city of the West for many years if it had been placed under conservation at the beginning of its development.

W. E. DUNLAP

REGROUPING DUE

It is asserted that similar conditions exist in the Signal Hill oil field, and if the Kettleman Hills oil field, which promises to be the scene of much activity, is not developed in an orderly manner that district likewise will suffer rapid depletion of its resources of oil and gas. According to a reliable source, of the 500,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas produced daily at Kettleman Hills, perhaps 20 per cent of the total is used commercially and the remain-

ACTRESS RETURNS FOR ROLE IN FILM

Lily Damita

Shown on her arrival garbed in something different in traveling clothes—the knickers and skirt match.

Returning to the film capital for the first time since her appearance in the New York stage production of "Sons o' Guns," Lily Damita arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to continue her screen career.

With her is a complete wardrobe of new Parisian gowns, which she was collecting in France when called to Hollywood for the role of a frontier girl in Paramount's production of Zane Grey's "Fighting Caravans."

She will leave with the film company next Monday for a thirty-day location trip. She has been away from Hollywood nearly a year.

SUN ARCS TO LIGHT FASHIONS

Battery of Powerful Lamps to be Used at Window Unveiling

Added brilliance will be given the ceremonies incident to the simultaneous unveiling of hundreds of downtown store windows displaying "The Modes of Autumn, 1930," on Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., by the spectacular lighting planned for the occasion on Broadway and Seventh street.

E. C. Mitchell, secretary of the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association, today announced that forty sun arcs of the highest power developed to date will send out brilliant beams of white light as the buglers give the signal for the withdrawing of the window curtains over the store display.

This light will be changed at five-minute intervals into displays of all the colors of the spectrum.

Perfect timing will be maintained—each new shade or tone flashing on simultaneously throughout the downtown district.

Equipment will be installed between Third and Ninth streets on Broadway, and between Figueroa street and Broadway on Seventh street.

The display of changing lights will take place from 7 to 9 o'clock p.m. Sixty men will lay miles of cables and will set up the portable equipment.

Old Stage Coach Sought for Fete

In answer to a request from Phil Whiting, director of the Fiesta de Los Angeles, which is to be held to celebrate the 149th birthday of this city, that the old Banning stage coach be used as an entry from Wilmington in the parade, the park board has directed Secretary Hassett to inform Whiting that the coach is owned by the Bannings.

In lieu of the Banning stage it is suggested to Whiting that there is an old stage coach at Camp de Cahuenga belonging to the California Historical Society, which might be obtained for the parade.

HOSPITAL COST REPORT GIVEN

County Institution Makes Annual Statement

Inpatients Cared for at $5.27 Average

Outpatient Expense Put at $1.24 Per Visit

The Los Angeles County General Hospital cared for 1362 inpatients daily, at an average cost of $5.27 per patient, and 696 out patients daily, at a cost of $1.24 per visit, during the fiscal year of 1928-29, according to a report of Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent of the institution, just filed with Frank L. Shaw, chairman of the Hospital Committee of the Board of Supervisors. The report also shows that 88 per cent of the hospital's beds were occupied every day, and that the average number of employees was 1800, which gives 1.3 employees per patient.

The report is the last available for a full year, as the one for the fiscal year of 1929-1930 will not be finished until this fall, Dr. Wood said.

According to the superintendent, the figures compare very favorably with those of the daily per capita costs of other hospitals throughout the United States which range from $5.25 to $9.50.

Inpatients, it is explained in the report, are persons who are confined in bed and receive their board and room while receiving treatment at the hospital. Outpatients are those who go to the hospital for examination and treatment while living at home.

"A large proportion of the cost of hospital service, both inpatient and outpaitent," says Dr. Wood's report, "is the labor cost of the large number of employees required. The best private hospitals' even those which do a large amount of free work, required from 1.7 to 2.2 employees per patient.

MINIMUM EXPENSE

"As a matter of fact, the Los Angeles County General Hospital is not readily comparable in its work and per diem costs with any other city or county hospital in the world.

"It is true that many institutions are called hospitals, especially county hospitals, which have lower costs. No established general hospital of a minimum of 250 beds, treating principally the acutely ill and injured of every kind, with an average patient residence of fifteen days or less, can care for its patients without neglecting them, thereby jeopardizing their health, limbs or lives for a cost of less than $5 to $6 per diem per in-patient, or $1 or more per out-patient visit, even when operating at normal capacity, such as a daily occupancy of 75 per cent and without overcrowding.

"Most so-called county hospitals with the low per capita cost do not treat the acutely ill type of patient referred to above exclusively and such institutions would be understood much more accurately if they were thought of as boarding houses for the sick and for those who were already, upon admission, permanently disabled.

DIFFERENCE IN CARE

"It costs just as much and requires just as much equipment, physicians' skill and expense to cure a patient facing death or possible permanent disability in the Los Angeles County General Hospital as it does in one of the outstanding private hospitals of the vicinity, except that in private hospitals some patients have private rooms and occupy more floor space than in the county's hospital. Also in private hospitals well-to-do patients demand and pay for luxuries.

"The task of county hospitals in treating such critically ill patients is often more difficult than the task of private hospitals in endeavoring to relieve patients who are similarly ill, because the patient who finally comes to the county hospital has often waited longer before seeking hospital medical care than the one who goes to a private hospital.

OTHER HOSPITALS

Following is a list of hospitals in various parts of the country showing the per capita in-patient cost per day given in Dr. Wood's report:

Mt. Sinai, New York	$6.65
Presbyterian and Sloan, New York	7.63
Jewish, Brooklyn	6.35
French, New York	5.10
Methodist Episcopal, New York	4.22
Woman's Hospital, New York	6.12

RED RAID JAILS SEVENTEEN

Plaza Demonstration Broken Up by Police Who Keep Agitators Moving

An impregnable cordon of police thrown about the meeting-place in advance yesterday turned into a fiasco an attempt by Communistic sympathizers to hold a Labor Day demonstration at the Plaza. Due to precautionary measures taken by Lieut. Hynes, chief of the police "Red" squad, the scheduled demonstration failed completely to get under way, being confined to spasmodic outbursts at spots along North Main street on the part of overzealous participants.

The oratorical fireworks were scheduled for 2 p.m., but the police so thoroughly spiked the Communists' plans that an hour and a half later Lieut. Hynes ordered his men to disband.

Seventeen persons, including several women, landed in the City Jail, booked on various charges, as a result of the gathering.

Those under arrest and the charges against their names include Miss Anna Rexnor, 21 years of age, 2706 Brooklyn avenue; Jacob Sommenschein, 42, of 2732 Wabash avenue; Edward Sandler, 28, transient; Nathan Karpiloff, 41, of 324 North Matthews street; Harry Cooper, 19, of 2723 Malabar street, and Joe Seal, 20, of 2206 Brooklyn avenue, all charged with blocking the sidewalk; Miss Emma Cullen, 22, transient; Phillip Kramer, 65, of 3123 Minnesota street; Thorsten Anderson, 23, of 221 South Olive street, and Harry Snyder, 24, of 2708 Brooklyn avenue, charged with blocking the sidewalk and interfering with an officer; Dan Scogolos, 60, of 419 Crocker street; P. Yamaguchi, 30, transient; Jack Olsen, 19, of 472 North Townsend avenue, and Pat Chambers, 29, of 634 North Spring street, charged with criminal syndicalism; and Miss Jennie Lonz, 33, of 212½ North Breed street; Joseph Turchmori, 42, of 505 North Soto street, and Carl Hummel, 22, of 623 Gladys avenue, charged with distributing handbills.

Shortly before 2 p.m. the demonstrators began to converge toward

FISHERMEN TRIO BURNED; BOAT SINKS

Gasoline Blast May Cost Lives of Three Men When Engine Backfires

Three fishermen with critical burns were sent to San Pedro General Hospital while a fourth is incapacitated at home following an explosion and fire aboard their forty-foot boat Elvera early yesterday.

In the hospital are Capt. T. Turigione of 305 Fourteenth street, San Pedro; Jacano Russo of 256 Fourteenth street, San Pedro, and John Mark of 514 Henry street, Los Angeles. The other is Dominic Bologna of 356 Fourteenth street, San Pedro.

The fishermen were starting their engine after taking fuel at a boat service station at Berth 72 when a backfire and blast enveloped them in flames. The boat burned and sank at a loss of $3000.

FITTS HAS CLOSE CALL FROM SNAKE

Rattler Sinks Fangs into Leather of Prosecutor's Shoe Near Malibu Beach

Dist.-Atty. Fitts narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when a three-foot rattlesnake sank its fangs into the leather of his right shoe. Fitts was walking along a fence near the highway at Malibu Beach when the reptile struck at him.

"I heard the snake rattle," Fitts said, "but could not locate him. In trying to get away from it, I must have stepped on the thing several times in the grass. Then the snake lashed out and struck my shoe.

"I never knew before that a snake could hit so hard. The blow pushed my foot aside."

Fitts said that he trampled the snake with his shoes and later brought it to his home. As a precaution he was examined by a physician for any possible scratch from the fangs, but he was uninjured.

The snake had five rattles with a broken end indicating that it might have done more.

Weather Ideal for Labor Day; Forecast Usual

"This is something like it," Angelenos were saying yesterday, referring to the weather. The sun shone clearly ten hours and fifteen minutes, and there was just enough nip in the air to make Labor Day enjoyable.

The highest mark attained by the temperature was 81 deg., a decided improvement over the same day last year, when it soared to 92 deg. And there have been much hotter Labor Days as shown by the records, for on one occasion in the last forty years the mercury climbed to 108.

Yesterday's minimum temperature was 63 deg.

The prediction for today and tomorrow is fair with normal temperatures and moderate west winds.

'OSCEOLA' RE-ENACTED ON M'GROARTY FOREST STAGE

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

In an appropriately beautiful outdoor setting, under the tall trees of Tujunga Canyon, there was re-enacted last evening a drama of early American history. It was "Osceola," story of the Indian chieftain who fought for the freedom of the slave, as visualized and put into pageant form by John Steven McGroarty.

Performed in the McGroarty forest amphitheater at Tujunga, "Osceola" drew a goodly crowd of spectators who applauded enthusiastically the colorful story unfolded in this narrative of a brave and noble Indian. There were music, dancing and pageantry in the drama—there was much to fascinate both the eye and the ear.

"Osceola," as followers of John Steven McGroarty's work may know, retells early nineteenth-century history in Florida. It delves into the glamorous days of the past in that peninsular State, much as McGroarty's Mission Play delves into the past of California. It is based historically on the famous seven-year Seminole Indian war and as such is a valuable contribution to the drama of this country.

The stage settings, the costuming, the general effects of "Osceola" are tremendously interesting. In one sense, they overshadow the narrative drama and emphasize particularly the pageant qualities of the production.

The prologue set in the year 1818, in the garden of the house of the Spanish commandante at St. Augus-

HIGH WAVES MAR SPORTS OF HOLIDAY

Twenty-Foot Combers in Santa Monica Area Keep Swimmers on Land

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 1.—Unusually high waves yesterday and today marred the bathing sport for thousands of holiday visitors who thronged the Santa Monica Bay beaches.

Yesterday twelve persons were assisted to the shore by life guards and early today the local crew under Capt. Roger Cornell issued warnings to bathers to stay on shore during the height of the tide. Only the best swimmers attempted to go out through the heavy combers, some of them estimated to have been twenty feet high. A dangerous rip tide was running 100 feet from shore.

A rough-water swim of half a mile, given as a Labor Day feature by the Deauville Beach Club, found the water rough enough to make the event unusually difficult. The course was 200 yards offshore. Carnival spirit reigned on the piers at Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica during the holiday, and automobile traffic on the Coast highway was at its peak during the afternoon.

TRADE SCHOOL ADDS CLASS

THOUSANDS SEE RADIO SHOW

Eighth Exhibit of Art's Progress Draws 25,000 on First Day to View New Apparatus

The desire to see what's what and who's who in radio brought more than 25,000 persons to the Ambassador Auditorium yesterday for the opening of the eighth annual Los Angeles National Radio Show, conducted by the Radio and Music Trades Associations of Southern California. The show will be continued throughout the week, closing Saturday night.

Primarily the affair is designed to be an exposition of the 1931 models of all prominent manufacturers of radio receiving sets in the country, but a secondary purpose, which proved to be just as attractive to the crowds, is to give the multitudes who make up the radio audience an opportunity to watch their favorite entertainers "doing their stuff" in person.

With this object fourteen of the leading broadcasting stations in and around Los Angeles are co-operating with the show management by presenting their artists in half-hour programs in the theater of the auditorium. Each program is sponsored by an individual station. Incidentally, persons who come for the first program at 1:30 p.m. are admitted free and then are also admitted free to the exposition proper, when the latter opens its doors at 2:30, as the guests of the station which presented the opening program.

Yesterday it was station KELW which opened the show and then invited its audience into the exposition. On its program were the popular Yodeling Colonels, the Swanee River Serenaders and Collins and Brown. Other stations which presented programs yesterday were KGFJ, KFSG and KGER, and among the entertainers were Everett Hoagland and his Troubadors, the Long Beach Municipal Band, the Harmony Hawaiian Quartet, Glen Edmunds and his orchestra and the KFSG String Sextet.

In addition to viewing the entertainers in action, visitors to the

OPTIMISM NOTE AT LABOR PICNIC

Austin's Message Discusses Business Future

Bay City Mill Man Assails Overproduction

Porter Promises to Keep City Pay Roll Intact

"Everyone in business seems to be more optimistic now than they were a few months ago," was part of the message President Austin of the Chamber of Commerce sent to Central Labor Council's Labor Day picnic at Lincoln Park yesterday. "There is more actual business on the drawing boards of architects now than at any time in the last eighteen months."

The chamber official appealed to the unions to help its campaign for greater purchase of Southern California products, saying especially that "money turned over in Southern California means less unemployment here." Austin, billed as a speaker, was not present but sent a message which was read by Secretary Buzzell of the council, chairman of the day.

MOONEY SPEAKS

Archie J. Mooney of San Francisco, mill man, was the principal speaker of the picnic and among other things said:

"Our greatest problem of today is unemployment. It can only be met by a shortening of working hours. Every time man power is displaced by machine power the ability of the market to consume the products of the machine is decreased. We have no fault with the machine but we demand that something be done to keep the consuming public able to consume production. It is of no use to have wealth unless it circulates and makes prosperity."

Mooney said that in a comparatively recent time production increased 63 per cent whereas employment in the same period increased only 14 per cent. The increasing gap between production and workers' opportunity to earn money with which to purchase production Mooney cited as the greatest problem facing the economist and the proposal to shorten working hours was offered as the union's solution.

PORTER IN ADDRESS

Mayor Porter, as both Mayor and a member of the union telegraphers, made a brief talk in which he mostly told of splendid things that he said his administration is doing. He said that when he took office many municipal boards and commissions were in disharmony but that now he has most of them reorganized and working smoothly.

"I am now attempting to remove one of the water and power commissioners," he said, "because he would not co-operate either with me or other members of the commission."

He held out the promise that no unemployment would be created here by laying anybody off the city pay roll.

Several thousand persons attended the picnic which was an all-day affair and constituted union labor's official celebration of what Buzzell declared is the union's holiday. There were a score of contests including a tug of war in which a roofers' team won the standing cup from the machinists' team, champions of last year.

THOUSANDS ATTEND SALVATION ARMY PICNIC

More than 1000 children and parents of the members and officers of the Los Angeles and South Coast division of the Salvation Army gathered yesterday for annual field day exercises celebrating Labor Day, in Centinela Park, Inglewood. The affair was under supervision of Brig. James C. Bell, commanding officer of the division.

One of the interesting awards, for which many contested, was that of the cash prize for the child with the most freckles. This was unanimously voted to Mildred Fowler, 1044 Brett street, Inglewood.

Other prizes were awarded as follows: Peanut hunt, to Josephine Call, 1132 Arizona street, Los Angeles; fifty-yard dash for girls from 8 to 12, to Florence Grate, 245 South Thomas, Lincoln Heights; married couples' race, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Buchanan, Belvedere Gardens Corps; girls' cartwheel race, Peggy Smock, Belvedere Gardens; boys', Hubert O'Reilly, Montebello Gardens.

A football game was played with Art Kimball of Corps No. 2, Los Angeles, as one captain, and Tommy Hughes of No. 1, as the other. Kimball's team won.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THIS singular tragedy of the little boy chewed up by a tiger at the zoo—

It would be no surprise to anyone who has talked to animal trainers. The worst animals in the world in point of cussedness are polar bears, leopards and tigers. Lions are reasonably safe.

The great thing with a lion is to keep his attention riveted somewhere. When you see actors working in pictures with lions what you do not see is a man standing just outside the cage—or in a corner—with a buggy whip. He never permits the lion to take his eyes off the threat of that whip. He is too occupied looking at the whip to take time to chew up the movie queen in the scene.

Like all cats, lions are particularly susceptible to sudden motion. When anything goes wrong on an animal set everyone is instructed to stand perfectly still. Not the easiest order to obey.

READY, SET, GO!

By this time in the morning every scenario writer in Hollywood will be at work furiously writing the screen version of the news dispatch about the young lady who inherits a fortune if she marries the brother of her dead fiance. She is trying frantically to find him.

In the screen version she will find another sweetheart, sacrifice her fortune to marry him; then find out he was the brother in disguise all the time.

FIGHTING MEN

The promotion of Gen. Mosely shows that the government is giving belated recognition to the deeds of daring in the Philippine insurrection.

Even the fury of the Battle of San Juan Hill was duck soup compared with fighting the Filipinos—shots that came mysteriously out of dark jungles—bolo men who bounced out of nowhere with fierce two-handed swords—darkness — jungles — ambuscades . . .

My old friend, Col. G. A. Byram, said that the troops in the islands had an even tougher foe to handle—the Malays of Sulu. Col. Byram had fought the Apaches and the Sioux, but he said the Malays were the most terrible fighting men in the world. Death was just a popular form of entertainment to them.

THE ENSENADA MURDER

It seems very remarkable that an insane stabbing fiend could have been wandering around Southern California for weeks before the slaughter of Lois Kentle and Francis Conlon at Ensenada, without his presence being reported to the police.

The police cannot be everywhere and know everything. The least that private citizens can do is to keep them posted on what is going on.

As one who worked at the next desk to "S. S. Van Dine" in The Times office, I feel qualified to say that the "love revenge" theory in this case is the bunk and the detectives have wasted their time in that regard. The unusual ferocity—even the location of the girl's wounds—indicate a disordered mind.

LIP READING TAUGHT FREE

Free courses in lip reading are to be given at Van Nuys Evening High School to residents of San Fernando Valley who are hard of hearing. The classes will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. each Monday and Thursday. The school announces there are no books to buy, and no tuition. The first class will meet Thursday.

Suspected Visitors at Murdered Engaged Couple's Ensenada Beach Camp Hunte

LIQUOR BOTTLE PUZZLE DEEPENS

New Angle of Investigation into Murder Followed

Barkeepers Deny Intoxicant Was Bought at Saloon

Mystery Trip Made Here by Mexican Official

Denials made yesterday by barkeepers at Rosario, Mexican resort, of reports that Francis Conlon, Pasadena football player, and his fiancee, Lois Kentle, stopped at the saloon, en route to Ensenada, where they were murdered, and that Conlon may have obtained the bottle of liquor, found empty on the sands near the couple's bodies, according to Mexican police there, opened a new angle of investigation into the slaying last night.

It has been revealed by close friends of Conlon that he had traded paint and varnish for liquor at Rosario and it was believed the empty bottle was from such a trade.

The declaration that Conlon obtained none at Ensenada by barmen there, and establishment of the fact he had none when he left Tia Juana, laid open the possibility that a third or more parties took the bottle to Conlon and Miss Kentle at their beach camp.

SECOND MAN REPORTED

Mexican authorities were following this lead yesterday, with more credence lent to it by reports from Ensenada natives that a second man was seen with the couple the day before they were slain.

Their bodies—horribly gashed by a knife—were discovered a week ago this morning, half buried in a shallow sand grave between their tent and the surf.

A mystery trip to Los Angeles and Long Beach yesterday by Francisco LaMadrid, San Diego representative of the Governor of Lower California, indicated that border officers believe the trail of the double killer leads back to the United States.

PERMITS CHECKED

Detective-Lieutenant Filkas of the Los Angeles police homicide squad and La Madrid were in Long Beach checking, it was reported, on several holders of permits issued for Mexican vacations on the same day that Conlon and Miss Kentle crossed the line.

It also was established yesterday that Miss Kentle and Conlon were acquainted with two aviators—one of whom was supposed to have accompanied them on the fatal vacation.

One of these men, a navy flyer, over whom Miss Kentle was said by friends to have wept when she learned of his marriage, was reported to be in Seattle, Wash., on government duty.

The other, a close friend of Conlon, has been questioned by police. They did not know, however, that he also is a flyer and may have been one of the men in the mystery airplane that landed near Los Angeles at 4 a.m. the day after the slaying. One of the two passengers fled and the ship took off toward the north. It was never located, but deputy sheriffs were told by those who witnessed the early morning landing that the men came from below the border.

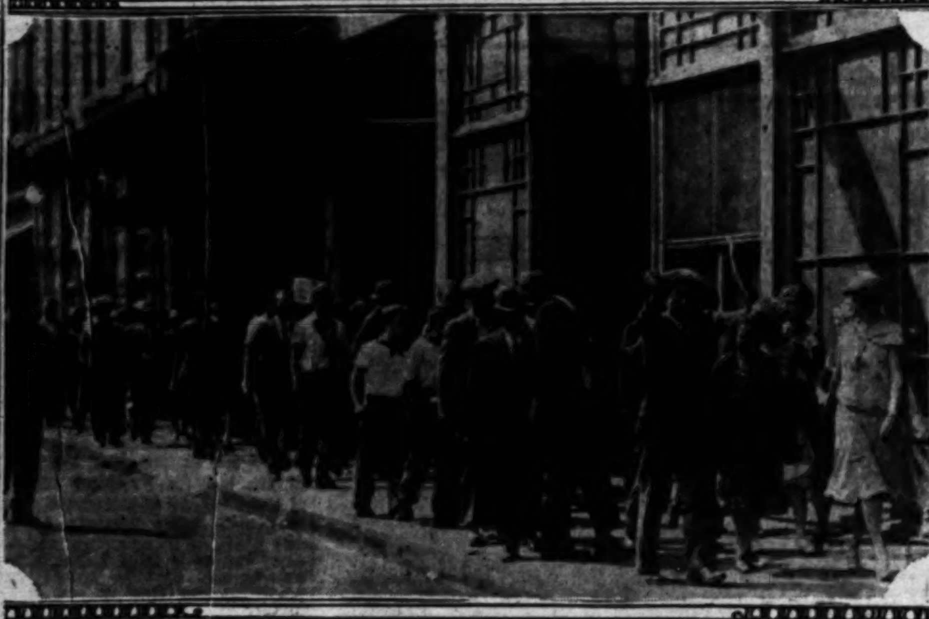
MANIAC DESCRIBED

While police of two nations were running down every clew trying to solve the baffling slaying, radio announcers were broadcasting a complete description of the maniac who may have done the knifing.

This man, who left a trail of terror southward from Capistrano Beach, and who is known to have been in Tia Juana the day before the murder, is the object of an intense search.

He is dark—either American or Mexican—about 40 years of age, is 5 feet, 10 inches in height, weighs 180 pounds, has dark hair streaked with gray, and has a prominent gold front tooth. He was last seen driving an old open touring car bearing a Utah license.

Communists Foiled in Efforts to Stir Up Strife



During Height of Disturbance in Plaza Area

Police officers herding asserted Communists along Arcadia street away from the Plaza to Alameda street, where the agitators were scattered.

New Claim Filed Over Quarantine

Tallman Trask, Boy Scout executive, for the second time is making a persistent effort to collect $800 from Los Angeles county for an asserted loss to the Scout organization this summer because of the infantile paralysis quarantine at Catalina Island.

County health authorities quarantined the Pasadena Boy Scout camp at the island. The boys were held there an extra thirteen days. According to Trask, the camp was subjected to extra heavy expense.

In a previous ruling Deputy County Counsel McAllaster held that the county is not liable for payment of the claim.

OFFICERS BALK REDS AT PLAZA

the Plaza. Turned back by the police cordon they milled about along North Main street, only to be kept on the move by other officers stationed along that thoroughfare. Then arrests followed in quick succession as the chagrined Reds made short-lived efforts to display inflammatory banners and distribute handbills. The literature contained pleas for defense of the Chinese revolution and release of Imperial Valley sabotage-plot prisoners, as well as the advice: "Don't Starve—Fight!"

Most of those arrested, when taken in custody, appeared bent on goading the police to use violence; but the officers in each instance cautiously refrained and were rewarded by scratches and kicks on the shins especially from the women prisoners. One squat woman sympathizer persisted in inviting arrest by repeatedly circling the block bounded by Main, Commercial, Los Angeles and Arcadia streets and excoriating policemen for odering her to keep moving; but she failed of her purpose.

The most concerted attempt to hold anything like an organized meeting was made suddenly at Main and Arcadia streets by about thirty men, women and children, the latter being members of a Junior Communistic League and wearing flaming red scarfs about their throats. As they made their first move, however, to form a circle about a would-be orator a squad of police herded them away from the district. Eastward they were marched, singing inflammatory songs about "liberty" and "fight" and hurling epithets at the uniforms behind them, until they reached Alameda street. There they were dispersed; and this, Lieut. Hynes said, probably "tore the heart out of further plans." From that time on there was no effort at defiance.

All but four of the demonstrators arrested during the afternoon were released on bail and appeared on the platform at an outdoor Red rally last night at Walker's Auditorium, 730 South Grand avenue. There they were greeted as heroes and several of their number made fiery speches in which they reiterated their devotion to the Red cause. The high note of the evening, however, was a "pledge of allegiance" to Communism recited in unison by a group of girls appearing to average about 12 years of age.

SHOW THRONGED ON OPENING DAY

show are also given an opportunity to look them over at closer range by means of a structure called the Radiovision Bungalow, which brings to mind Irvin Cobb's famous simile as to the privacy of a goldfish.

For the bungalow, which is supposed to be a sort of greenroom where the performers can make themselves at home while awaiting their turns, has walls of plate glass and within it are microphones, so that every movement of the "resting" entertainers is visible and every sound they make is relayed to the watching crowds through loud speakers issuing from the bungalow's roof. And to make watching comfortable a small grandstand has been put up opposite the front of the bungalow. Needless to say, this grandstand was filled all day yesterday.

THE NEW RADIOS

As to the exhibits, every receiving set in the show is being shown for the first time in Southern California and some are receiving their world premieres. The sets range in price from $89.50 to a beautiful Chinese lacquer and ivory cabinet valued at $859. In general it was discernible that the tendency is distinctly toward the small cabinet, numerous models less than a foot square being on exhibition.

This tendency has spread even to the manufacture of combination sets, one local company showing a combination radio and phonograph which is scarcely more than a foot square and weighs only thirty-two pounds.

Flights of fancy are mainly evident in this matter of combination sets, radio receivers being shown in pieces of furniture which also serve as tables, desks, bookcases, safes, and even grandfather's clocks. The most inclusive combination shown is the Modeska, which is at one and the same time a beautiful secretary, bookcase, piano, phonograph and radio receiving set.

FEATURES OF EXHIBIT

Another noticeable feature at the show this year is a desire on the part of the cabinet-makers to have receiving sets harmonize in design and color with the furnishings of any type of room in which they may be desired, parlor, bedroom or kitchen. Altgether there are eighty-five separate exhibits, representing the output of more than 1000 manufacturers of receiving sets or of specific equipment.

For the pure radio enthusiast who has scientific leanings there are numerous technical displays of the latest features in radio science. At one booth, conducted by the interference department of the association sponsoring the exposition, there is a lecturer in attendance who was kept busy continuously yesterday at his task of explanation.

AMATEUR'S HANDIWORK

Another booth which was popular with the technically minded is that of the Amateur Radio Research Club, where a large home-built sending set made by Dr. Simeon A. Young was the recipient of much critical study.

Considerable attention was attracted also by the model of a central receiving unit for use in hotels, office buildings, etc., which can furnish programs to 225 loud speakers or to 3000 headphones at one time. Furthermore, it was said, all the programs need not come from one station, but by the use of switchboard equipment, programs from several different stations may be distribute simultaneously from the central receiving unit.

Popular interest as well as technical was attracted by the "radio museum," where the amazingly swift advance of radio science was illustrated by a succession of models of receiving sets, from the rudimentary affairs of only ten years ago to the latest "super-super-supers."

Girl Reported Kidnap Victim

Isabelle Aguilar, 19 years of age, was reported to the police as having been kidnaped last night from her home, 7039 Alabama street, Owensmouth, by a youth who had been courting her.

Raymond Aguilar, the girl's brother, told valley police he heard her scream and ran to the door in time to see her being speeded away in an automobile. He gave the police the name and description of the asserted kidnaper.

Boys Accused of Auto Thefts

Accused of stealing automobiles, five boys ranging from 14 to 18 years of age were under arrest yesterday.

The boys, Joe Penoncelli, Sam King, Carl Barnes, Lee Higgins and Earl Ferris, were arrested yesterday morning after Special Deputy Sheriff Davis and a citizen, L. Blanchard of Monterey Park, caught the first three in the act of stealing two cars from the rear of a dance hall in Maywood, according to a Sheriff's report.

In making statements, the three boys first apprehended involved Higgins and Ferris, deputy sheriffs reported. Two of the boys were held in Juvenile Hall and three in the County Jail.

der is blowing into the air. It is this situation that leading oil officials wish to remedy, they assert.

The three meetings this week will bring together oil officials who have been actively engaged for months in working out a curtailment program that will reduce production to the minimum and still not work too great a hardship on the smaller producers. H. Paul Grimm, umpire for thirty-one oil fields in the State, and Neil H. Anderson, umpire for fields in the Los Angeles basin, will attend to give their reports on curtailment. The Venice oil field, discovered last December and which at present is the cause of much of the State's overproduction, will probably be placed under a new group with several fields in the San Joaquin Valley. Changes in methods of reducing the flow of oil from the more important fields in the San Joaquin Valley will probably be put into effect, it is said.

Orsatti, operating in Los Angeles and San Francisco as a real-estate man, is scheduled to appear today before United States District Judge Cosgrave for sentence on two counts of a Federal indictment. Orsatti pleaded guilty to a charge of evading the income tax and of perjury in connection with the making of his income-tax return. He is at liberty on bail.

The case has been continued from time to time during the last year during reported attempts to bring about a compromise with the government as to the payment of the tax.

"La Boheme" to be Interpreted

"La Boheme," the opening number of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association, will be interpreted by Dr. Bruce G. Kingsley at Bullock's tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. Merle Armitage, manager of the opera association, will open the series and give a short resume of the stars appearing this season. Dr. Kingsley's interpretations are well known to Los Angeles music lovers, this being his fourth season at Bullock's.

"La Boheme" is a story of Paris as seen through the eyes of the gay Bohemians of the Latin quarter.

SHULER CLASH DUE AT TRIAL

's Hearing Expected to be Enlivened Today of Pastor's Pamphlet in Killing at Issue

ther Alienist will Tell of Slayer's Reactions

The part that Rev. R. P. Shuler y or may not have played in in- ncing the shooting of Motley , Los Angeles banker, will be- e a subject of controversy today the trial of Frank D. Keaton, of shooting Flint to death, in Superior Judge 's court.

The record already shows the testimony of Dr. Thomas J. alienist, that Keaton told when he entered Superior Judge 's courtroom and listened to testimony in the Selznick that "all those things that Shuler had said over the radio came into my mind. I became very much about my losses that Shu- were due to those thieves . It crowded into my and then I shot him as he through the gate."

Dr. Victor Parkin, also an , is scheduled to take the stand and tell what he dis- in questioning Keaton.

to this is the announce- of Dep. Dist.-Attys. Bur- and Russell, prosecuting the , that they will cross-examine fully concerning any relating to Shuler.

The minister's name was brought the case when arresting officers after taking Keaton into cus- that they found a pamphlet in pocket written by Shuler be- Flint and others for their in the Julian Petroleum Cor- collapse.

At first the arresting officers de- knowledge of the pamphlet, as- they had taken a pamphlet Keaton's pocket but did not its nature.

Shuler then announced that the pamphlet had been "planted" among Keaton's effects to cast a reflection on him.

Wed Without License, Wife Gains Divorce

No marriage license marked Mrs. Cortes's marriage, but she a legal divorce, Superior Judge ruled in granting a decree her union with Enrico Cortes.

Mrs. Cortes said she met her hus- while aboard a steamship to America, and that they married in New Jersey with- a license, May 10, 1927. Later, she said, Cortes sent her and her children to Detroit and van- ished.

Judge wich held that under Jersey's common-law statute marriage was valid, and that a order was necessary to dis- it. He also granted Mrs. Cor- custody of her children.

WOMAN SUES BUS LINE FOR DAMAGES

Damages amounting to $10,500 are in a law suit filed by Bernice Saunders against the Los Motor Coach Company for shock and permanent in- received when one of the of the company crashed into automobile. According to the complaint, filed by Attorney Roger , she was sitting in a car on Western avenue when motor coach ran into it. The asserts she sustained a se- mental shock and physical in-

HOMELY, BUT AWFULLY SWEET

No, No, Her Fish's Ugly, Not Her Face

Eunice Billingsley and a Sculpin

"THEY may say that a sculpin is the meanest fish in the sea, but he is the sweetest eating to me," said Eunice Billingsley as she sat on the Olympic barge at Hermosa Beach and hauled in a large basketful of her favorite fish.

While other fishermen around her hauled in large numbers of the more sporty types of fish, Miss Billingsley stuck to her sculpin fishing till she had her basket full. The fact that the sculpin has poisonous thorns on his back and is one of the ugliest fish that swims is probably what makes them unattractive to other fishermen, according to Miss Billingsley.

January Grand Jury will Work on Final Report

For the next two days the January Federal grand jury will grind out its final report to the United States District Court. The jury is completing six months of work, involving many indictments of importance, in most of which convictions were obtained.

It was intimated the last two-day session of the grand jury will include the presentation of testimony regarding asserted misuse of the mails in connection with the operations of a large land company.

A new Federal grand jury, to act for the next six months, will be impaneled shortly.

Alimony Asked from Rich Wife

Seeking alimony from his wealthy wife, Irvin Powell, 64 years of age, is due to appear today before Superior Judge Westover. Pending suit for divorce from Mrs. Irene N. Powell, 44, the husband asks $150 a month alimony, asserting his wife is in possession of all their community property, valued at $100,000.

Powell's complaint contains accusations that his wife once tried to stab him and assertions that he lived in fear of poisoning if he ate or drank at home. Mrs. Powell filed a cross-complaint asking a divorce and $200 a month alimony.

Toy Balloons Released Over Sea Protested

Toy balloons turned loose over the ocean by airplanes as advertisements are dangerous for bathers, according to Supt. Hoyt of the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Department. He reports that beach guards are driven nearly frantic in their efforts to rescue bathers who vie with each other to swim out and capture the balloons.

"These swimmers use every effort to get out in the water and get the balloons, and then find they are winded and without strength to return," said Hoyt.

Hoyt has written various oil concerns and other concerns that advertise in this manner to discourage the practice, and reports that when informed of the menace to bathers the companies readily agree.

Five Youths Arrested for Theft Series

Declared by deputy sheriffs to have admitted criminal activities lasting over a period of more than a year, five youths ranging from 15 to 17 years of age were arrested yesterday.

The boys were taken in custody after they are asserted by officers to have confessed to taking a number of golf clubs and bags from the Royal Palms Golf Club several months ago. They gave their names as Tom Brown, Archie Provost, Jack Carmichael, Jim Edwards and Woodrow Wade, all of the Lawndale-Hawthorne district. The Wade boy was taken to Juvenile Hall and the others to the County Jail.

Statements from the boys involved each in some crime, embracing from eighteen to twenty burglaries, two or three stolen automobiles and other thefts, according to officers.

Probation Plea of Woman will be Heard Today

Ella Fernekes, convicted of aiding her husband in passing spurious checks forged against Los Angeles motion-picture studios upon Los Angeles merchants, today is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Wood for a hearing on her application for probation.

Mrs. Fernekes first was taken into custody for her asserted attempts to aid her husband, Frank Fernekes, to escape from the custody of an officer who was returning him to Los Angeles from Texas for trial.

Fernekes leaped from the window of a train, but was recaptured ten days later by Texas officers.

Mrs. Fernekes maintained that she believed the checks to be bona fide.

Patrolman Shot by Burglar Pair

Sheriff's office investigators last night were searching for two burglars who early yesterday morning shot E. R. Bell, 43 years of age, Crescent Height patrolman, when the officer came upon the two men attempting to force entrance into a residence.

Bell was given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a bullet wound in the left arm. He was pronounced not seriously injured and allowed to go home.

The patrolman, according to a Sheriff's report, was shot when he attempted to capture the two men when he observed them trying to jimmy the screen of a window in the residence of Carl Hovey, 8331 De Longpre avenue.

CLUB DEATH TRIAL MAY BE PUT OFF

McCabe Case Expected to be Delayed from Day to Day Pending Reyna Fate

Wilbur McCabe, accused of murdering Henry P. Miller, night clerk at the Los Angeles University Club on June 17, last, when Miller refused to be robbed and fought him with a pocket knife, is scheduled to go to trial today in Superior Judge McComb's court.

McCabe last week was permitted to amend his plea of not guilty and add the plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

The defendant, however, is not expected to be brought to trial until the trial of Juan Reyna, charged with murdering a police officer, is finished. Consequently the case probably will be continued from day to day until the Reyna trial is concluded.

McCabe was captured, according to officers, by detectives who followed a trail of blood from the University Club to his apartment. He was arrested there, his face still bleeding from knife wounds inflicted by Miller, according to the officers.

STREET NOT NEEDED

The City Council is in accord with the request of the Board of Education that a portion of Twentieth street between Barnard Park and the school property be abandoned, it not being needed after the opening and widening of Flower street.

Private Rites for Dr. Zerfing will be Today

Private funeral services will be conducted today at the J. D. Paris chapel for Dr. Charles E. Zerfing, Los Angeles physician who died Sunday afternoon at the Queen of the Angels Hospital following a short illness. Dr. Zerfing had been a resident of this city thirty years.

He was born in Ashville, Pa., in 1873 and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania medical school. After an extended European tour he began his practice in the hospitals of Vienna. For more than twenty-five years during the time he had been a resident of Los Angeles he lived at the Hotel Leighton. He was not married.

The funeral services this afternoon will be followed by cremation.

Two Wives Too Many for Him

Two complaints which ask annulment of his marriages with two women have been filed by Garth D. Parr in the Superior Court.

Parr complains that he married Sudi Holt Parr in Atlanta, Ga., December 15, 1923, and that several weeks later he learned she had been convicted of violating the Harrison Narcotic Act and had been sentenced to the penitentiary.

In 1925, he sets up in another complaint, he met and married Charlotte Wanda Parr and that his marriage with Sudi Holt Parr had never been voided, contrary to his belief.

SCHOOL AGAIN

Wool School Dresses $5.95
The new light weight woolen dresses at such a price are values worthy of this outstanding value-month at Bullock's! Jerseys with tweed-knit pleated skirts all in one piece as sketched above. And quaint print washable wool challis with pique collars. Sizes 7 to 14.

Tailored Velva Coats $16.50
An outstanding achievement of this September at Bullock's is the securing of these beautifully tailored coats in the new Velva material to sell for $16.50! Cleverly set-in pockets and cluster tucks under the collar as sketched above. Cordova Brown—Sherwood Green. Sizes 7 to 14.

The New Rayon Shorts for 75c
The new rayon shorts for Fall school days are fitted close at the knee with elastic bands . . like these Bullock's is selling for 75c. Sizes 10 to 16. Double brassieres to match 85c. Sketched above.

Wiles of Merilla!

"Well," I said, "what is it?" after Merilla had been following me around wistfully for about an hour.

"Oh, nothing," she said quickly.

"Nothing what?" I persisted from long years of experience.

"Nothing . . . only Wednesday is the first day of school. Today is just registering, you know. And usually all the girls wear something new for the 'first day.' Some of them had new things today."

"There was one dress, a jersey, with a kind of tweed-knit pattern in the blouse and a dark pleated skirt (only $5.95 at Bullock's.) . . . And I do need a new coat. They have some at Bullock's of Velva. I don't suppose you know what Velva is, but it's a soft wool with a kind of silvery frosted finish, so it would do for both school and best. That's only $16.50 . . . . "

"Ummm, yes," I said, "anything else?"

"Of course you don't have to buy me all of those things if you don't want to, but . . . "

You can see how that worked out by the line-up above and Merilla's triumphant air!

Latin Quarter Berets for $1
Even a 7-to-14 knows how becoming is a Latin Quartier beret pulled tightly on her head with just a fluff of hair showing over each ear! Like the ones in new Fall colors Bullock's is selling now for $1. Copper—Navy—Black—White—Blue—Green, etc.

"Twin" Sweaters $4.95 and $5.95
Another value in school clothes for this value month is the "twin" sweaters just like grown-ups Bullock's has secured to sell for slip-ons $4.95, cardigans $5.95! Many colored Roman stripes and monotone shaded stripes. As sketched above. Sizes 8 to 14.

Oxfords With Straps $5.85
Like English brogues, the new Fall school oxfords for girls, have two smart straps buckled across the lacing as sketched above. At Bullock's in two-toned brown calf for $5.85. Sizes 11½ to 2.

Today's Bible Text

Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified.—II Thess. iii, 1.

ROLLING PIN

Ellen Braumueller tossed the javelin 40.27 meters the other day and beat the world's record for a woman. Another German sister had held the record at 39.36 meters. What chance would any mere man have with a rolling pin in the paws of those Big Berthas?

BREAD LINE

Nine years ago 10,000,000 Russians owed their lives to American bread. The other day Agricultural Commissioner Yakovleff opened his speech at the Communist party convention with a three-column gloat over the plight of American farmers. The sovietists have conveniently short memories.

FEED WHEAT TO STOCK

Authorities at the Michigan College of Agriculture declare that the farmers in the Middle West can feed wheat to their cattle at a profit of $10 above the use of corn. This should help dispose of the surplus wheat problem. But the average dirt farmer hates to think that he is raising the bearded grain for the purpose of fattening live stock.

THE GREEN SOUTH

An authority insists that it is to the South that the nation must look for its reforestation projects. Because of the mild climate, plenteous rainfall and other amiable conditions there are trees which obtain their maximum growth in the Southland within thirty years that would require nearly a century in the North. That would make a heavy percentage in favor of the South, but there is no objection to both sections doing all they can in the restoration of the green. Let them go to it.

FROM THE FROZEN PAST

From a small snowbound island in the Arctic Seas to a Norwegian port almost unknown to the world at large the little sealer Bratvaag has just completed a slow and tortuous passage, carrying on board no material treasure, no newly gained scientific data, nothing to contribute to the wealth or progress of the human race. Its precious cargo, awaited by all civilization with the intensest interest, consists of the remains of three frozen bodies and a diary and log written thirty-three years ago about conditions which later exploration and discovery must have long since discounted.

Yet the bringing back of the remains and records of the three Arctic explorers who a third of a century ago perished in a futile balloon attempt to reach the North Pole, Salomon Andree, Strindberg and Frankel, is today a first-page story read by millions in all parts of the world. Nor could the first printing of the latest work of the most famous of modern authors nor the release of the most highly advertised play or picture be awaited with more intense interest than the deciphering of the ice-incrusted and age-worn paper containing the last mortal words of a man who failed heroically.

There is here a lesson in human nature, its interests, hopes and ambitions, to form a text theme for the business man at his desk no less than for the preacher in his pulpit. A live dog is not always better than a dead lion. Incidents that appeal to the imagination—even when excavated from the icy tomb of a vanished generation—can stir the living to new deeds of daring and enterprise. Affection for the memory of a hero who failed desperately may outlast regard for the achiever of a prosaic success. Ezekiel's dry bones have risen again in the homage paid to the poor remains of the intrepid Andree.

From the tomb may arise—and, in fact, often has arisen—the inspiration for accomplishing mighty works the living could never arouse. Man feels a thrill of triumph in wresting from the implacable polar regions the secret frozen in its death chamber for thirty-three cold years. To have solved an impenetrable mystery after so long a lapse of time gives humanity fresh confidence in its power to wring from nature her most carefully guarded secrets.

These are doubtlessly some of the reasons why the docking of the Bratvaag in the harbor of Skjaer Island is an event of interest in countries far removed from the homes of these brave Scandinavians.

SCHOOL DAYS

September starts for the people of Los Angeles with four outstanding dates, Labor Day, Admission Day, the birthday of our city and the opening of schools. Of these perhaps we should give first place to the reassembling of our educational forces. Into their keeping today we again consign the fortunes of our industries, our State and our city. As they support or fail us we shall in years to come celebrate with greater or smaller satisfaction the early September days when California was admitted to the Union and Los Angeles was born in the wilderness.

Fortunately we have every guarantee that our cohorts of school children and our companies of school-teachers will continue to be for us an army of occupation in the cause of stability and progress. We may stumble sometimes in our efforts for curing the morally sick and for stamping out crime. We may make a sad mess, as we often do, of State and municipal politics. Our courts may not always dispense justice with the speed and accuracy we desire. We may even doubt that our churches are reaching the people today as they did when life was simpler and less complicated.

But in so far as the future of our State and city depends on the schools of Los Angeles we have nothing to doubt and nothing to fear. We have a school board which in measuring up with the size of the task it is called upon to perform sets an example for every institution in the State. We have a school superintendent from childhood part and parcel of the educational system of this city, able from his long experience in the past to build successfully for the future, to whom the generalship of our vast educational army is a labor of love. And behind him we have a staff of teachers in the main loyal to the principles of American government and conscious of their responsibilities.

With these helps half the battle is won. Yet we should be disregarding the main factor in our school successes if we rested our case here. The other half consists in the children and youths, the boys and girls through whom teachers, superintendents and educational boards must stamp the character and attributes of the citizenship by which we shall be judged in the years to come.

Los Angeles congratulates itself, and very properly, on being now the fifth city of America in the number of its residents. Our schools can boast with equal satisfaction that they have more than kept pace with the city's growth in the number of pupils enrolled. But Los Angeles has a higher ambition than to be fifth in quantity, that of being first in quality. And its realization rests on the quality more than on the numerical attendance of its school children. It is here that our hopes are highest and our future best assured.

No one could take even a cursory view of the boys and girls of Los Angeles, returning this week, not heavily, but cheerily, to our schools and colleges, without being impressed with the health and confidence and wholesomeness which they radiate through all their surroundings. It does the heart good to contemplate the type of young life we have developed through the freedom and sunshine and the release from hampering conventions enjoyed in the new civilization of the West. The knowledge that these brave and strong and graceful children are going back to admirably managed schools to be converted into the best gold of American citizenship compensates every parent of Los Angeles for any doubts he may harbor of our success in other lines and for any criticism directed against us for some of our hold-over crudities.

We may not be quite contented with the present. But watching the children return to school, we have nothing but the brightest anticipations for the future of our city.

UNION RACKETEERING

One of the most startling editorials ever to appear in the Hearst newspapers, probably, was Arthur Brisbane's salute to Labor Day in which he named, as the distinctively union labor contribution to present commercial depression, Union Labor Racketeering. The capitals are Brisbane's. There is no novelty in the discovery; the startling thing is that this truth should be acknowledged in the Hearst newspaper chain, which has been regarded as a consistent supporter of unionism. The racketeering, Mr. Brisbane adds, is not the product of gangsters, but of officials of the unions; and he points out further that the members do not benefit from it.

"The probable cost of union labor blackmail," says Brisbane, "is a substantial item that contractors add to the sum total when they make bids. Usually the blackmail is paid as the shortest way out. Sometimes it is refused and buildings are dynamited, some killed. . . . Our greatest industries are 'open shop,' the automobile industry, for instance, with hundreds of thousands employed. That industry has led the way in higher wages, but not through unions. Its leaders will tell you, 'We cannot subject our industry to the hazards of blackmailing enterprises.'"

Louis Adamic, who writes in the current Harper's Magazine on a similar topic, declares that racketeering, dynamiting, slugging and violence are essential by-products of unionism, inherent and inevitable incidents of class struggle. It is not necessary to take this interpretation of the facts he musters; they can be interpreted quite differently. He ignores, for instance, such examples as the automobile industry, which, in Mr. Brisbane's language, led the way to higher wages without unionism; the motion-picture industry, which did the same thing, and other open-shop industries which, in Los Angeles, pay average annual incomes to workers much higher than those in closed-shop cities.

Adamic, who in gathering his material had heart-to-heart talks with labor leaders who freely admitted dynamiting and other tactics of violence, cites twenty-one cases of major dynamitings in connection with union racketeering in the past five years—the recent airplane dynamitings in the Kentucky coal fields not included—and declares that without them the unions concerned would have "passed out."

"Prior to the emergence of the A. F. of L.," says Adamic, "few leaders received any salaries from their unions; they were for the most part lop-sided idealists, third-rate political schemers and windbags, who used labor groups on which to exercise their oratorical talents. Now the leaders drew regular salaries and there were in addition all kinds of opportunities for graft, 'legitimate' and otherwise; and some of them began to sport diamonds, silk shirts and cars and to die from overeating. The unions were their bread and butter, and so, when capitalists threatened, by various means, to wreck their unions, they naturally stopped at nothing to save them, not even dynamite. And this as true today as it was twenty or twenty-five years ago, when the McNamaras were still at large."

Adamic believes that eventually all the unions in Chicago will be controlled by such gang leaders as Al Capone, who will give them, on the one hand, protection from other gang leaders, and on the other hand furnish the violence necessary to keep the unions from disintegrating or losing their dominance. Capone, he predicts, will make use of the unions both politically and to gain control of the entire contracting business.

"Capone," the author quotes a labor leader as saying, "may mean more to the unions than our high-toned executives of the A. F. of L. in Washington." He was thinking, the author explains, of immediate benefits to certain unions. Though Adamic declares the connection between gangs and unionism will in the long run, in all probability, do the unions harm, he can see nothing to be done about it.

There is, however, something that can be done about it. That something is the establishment of the open shop with a square deal guaranteed to both workers and employers.

A BALANCE

The automobile may be killing off useful American citizens of this country at the rate of thirty-some thousand a year. But now comes the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and declares that more than 4,700,000 persons owe their livelihood directly or indirectly to the automotive industry. Thus does nature preserve a balance and keep us out of the red.

DIMES

John D. Rockefeller does not consider, or he would not throw his dimes away so recklessly. Oscar Bodenhausen, a traveling salesman, saved his dimes for twenty years and banked them monthly. Now he will take a six months' trip around the world on them. Talk about making a dime go a long way!

LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

HAVE you an outdoor bathtub in your home?

Southern California is getting to be a great place for family swimming pools. A few years ago a swimming pool in one's own yard was a luxury of the whimsical rich. If things go on at the present rate they'll soon be almost as common as garages.

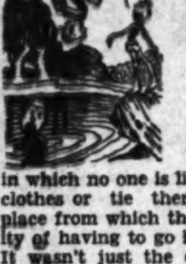
The other day Mr. and Mrs. James Gleason invited friends to their home for an afternoon of "swimming, tea and talk." And the invitations didn't excite a ripple because such parties are frequent. Yet we recall that about ten years ago Doug and Mary Fairbanks returned home from their honeymoon or some such jaunt and Doug astonished the reporters who formed the receiving line at their home by leaping into the swimming pool with all his clothes on. "What!" exclaimed the average reader, "a swimming pool in his own yard! How recklessly extravagant those motion-picture people are."

The New Swimmin' Hole

New swimming pools are looked on as necessities by a lot of motion-picture folks. Not only do they provide entertainment for one's guests, but they help keep down the waistline. "I gained seven pounds in just a week or so, playing around between pictures," Lawrence Tibbett told us recently, "but now I'm swimming six times a day and getting in fine shape again." We were sitting beside the pool at his home as we talked and he was wearing a very distinctive robe over his bathing suit. We say "distinctive," because it was not one a mandarin would have envied him. It isn't every actor of Lawrence's standing whose robe would not have been regal and resplendent.

Then Tibbett's two 10-year-old sons appeared and wanted him to join them in a swim. The family pool has one great advantage over the family car—the children and the parents can use it at the same time. Modern kids may miss the romance of the old swimmin' hole, but they have all the benefits of the new swimmin' hole with no danger of lickings.

Old Things Best—in Some Ways



And yet—is not this a too-perfected age? What James Whitcomb Riley of today is going to immortalize the new swimmin' hole? Can the kids enjoy swimming as much in a place in which no one is likely to steal their clothes or tie them into knots—a place from which there is no possibility of having to go home in a barrel? It wasn't just the cold water which sent a chill along your spine when you leaped into the old swimmin' hole. It was the half-believed suspicion that that boy whose mother had named him Eustace and you had renamed Useless had made good on his threat to put horsehair into your swimmin' hole—horsehair which would turn into snakes and bite you.

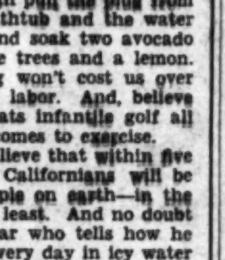
It wasn't just the deep "step-off" in one end of the old swimmin' hole which made your every visit to it tingle with danger—it was the knowledge that your dad was going to give you a hiding if he ever caught you at it again. And, what with other kids lying in ambush to swipe your clothes and hide them, or wet them and then tie them into knots, what a fine chance there was that dad would catch you at it!

And yet the kids of those days learned to swim!

But now where would your enemies get horsehair, anyway? Perhaps it's just as well that the old swimmin' hole has given place to the new.

Anyone May Have 'Em

What we started out to say, though, is that family swimming pools no longer are the luxuries of the whimsical rich. When we Southern Californians go in for anything we all go in for it. Look at sun bathing—as so many of us have looked. Look at outdoor fireplaces. And now look at the common or garden variety of swimming pool. Why, even reporters may have them now. We are building one in our own back yard with our own fair hands. Ever since we learned that ordinary mortals with no more brains than the average writer has can mix cement and concrete, we've been making all sorts of mud pies about our house. And the other day we were over to see George Dewey, the artist, who is building a whole house and retaining wall of concrete made and poured by himself. Pretty soon we hope to be able to let our twenty-mule-team quartet dash out into the back yard and paddle around just as Lawrence Tibbett's kids do—and then they can pull the plug from their outdoor bathtub and the water will run down and soak two avocado trees, two orange trees and a lemon. The whole thing won't cost us over $10, besides the labor. And, believe us, the labor beats infantile golf all hollow when it comes to exercise.



Anyhow, we believe that within five years Southern Californians will be the cleanest people on earth—in the summer time, at least. And no doubt all winter the liar who tells how he takes a plunge every day in icy water will still be with us.

Joshua Little Says

This has been a pretty hard year for Mas, as Ma Ferguson might remark to Ma Kennedy.

Will Rogers says the Chamber of Commerce ought to try to bring the bootleggers' convention here. Why, I thought they met here along with some of the other conventions.

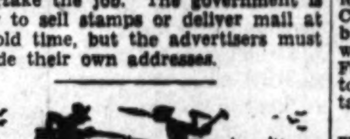
The Essanay studio in Chicago waited too long. It should have reopened while gangster stories still were "in."

MAKE IT DEEP, DAD!

Still, times are better than they used to be. Robin Hood made footprints on the sands of time and now he'd only make fingerprints.

NAME AND ADDRESS

The Postoffice Department declines to accept unaddressed mail. The stuff must be headed for some identifiable person. The administration will not even undertake to supply trick addresses. A card sent to "the Flying Colonel" will go to the dead-letter office instead of being placed on the trail of Col. Lindbergh. A great many business houses tried to prevail on the government to accept mail to be delivered to every house on a definite postal route—this without bearing any regular address. But the department refused to undertake the job. The government is ready to sell stamps or deliver mail at any old time, but the advertisers must provide their own addresses.



THE REWARD OF VIRTUE

By James J. Montague

We found the noble red man
In full possession here—
A savage shirk who looked on work
With superstitious fear.
He could not speak our language,
He could not read nor write,
And he was red and bad, we said,
While we were pure and white.
And that our higher virtue
He well might understand,
When he showed fight, we said "All right!"
And chased him off the land.

But just to show our motives
We're wholly on the square,
We let him stay around and play
In forests here and there.
And though he sometimes grumbled
And sometimes made a fuss,
We built him schools and taught him rules
So he could live like us.
And now he's tame and gentle
And filled with inward grace,
He does not whine and has no sign
Of war paint on his face.

And so, to prove how kindly
The pale-faced race can be
And bear no spite—though we are white
To creatures such as he,
And that we mean in future
To bridge the ancient rift,
From us he'll soon receive a boon—
A grand and gorgeous gift.
For now, that like us white men,
He's clad in pants and coat,
And does not fight and howl at night,
We're going to let him vote!

BOYHOOD OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

XI

WALTER C. TEAGLE

[This is the eleventh of a series of eighteen articles on the boyhood of famous Americans and telling how they got their start in life.]

BY J. V. FITZ GERALD

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

It was nearing commencement time at Cornell. The seniors were making their plans as to what they would do in the world that seemed so far removed from the campus on the hills overlooking the little up-State city of Ithaca. Walter C. Teagle was included in the group that was about to go out into the "cold, cold world," to follow the words of an undergraduate song.

He received word that his professor of chemistry would like to talk to him. Young Teagle had specialized in chemistry during his college course. He was what his fellow-students called a "shark" in the subject. Naturally he was a prime favorite with the head of the department.

He answered the summons promptly. The professor urged him to return to Cornell the following year to work for a Ph. D. degree. The educator offered him an instructorship in chemistry and held out high hopes that his prize pupil would eventually be promoted to a full professorship.

The salary of an instructor of chemistry was $600 a year. Young Teagle was highly gratified at the offer. He saw his way clear to work and study under the most pleasant conditions. A useful, if not a highly lucrative, career stretched before him.

The young man wrote home to his father, a leader in the oil industry in Cleveland, telling him the good news. The letter indicated that he would like to return to Cornell and to make teaching his life work perhaps. His father, in reply, ordered him to report at home as soon as possible, making no comment on the offer of a career that was evidently rather pleasing to his son.

The elder Teagle didn't mince words as to his opinion of the proposition when his boy arrived home. He pointed out that he had been allowing Walter $1200 a year while he was getting his education at Cornell. He added that he didn't feel inclined to make up the difference between that amount and the $600 of an instructor's pay.

Moreover, the father couldn't see any real promising future ahead for his son in a teaching career. Furthermore, he needed the boy in his oil business. So the young man was ordered to get a new suit of overalls and stand ready to use them as his working clothes until he knew the oil business at the bottom.

Walter Teagle was born in Cleveland in 1878 and knew a thing or two about oil even before he went to Cornell. As a youngster he spent much time around his father's refinery. He had served an apprenticeship, from time to time, at firing stills and unloading coal, for he was a powerfully built and strong lad.

He wasted no time in college as is shown by the fact that he completed a four-year course in three and stood high in his classes. He wrote the thesis for his degree on the subject of oil. That was a natural enough topic for him to select, considering the business his father was in and that his maternal grandfather, Morris B. Clark, was a partner of the senior John D. Rockefeller in the grain business and was later interested with him in oil ventures.

The first job at which his father put the recent college graduate was at firing a still. The pay was 19 cents an hour. The young man earned every penny of it by the sweat of his brow. Weighing over 200 pounds and standing 6 feet 3 inches, he could hold his own with any man on the shift. He didn't remain a laborer long. He knew too much about the industry to waste much time in such a job.

He inherited his liking for the business from his father. His progress was rapid as soon as his parent convinced him that the industry offered him much more than a teaching career. But the days as a laborer must have been trying, for all that, to the young man who had been a leader in the student life at Cornell with no hard work to do beyond studying his books and working on his experiments. Fortunately, he had the physique to stand up under his gruelling task.

He realized, once he went to work, that there was more to getting oil than merely putting down a well. He knew that it took wide knowledge to determine on a likely location for finding the crude product, that refining and transportation were problems requiring much study and wide experience.

He made up his mind to know the industry from the bottom up. His father's concern merged with the Republic company shortly after the young man entered the business. He was made a traveling auditor. While on this job he reached a country station and found the agent gone. He hitched up the horses and made the deliveries until a new representative arrived.

After three years with the Republic he became a Standard Oil man. He marketed the company's products abroad and was so successful that he was promoted to more responsible positions, finally being elected president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

If the teaching profession lost a distinguished member big business gained an outstanding leader when Walter Teagle's father persuaded him against becoming a Cornell instructor.

LETTERS TO The Times

Print Poll Place on Ballot

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is in this morning's Times a very interesting editorial on voting machines. I am writing particularly regarding the last three paragraphs of your editorial, in which you refer to the small slips which are always put in with the sample ballots, calling attention to the citizen's polling places. Those slips are very often lost and many people, forgetting the addresses, do not vote.

I have a suggestion which, I believe, would remedy that. Inasmuch as most people keep the sample ballots until election day, why could not the polling place be printed in red ink right on the sample ballot? I realize that this will cost a little extra because it would require the separate printing of the polling places of each ballot; but I do not believe that the cost would be very much more than the cost of the separate slips and, inasmuch as it would provide a permanent notice to the voter until election day on his sample ballot, the cost of printing it that way should not enter into consideration, because this prevents, in a very simple manner, voters forgetting their polling places.

Bunker Hill Parking

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I want to protest against the forty-five-minute parking limit recently established on Bunker Hill. This is not at all necessary, as there are very few places of business on the hill.

It is an extreme hardship on residents of the hill, as they cannot leave their cars at their own doors, nor can their visitors park for more than forty-five minutes.

It is a hardship on the poor people who parked there while shopping in the cheaper stores and markets near by. G. R.

Letters to Prisoners

TUJUNGA, Aug. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Folks everywhere are asked by the O. E. Library League of Washington, D. C., to enter into correspondence with prison inmates. Is that quite proper? I hear parents ask. Well, no harm can be done. A young lady writes to an unknown number like a friend with words of encouragement such as she can give. Surely a laudable pursuit: to spend a little of your spare time in writing cheering letters to a friendless person. The idea once upon a time was severely criticised by Dorothy Dix and warmly sponsored by Ella Wheeler Wilcox. So take your choice!

No doubt, all in long confinement begin to think more seriously. This should be guided by some loving influence. I am inclined to think that persons willing to write such letters know something about life and thereby possess the right impulse towards conveying sympathy. Why not aid the absolutely friendless, so that when the gates once more open to liberty they will be able to forget the past?

That some of the young letter writers will feel rather embarrassed should the released Jean Valjeans and Ferreols come trouping to their homes may be true—yet the world is wide and matters adjust themselves. Perhaps it would be more ethical if men would write to men and women to women.

How Well I Remember

A well-known writer visited a jail to take notes for an article on prison life. On returning home he described what he had seen, and his description made a deep impression on the mind of his little daughter.

A week later the writer and his little girl were in a train which stopped at a station near a gloomy building.

"What place is that?" asked a passenger.

"The County Jail," another answered, promptly.

Whereupon, Mary embarrassed her father and aroused the suspicion of the other passengers by asking in a loud, shrill voice, "Is that the jail you were in, father?"—[Montreal Star.

CHEF KNOWS HIS APPLES WHEN IT COMES TO PIES

If you want to know the answer to that puzzling question, "What does the public want?" ask a chef.

With a varied public to serve, he somehow manages to make everything come out about even at the end of the day, even to pies over which the diner debates before announcing his choice.

Gus Waser, Biltmore chef, declares, however, that figuring out what the public wants isn't as difficult as it might seem. Waser said that what the public has wanted in the past helps considerably. Take pies, for instance—and Waser was off on one of his favorite topics.

"Two-thirds of all pie sales for the year will be apple pies," said Waser. "Incidentally, about two-thirds of all desserts sold are pies. And of the pies, the apple reigns supreme.

"Pumpkin pie, particularly when served with a dab of whipped cream, has come into wide favor and is threatening the position of apple pie. However, the development of the taste for pumpkin has been gradual and we have been able to meet the increased demand without being at the necessity of revising our schedules overnight.

"Men favor double-crust chewy pies," said Waser. "Women, on the other hand, lean to cream, or other soft, open-face varieties."

Waser said that rhubarb, gooseberry and cranberry, which attract few men, exert a strong appeal to women. Grape pie, which was a best seller some years ago, is seldom called for nowadays.

Gartside Trial in Theft Case Nearing Close

Closing phases of the trial of Hilton Gartside, accused of the grand theft of $8510 from E. H. Shaw & Co., Los Angeles brokers, will be placed before Superior Judge Aggeler today by Richard Cantillon and Donald MacKay, defense attorneys, when the trial is resumed.

Gartside is accused of obtaining the money from the firm through Clyde H. Reid, employee.

Reid recently pleaded guilty to a grand theft charge and was given a County Jail sentence. He then appeared as a witness against Gartside.

Parker, Pilot on Byrd Expedition, will be Honored

Capt. Alton N. Parker, pilot for Western Air Express and chief test pilot on the Byrd Arctic and Antarctic expeditions, will take off at dawn today for Jackson, Miss., to attend a State-wide celebration planned in his honor.

Gov. Bilbo of Mississippi has proclaimed Friday as Parker Day throughout the State. Upon Capt. Parker's arrival at Jackson, the State capital, a parade will take place. Later the Governor will raise Capt. Parker to the rank of colonel in the Mississippi National Guard Air Service.

A gold medal of honor will be awarded him in the name of the State.

Baby in Jail with Mother in Still Case

Mrs. Carol Roberts and Baby Florence

For such a young lady Florence Roberts, 13 months of age, caused considerable commotion yesterday in the County Jail.

Baby Florence made her appearance in the jail when her mother, Mrs. Carol Roberts, 20 years of age, was arrested for possession of a still. When Mrs. Roberts refused to leave the child with friends pending her release on bail, according to Capt. Ernst of the Sheriff's liquor-enforcement detail, there remained but one thing to do, and that was to take Florence along as well.

However, Assistant Chief Matron Lowe and Acting Captain Ostraff of the Sheriff's office decided that jail environment was not the proper thing for an infant and she was placed in care of a woman deputy until the mother was released an hour or two later.

Mrs. Roberts and her husband, Floyd M. Roberts, 24, were arrested in Seal Beach after a still found in Altadena more than a month ago was traced to them, according to Ernst. They are scheduled to appear in Municipal Court today.

Bagpipes Skirl, Dancers Tread as Scots Meet

The shrill skirl of bagpipes, well-filled lunch baskets and the brawest dancers and athletes among local Scots attracted an unusually large attendance yesterday at the annual picnic of the Caledonian Club at Sycamore Grove Park.

The dancers flashed through their numbers with zest and the athletes raced and tested their strength and agility in numerous trials, and the pipes set up a braw skirling. Numerous celebrities were in attendance, among them Miss Bessie Hamilton and Alexander Black, the latter being in charge of the pipers.

Third Suicide Attempt Works

Firing a bullet from a heavy-caliber revolver through his chest, Jerry Huber, 25 years of age, of 11260 South New Hampshire street, yesterday morning inflicted a wound from which he died a few minutes later at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Huber's act marked the third attempt to take his own life in as many days, deputy sheriffs reported. Following an interview with his estranged wife Josephine, the officers ascribed Huber's act to despondency over their separation.

The officers reported that last Saturday Huber drank poison and when he was not seriously affected fired a bullet at himself the next day, the missile failing to find a mark.

Returns From College

Having completed fourteen months' study of languages, art and literature, Miss Grace Baash, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Baash of North McCadden Place, has returned from College Mont Moreiecy in Paris. Mrs. Baash, accompanied by Mrs. Earl Jorgensen of Los Angeles, met Miss Baash in New York, and the traveling companions went to Havana and Panama. Miss Baash plans to attend the University of Southern California in September.

Classmates Entertained

Del Monte Lodge was the scene of a stag party recently for Yale classmates of Lewis Lapham, son of Roger D. Lapham. Several rounds of golf were enjoyed at Pebble Beach and Cypress Point. The party included Messrs. R. D. Lapham, Lewis A. Lapham, R. M. Heurteurette, R. Ellis, N. Smith, Clyde Leonard and E. Crimmins of San Francisco.

Del Monte Golf Tournament

Noted golfers and socially prominent followers of the game have made reservations at Del Monte for the brilliant State golf tournament to be held this week. Among the guests will be Mrs. Allen Wilcox and Francis Brown of Honolulu; Mrs. Betty F. Savercool, David Livingston, Chapman DeWolff, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yount, Judge William H. Donahue, H. R. Struthers of San Francisco; George A. Dow, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hawley, Stuart Hawley, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Claire V. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hume, Raymond Hume and Miss Harriet Hume of Oakland; Col. and Mrs. D. A. L'Esperance, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Giffen, Chester S. Lyday, C. M. Kellogg and Nat Deverick of Los Angeles, Jesse Lasky, Mack Sennett and Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Moore of Hollywood and Capt. and Mrs. A. Bullock Webster of Denver and Hollywood.

Garden Musicale

Terry Lodge, the beautiful Coronado home of Gen. and Mrs. Marshall Orlando Terry, which is surrounded by a colorful garden, was the setting Friday afternoon and evening for a musicale to which a large assemblage of smart Southland society had been bidden.

Senor Andres Dalmau, the distinguished Argentine violin virtuoso, was introduced to the guests during the course of the entertainment.

Betrothal Announced

The Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel was the scene of an attractive affair recently when Mrs. Milton Henry Hutton of North McCadden Place, Hollywood, entertained with a bridge tea. The affair was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Hutton's daughter, Miss Winifred Abbie-Louise Hutton, to Eugene Anderson Morath of New York City, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morath of Long Beach. The wedding will take place in New York City in October.

Mrs. Hutton and her daughter will leave Hollywood the latter part of the current month, and will visit en route in Grand Rapids, Mich., Minneapolis, Minn., Logansport, Ind., and Chicago.

The Hutton-Morath romance had its inception at the University of California at Los Angeles, where both were students. Mr. Morath later received his degree at the University of California, Berkeley. Miss Hutton is a member of Kappa Delta Phi and Mr. Morath is affiliated with Sigma Phi Sigma. They will make their home in New York City.

Assisting the hostess in receiving at the announcement party were Mrs. O. M. Kellogg and her granddaughter, Miss Virginia Kellogg of Sattle, who were honorees at the affair; Mrs. Eugene G. Morath and her daughter, Miss Anna Maud Morath; Mr. Morath's mother, Mrs. Anna C. Anderson of Long Beach; Mrs. W. H. Martin of Kokomo, Ind., and Winter Haven, Fla., who is here with Mr. Martin, visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ross Martin of San Bernardino.

Return from Trip

Mrs. William Crop and her daughter, Miss Evelyn Crop, of South Western avenue, have just returned from an extended trip through the East and South. They visited New Orleans following Miss Crop's graduation from the University of Arizona, and sailed from that city on the S.S. Dixie to New York City, where they visitd with Mrs. Crop's sisters, Mrs. J. Kass and Mrs. L. Lasko. After visiting Washington, D. C., Boston, Rochester and Niagara they returned to Los Angeles via Banff and Lake Louise, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and San Francisco. Miss Crop is a member of Iota Lambda Rho Sorority.

Hotel Del Coronado

The Fiesta del Coronado presented Saturday night was a colorful event and the most important of the summer balls at Hotel del Coronado. It was attended by many from Los Angeles and neighboring cities as well as those from San Francisco and all over the State. The big ballroom had the effect of a huge garden, with a number of red and gold lanterns filling the dome and being employed in the decoration. Window boxes filled with trailing vines and flowers of summer circled the entire room, which was gay with awnings in Spanish colors and Spanish shawls were also draped from the window boxes. The stage was transformed into a corner of a beautiful patio. The ball was opened by Wilda Bernard, soprano, of Los Angeles, singing "Estrellita" with harp accompaniment by Dorothy Rippe Hutton. Both were in colorful Spanish costumes.

A vaudeville program followed with a number of acts from the Orpheum circuit and a ballet of thirty-five girls in Spanish dances.

Returns From Visit

Miss Martha Allen Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Lee, 1756 North Normandie avenue, returned Tuesday from Texas, where she visited relatives, and was feted with a round of house parties, dances, teas and other affairs. She will enter the University of Southern California in the fall.

Jasper Park Lodge

A number of Los Angeles visitors are registered at Jasper Park Lodge, in the Canadian Rockies. They are Mr. and Mrs. U. F. Johnson, Edith Henley, Ruby Hickle, Mrs. Norma Robinson, L. Alexander, E. M. Peak, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lincoln, Lucile Derr, Mr. and Mrs. George Lyon Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Wallace Wayne, A. Wallace.

Bridge-Tea

Mrs. Frank Stephen Parker (Lucile Eldridge,) who is spending the summer months in California, was hostess at a bridge-tea Saturday afternoon at her mother's home, 112 West Glen Oaks Boulevard. A color scheme of shades of brown, orange and yellow carried out the autumn motif in decorations and table appointments. Tea was served in the late afternoon by yellow candle light. Guests included Misses Dorothea Byshe, Janice Tuttle, Margaret Hudson, Charlotte Cavell, Elsie Whitney, Martha Richardson, Margaret Hays, Enid Hays and Mmes. John Gage Parker, Victor Erving Francey, Lluellyn Ludwig (Isabel Hand,) Robert Shirley Richardson (Delia Shull,) Walter Johnson (Helen Lundgren) and Robert Wilson Frey (Edith McIntyre.) Mrs. Parker was assisted by Mrs. Eldridge and Miss Byshe.

SOAP
SUPPER

PERHAPS you wouldn't like White King for Sunday night supper, but we want to point out that here is a soap that is made from the same material as good salad dressing.

The purest vegetable and nut oils—oils good enough to eat—go into White King Granulated Soap. That will give you some idea of how safe it is for your finest silken lingerie, how kind it is to the skin of tender hands. And that same purity makes White King effective for the heaviest blankets, the greasiest dishes—even in hard or lukewarm water.

White King washes everything—colored fabrics, dishes, silver, glass, floors, woodwork. And it's economical—a teaspoonful for the wash basin, a cupful for the washing machine. You won't need more. It's condensed. Try it today. Your grocer has it.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HABITS OF CHILDREN APPARENTLY CHANGE OVERNIGHT

When a mother has been doing the same thing in the same way, day after day, it is not surprising that she is unprepared for some sudden change in her routine, and is not hospitable toward it.

Yet in child care the dropping of habits, even those which have been going on for months, sometimes occurs overnight. One day baby is taking her two naps a day without demur, and suddenly without warning she refuses to sleep at 10 o'clock. The older child who may have been napping all afternoon will, quite without previous notice, begin standing up in bed and howling to be let out. Having no inkling of these changes, the mother knows only one thing to do—let the child cry it out. She may try this for days, without the result that the child screams himself into a state of exhaustion and goes to sleep. He may sleep sometimes for several hours and then awaken cross and red-eyed, and later refuse to go to bed in the evening at the hour haloed by custom.

NATURAL DEVELOPMENT

The usual age at which this episode takes place varies with the child. The active child is seldom able to sleep in the afternoon after he has reached the age of 2 years. With some children this change takes place sooner, but if at 2 years the child refuses to sleep in the afternoon, it is time for the mother to make note of this perfectly natural development and arrange the child's day to provide opportunity for more rest—perhaps an earlier bedtime—and stop wrestling with him about naps.

Mrs. H. W. has been making the usual mistakes in trying to adjust this problem of growth. She says: "I am almost frantic and have to write you for advice. For the last three months every time I have put my 17-month-old daughter in her crib for a nap she stands up and screams. I have been determined, after such tactics as rocking her carriage for hours, to let her scream it out, which takes about two hours. I have tried being kind, scolding, and finally whipping, which I am sure must be wrong. It is dreadful, Mrs. Eldred, so please advise me. Shall I omit the daytime nap? She has only seven teeth. What could be wrong? I am sure the diet is all right."

IS DIET O. K.?

There are several possibilities here. Slow teething would indicate some diet deficiency, so correct that by comparing your present diet with the one in either our "Feeding Leaflet," or the "Weeks' Menu for a Child from 1 to 2," one or both of which leaflets may be obtained for the usual self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Also, her whole day may need rearranging. When are her other nap periods? Does she have four or three meals daily? When does she go to bed at night? A child this age should rise at 6:30 or 7, have breakfast at 7, dinner at 12, a lunch at 4 and dinner at 6:30, and be in bed by 7 at night. The usual time for rest or a nap is right after lunch. If it is obvious that the child can't sleep, put her to bed with her toys and encourage a quiet period of one-half to one hour and don't try for a nap at all. You get nowhere and spoil her chances of going to sleep at the proper time at night.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Removes the Fat

To remove the fat from hot soup, pour it through a cloth wrung out of very cold water. All the fat will remain in the cloth except for just the amount one would want to enrich the soup. Heat the soup again before serving.

Work Accomplished

One very good reason why it is wise for the housewife to do much of her dinner preparation in the morning is so she can really enjoy an afternoon caller who may drop in, without that thought of an unprepared dinner on her mind.

Avoid Scratches

Don't use old toothbrushes or nail brushes to clean silver. The stiff bristles are very apt to scratch the surface. Brushes with the correct weight of bristles are made for this purpose and are well worth the small amount they cost.

A Saving on Gas

Hard-boiling water is no hotter than gently boiling water. When vegetables and soups begin to boil, save gas and turn the burner down until just sufficient to keep the water bubbling, and the food will cook just as quickly and better than if boiling hard.

Dainty

Instead of plain butter balls for the gala luncheon, shape the butter into tiny carrots, using a sprig of parsley for the top.

A Broom Holder

Two large spools tacked about three inches apart on the back of the kitchen door will make a splendid broom handle holder, effacing that article very nicely.

Odorless

If you do not have a butter kettle, keep the butter in the carton in which it was bought. The flavor and odor of other foods cannot penetrate this glazed cardboard.

No Scratches

When food sticks to the bottom of your cooking utensils, use a wooden clothespin to losen it, never a knife. The clothespin will not scratch the surface.

Sans Lids

When putting away pots and pans after using remove their lids and let the insides have a chance to air. Pots and pans put away with their lids tightly on are very apt to retain the odor of the foods last cooked in them.

Moths in the Rug

Floor rugs should be cleaned thoroughly if suspected of containing moths. Look carefully along the seams, as this is a favorite lodging spot for these pests. If you send the rugs away to be cleaned, tell the cleaner you suspect moths have been in them so he can pay special attention to them and give them particular treatment.

When They Stick

The best way to remove the feathers from wild ducks is to dip the ducks in boiling water and then wrap in a heavy cloth. The steam will soon loosen the feathers and the "pins" are very little trouble.

Look Over Your Burners

A good flow of gas on the gas stove will produce blue cones with purple edges and should be sharp and distinct. Yellow or white flames are wasteful and only deposit soot on the bottoms of pots and pans.

On Duty

Save the stick that the new rug was rolled on, cut a notch in one end and you have a new member for the clothes-prop brigade.

ROBINSON SALE TO OPEN TODAY

"Fifteen Years on Seventh Street" Event Due

Emporium Has Remarkable Record of Success

Progress Continuous Since Its Pioneer Days

BY OLIVE GRAY

A merchandising event of exceptional interest, not only to thrifty and discriminating seekers of first-quality goods, but to those who note the significant mile-stones of business history in Los Angeles, is the "Fifteen Years on Seventh Street" sale which begins today at the J. W. Robinson Company emporium at that downtown center of retail trade.

It is appropriate that the sale should be Robinson's, inasmuch as that recognized leader of high-class local stores was a pioneer in the West Seventh-street locale.

ABREAST OF PROGRESS

The history of the J. W. Robinson Company, dating back forty-nine years to the time when the Plaza was the business center of the then pueblo, has included locations on Temple street, on Spring street, and on Broadway, as the city's center moved, and concluding with the present habitat on Seventh street, to which, fifteen years ago, its move was considered revolutionary.

Those fifteen years have been years of uninterrupted success with this house, and have proved that foresight guided the choice of this locality.

During all this time, Robinson's has remained in the vanguard as to merchandise; has maintained a high place in business standards. Not only have the general public, patrons of the store, been taken into account in its progressive march, but employees have been so pleasantly considered that to obtain a position at Robinson's has been and is always thought to be a privilege.

STORE MODERNIZED

Culminating the fifteenth year on Seventh street, the great store has been rehabilitated—brought up to the last touch in modernism by way of fittings and furnishings. Finest of woods throughout the many sale sections, most recent shapes and upholsteries in furniture, lighting of most approved mode, everything that goes to make a place elegantly home-like without undue ostentation. Such are the features of Robinson's as the store stands ready celebrate the epochal event, "Fifteen Years on Seventh Street." This is truly an event, one long prepared for through buying sources in merchandising centers of Europe and America, for Robinson's are allied with the most authentic sources of styles and quality throughout all such fields.

VALUES UNUSUAL

And, as an appreciation of the patronage and friendship which has helped to forward the success enjoyed not only throughout the former years, but at the time when pioneering to a new locality was more or less of a venture, Robinson's is offering, during the "Fifteen Years on Seventh Street" sale, merchandise of undiminished quality at prices leveled to the requirements of thrift-seeking budgets.

In every section of the store, from ready-to-wear in its every phase—from inexpensive dresses to finest of furs and costume jewelry, to the most elegant of evening habiliments; from kitchenry to rare editions in books; from millinery to footwear—the price offerings are attractive, the quality unquestionable.

The "Fifteen Years on Seventh Street" sale will continue for seven days, beginning today.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THE TREATMENT OF BLADDER INFLAMMATION

The best treatment for bladder irritation is to stop all food, taking a plain water fast for several days, using one glassful of distilled water every thirty minutes during the waking hours. This regimen will keep the bladder comparatively free of all irritating materials and allow it to heal. After a few days of the distilled water treatment it is a good plan to take a grapefruit or tomato juice fast. These fruit juice fasts will not cause an irritation after the plain water fast, but they sometimes cause a temporary irritation unless the water fast has been taken first. When on the fasting regimen, be sure to take two enemas a day. This has the double effect of keeping the colon clean so that it does not press against the bladder, and also assists in eliminating poisons which might otherwise have been passed through the bladder.

Keep on the water and fruit juice fast for ten days, then take a milk diet, using one eight-ounce glass of milk every hour. This regimen should be continued until the bladder irritation has been overcome, after which you may go on a well-balanced diet.

For relief from pain in the bladder, the hot sitz baths are very beneficial. Another treatment which is good for relief is to use a high candle power therapeutic lamp for thirty minutes each day over the bladder and back.

In some cases the milk diet will have to be continued for several weeks. When you return to a balanced diet be careful to avoid those foods which produce excess acidity in the body.

Some exercises should be taken to correct any prolapsus which may exist and to give a strong tone to the abdominal muscles. The exercises taken when lying on the back are most beneficial, as they develop the muscles which hold the internal organs in their proper places. While lying in this position the exercises are more beneficial because the organs tend to fall into their normal positions and away from the bladder.

The exercises should be continued for a long period even after the organs have returned to their normal position. It is also a good plan to take a walk each day, beginning with a mile, and continuing until you can walk for five miles without undue fatigue.

Where the bladder irritation is produced by crystals in the urine, it is a good plan to avoid the foods which contain oxalic acid, once you begin on your regular diet. I have prepared a special article called "Deceptive Bladder Pains" which gives a list of the foods containing oxalic acid and tells more in detail about the treatment for kidney and bladder gravel. I will be pleased to send this to you if you will send a 2-cent stamp and self-addressed envelope. By following these instructions you will find that the most obstinate cases of bladder irritation can be overcome and will give no further trouble, provided you keep to the diet and keep up the exercise.

Bladder trouble is so distressing that most patients are entirely willing to follow such a simple and commonsense outline as I have suggested, especially when they find it relieves them of their agony in a short time.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

A Bedtime Story

STRIPED CHIPMUNK GIVES ADVICE

Experience gives sound advice
You could not buy at any price.
—Old Mother Nature.

Impy, the black Chipmunk, was just completing his bedroom when he was startled by the sound of some one in his long hall. He stopped to listen. "Some one is coming," thought Impy. "Oh, dear, who can it be? I hope it isn't an enemy. For, if it is, I am caught. There is no way for me to escape. Oh, dear, oh dear, I wish I had a back door!"

And then Impy experienced great relief. His nose brought him that relief. You see, his nose picked up the scent of the one who was coming down that long hall. Impy knew it was his father, Striped Chipmunk. Sure enough, a second later Striped Chipmunk appeared in the little bedroom.

"So," said Striped Chipmunk, "you have seen all of the Great World you want to see and are settling down."

"Yes," replied Impy. "But how did you find me?"

"Oh," replied Striped Chipmunk, "I had an idea you wouldn't go very far, and so this morning as I had nothing else in particular to do I thought I would look you up. You came farther than I thought you would, and I might not have found you, but that I remembered the pile of stones outside. You see, I have been over here before. When I found the pile of stones it didn't take me long to find the entrance to your home. That pile of sand out there gives it away. If Shadow the Weasel should come along, you wouldn't have a chance in the world. He would find the entrance right away and follow you in here. If you will take my advice you will have a carefully hidden entrance with no tell-tale sand around it."

—Old Mother Nature.
So they went outside

"That's what I am planning," said Impy. "If you'll come outside, I'll show you where my entrance is to be."

So they went outside and Impy took Striped Chipmunk over to a hollow log in which was a knothole on the lower side. "There," said Impy, with some pride, "is where my entrance is going to be. What do you think of that?"

Striped Chipmunk shook his head. "It won't do," said he.

"Why won't it do?" demanded Impy, looking very much surprised.

"Because it would be found right away," replied Striped Chipmunk.

"Who would find it right away, I'd like to know!" cried Impy.

"What I mean is," explained Striped Chipmunk, "that, if a certain one of your enemies should come looking for you he would find it right away. He may not come around this way, but, if he does, one of the first places he will go will be inside this hollow log. I am talking about Shadow the Weasel. If you should have your entrance here, and Shadow should come to examine this old log, he naturally would find that opening right away. It was very clever of you, Impy, to think of this thing, but it won't do. You must look around for some other place."

"Where would you make it if you were in my place?" inquired Impy.

"That's a question I'm not going to answer," replied Striped Chipmunk. "You must find a place for yourself. But let me give you a bit of advice. Don't leave so much as a tell-tale grain of sand around it, and see that it is where no one is likely to look for it. One of the safest doorways I ever had was right out in the open where any one could see it, but no one did see it, because no one thought of looking for it there. One more thing. Get that entrance right away. Don't waste any time. You will then have a way of escape from any one who enters the back door."

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

LEMON CAKES

Cream one-half cupful of butter, and gradually cream into it three-fourths cupful of sugar, and continue the creaming, then add one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and the well-beaten yolks of four eggs. Sift one cupful of flour with a half teaspoonful of soda twice, and gradually add it to the mixture, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs. Oil and flour muffin tins, and fill three-quarters full of the mixture. Place in a moderate oven and bake.

CASSEROLE OF VEGETABLES

Oil a casserole, and place in it a layer of cooked string beans, over this place a layer of stuffed peppers, and in between the spaces a layer of small onions, and bake till well heated through covering the top with brown bread crumbs. For the sauce melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, and one and one-half cupfuls of beef stock, or milk. For the stuffing for the peppers, cut three medium-sized peppers in half-length wise, remove the seeds, and par-boil in hot water, to which has been added an eighth of a teaspoonful of soda. Fill with a mixture, made of soft bread crumbs, tomato pulp, and chopped onions, which have been fried in butter. Season with salt and pepper.

PINEAPPLE AND VEAL SALAD

One and one-half cupfuls of cold pressed veal, diced, one-half cupful of diced celery, stuffed olives, mayonnaise, lettuce, and sliced pineapple. Mix the veal, and celery with a little of the mayonnaise, place on a bed of lettuce, a slice of pineapple, cover the pineapple with the meat mixture, garnish with a little paprika, slices of stuffed olives, and dots of mayonnaise.

GREEN CORN WAFFLES

With a small sharp knife, score down the kernels on cobs of sweet corn, then with the blunt edge of the knife press out the pulp until there is enough to fill a cup, season with salt and one teaspoonful of sugar, add to them the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, three-fourths cupful of milk, and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Sift two cupfuls of flour, with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and add to the first mixture, a little more flour may be necessary if the pulp of the corn is watery. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs, and bake the same as other waffles.

HOME DECORATION TALKS—NO. 3

by Fay Fraser

WINDOW SHADES

In my work in interior decoration I have often noted how many rooms could be brightened up by more cheerful shades. A flat monotonous wall becomes interesting with a touch of color around the windows.

It is difficult to get colored window shades. Many friends of mine have tried to paint their shades and found, when rolled, that the paint cracks. I have been making a number of experiments in my own home and have at last discovered a marvelous new paint which is so flexible that it can be successfully applied to window shades.

This new paint is called Flex. It is neither an enamel nor a lacquer, but combines the best qualities of both. It is unusually durable. Dries in a few hours into a tough, hard, elastic, protective coating. Flex comes in as many different colors as the rainbow.

Flex flows like water. It does not "stick up" your brush as so many other lacquers or enamels do. Because it flows so easily, any amateur can use it as brush marks disappear. It dries into a velvety, lustrous finish—as smooth as burnished porcelain. It has a world of different uses. It was originally designed for furniture, woodwork and automobiles but every day seems to find a new application for its beauty.

Every Tuesday and Friday morning at 9:30 Miss Fraser will take up a special problem in home decoration and show how it can be solved. Listen to her over KFRC, KHJ, KMJ, KOIN, KOL, KVI, KFPY and let her show you how you can increase the beauty and charm of your home.

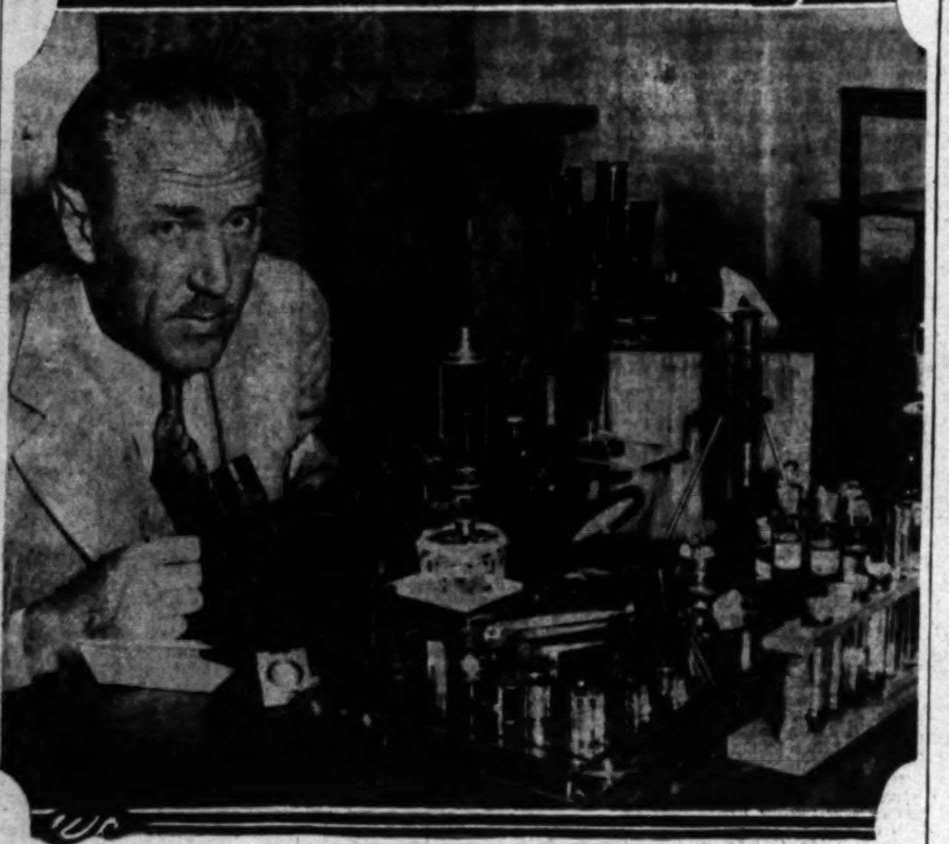
GEMS' DEEP SECRETS TO BE EXPOSED

Classes Announced for Jewelry Store Salespeople



Robert M. Shipley and His Instruments

NEARLY everybody, of course, knows all about gemoscopes, pearloscopes, detectoscopes and refractometers but anyone who is unacquainted with those interesting instruments is invited to learn all about them at the classes on classification and evaluation of gem stones to be conducted at the Transportation Building, beginning the evening of the 16th inst., under the auspices of the University of Southern California.

The classes will be taught by Robert M. Shipley, said to be the only person in America who holds the degree of gemological diplomate, a degree which he received last year at Chelsea Polytechnic School, London. The only classes in America similar to the ones to be conducted here are taught at Columbia University.

The night classes, which have been indorsed by the California Gold and Silversmiths' Association, constitute a practical course for managers and salespeople in jewelry stores, as well as for gem collectors and diamond dealers. The course will cover the history and factors affecting the value of all precious and semiprecious stones, their mineralogical nature, crystallography, specific gravity and refraction. Detection of artificial formations and imitations will be demonstrated by the use of gem-testing instruments and liquids.

According to Mr. Shipley, most precious stones are found in from six to eight colors and even experts sometimes find it difficult to evaluate them properly without the use of instruments which are constructed for the purpose of revealing their character and qualities.

MRS. KENNEDY QUITS HOTEL

Evangelist's Mother Said to Have Left for Home; Mrs. McPherson Reported Improving

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, has left the hotel at Ocean Park, where she had been staying since recovering at the Brentwood Sanitarium from an asserted "blow on the nose" received, according to the militant mother's repeated accusations, from her daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson.

Word that "Ma" Kennedy had left the hotel was withheld until yesterday when the management, besieged by inquirers, admitted she had left with "home" as her professed destination.

Those close to "Ma" have asserted for some time that she has been eager to get back to her suite of rooms near the Temple, gather up her belongings and depart for places freer from boards of elders and church heads who have expressed anything but a welcome-home attitude toward her.

Mrs. McPherson was reported to be "improving, but still not out of danger," at her new retreat in the bay district today. Secretaries, nurses, guards and the entire entourage at the secluded cottage, declared positively that "Ma" had not sought a haven there. She was not even expected, they asserted. Mrs. McPherson's steady improvement was attributed partly to her removal from the crashing noise of waves and highway traffic at the Las Tunas beach cottage from which she was removed in an ambulance at midnight last Saturday.

Hostelry Near Bogota Bids for "Elegant" Folk

Los Angeles is to have a new rival for tourist trade, according to a hotel circular received yesterday by Guy Rowell of the Biltmore from a hostelry near Bogota, Colombia, South America. An excerpt from the folder follows:

"First-class hotel confortly stating with all the modern elements for stablishment of its class; is situated in one of the stations more beautiful of the Girardot railway; ideal clime or its temperature that is only 20 degrees besides for the landscapes that surrounds it and the wonderful flora that adorn and enrich.

"During many years is the part where elegant families and foreigns put interviews that they wish to rejoice of a clime absolute spring.

"The best part of sumering and the more near to Bogota, potable water, splendid bath, swimming tank, bar, sport yard, gardens, movies, Europeans kitchen and executed services of all class."

RUTH CHATTERTON SIGNS ANEW

Walter Huston Will Play Role in "Honor of Family;" Lowell Sherman Plans Sherwood Comedy; Powell Home; Keaton on Way

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

Two years and a few days ago, Ruth Chatterton walked on the Paramount lot to try her luck in her first talking-picture role, one in support of Emil Jannings in "Sins of the Fathers." A lot of skeptics laughed and predicted that the role would not only be Miss Chatterton's first, but her last.

RUTH CHATTERTON

Yesterday, as one of the outstanding stars of the audible cinema, Ruth Chatterton affixed her name to a new starring contract with Paramount. In two years she has risen to the top ranks of the picture field. Jannings, who once stood at the pinnacle and who persuaded her to act for the screen, has long since returned to his native Germany.

Miss Chatterton starts on the initial lap of the new agreement this morning when she begins work in the star role of "The Right to Love." Paul Lukas is playing opposite her. Richard Wallace is directing.

Huston in Skinner Role

First National's first production, when cameras begin to whir again on that lot about December 1, will be "The Honor of the Family," colorful drama which served Otis Skinner as a starring vehicle on the stage for many years, I was told yesterday.

WALTER HUSTON

And Walter Huston, whose work in "Abraham Lincoln" is the talk of the town—although the picture is yet to be released here—will be starred. Huston, it seems, has yet another picture to make for First National under his two-film-a-year agreement. His first, "The Bad Man," will be shown at Warners' Downtown Theater beginning next Friday. It, too, is adapted from a former stage play performed by a famous player, in this instance, the late Holbrook Blinn.

"Queen's Husband" Assigned

Lowell Sherman is going to have a chance to do his stuff in another piece of delightful sophistication.

LOWELL SHERMAN

I heard yesterday that he has won "The Queen's Husband," Robert Sherwood's romantic comedy, which Edward Everett Horton did in Los Angeles on the stage.

Sherman will not play the title role, but he will direct himself and the supporting cast of actors. This is his third dual (acting-directing) assignment for R.-K.-O. The first was "Lawful Larceny," with Bebe Daniels; the second, "Losing Game," completed last week.

"The Queen's Husband" is described officially as a romantic comedy of royal life in a small European kingdom. Sherwood, its author, well known as a critic and newspaper man, wrote "The Road to Rome" for Jane Cowl.

Production will start on the R.-K.-O. lot within the month.

William Powell Home

The suave Mr. William Powell, who has been touring in Europe the past three and one-half months, got back to town just before the holiday and is expected to report on the Paramount lot this morning. He covered some 2500 miles on the continent, according to reports, and had quite an exciting time in Naples, where he arrived the day after a big earthquake. He will start work on "New Morals," his next picture, in about fifteen days. Incidentally, it may be news to remark that Victor Schertzinger will direct.

Keaton's Next in England

And Edward Sedgwick will direct Buster Keaton's new comedy, of the frozen-faced comic gets in from London in the next few days. They ought to be working in about two weeks.

BUSTER KEATON.

Buster will stay in Hollywood just long enough to make the one film, then he will turn right around and go back to England to make a picture there. At the studio some one said he is doing this because he likes the London climate and the London scenery, but this writer's hunch is that the move has something to do with fitting into quota requirements.

The chances are ten to one that Keaton will take Sedgwick back with him. Sedgwick, incidentally, just signed a new long-term contract with M.-G.-M.

Seal Rush Pictures Shot

Varick Frissell, the gentleman who likes to go to far corners to shoot his pictures, is due to arrive in Hollywood this morning from the East with twenty reels of a picture he calls "Vikings of the North." He shot the film off the coast of Newfoundland during the annual seal rush. Members of his company, including George Melford, director, went through some pretty hazardous experiences to get what they wanted. A part of the time they had to set up their cameras on moving ice blocks. They lost one camera doing this. It slipped off. I think this is the first adventure picture for which sound equipment has been taken any such distance.

About the Lots

Doris Peterson, who just finished work in "Mothers Cry" for First National, has been signed to a long-term contract. She is in San Francisco at the moment, rehearsing for a stage play. . . . Sidney Fields is going to play Lon Yountis, itchy-fingered bad man in "Cimarron," the story of early Oklahoma pioneers for the R. K. O. . . . Jean Arthur, who just finished work in "The Silver Horde" for R. K. O. is off to New York for a vacation . . . Leo White, screen veteran who co-starred with Charlie Chaplin in the old Essanay days, has been cast for a character comedy part in "Along Came Youth" with Charles Rogers for Paramount. White and Wallace Beery, you may remember, formed one of the screen's first comedy teams. This was back in Chicago.

LARGE CROWD SEES 'OSCEOLA'

tine, was particularly effective. Enthusiastic applause greeted the dancing of the polka and the minuet by actors costumed in the colorful garb of the day.

A decidedly epic note of sacrifice and heroism is sounded in the story that follows of Osceola the Indian war chief and his people. White men abduct Shontee, his wife, a full-blooded Seminole, on the ground that she has Negro blood in her veins. Osceola, in his retreat in the everglades of Florida fights for his people and gives succor to runaway Negro slaves. He defends thus not only his own, but those of another race, from persecution and tyranny. Eventually, he is betrayed by military authorities into a truce. They break faith with him and throw him into prison where he dies of a broken heart.

A troupe of eagerly interested actors re-enacted the drama last evening and will continue to do so on successive evenings this week. Hanley Stafford was a stately Osceola. La Verne Mohr was a beautiful and captivating Shontee, the pretty wife dragged away to slavery. Other performers included Arnold Ramirez, Ruth Hernandez, Lee Morris, William Petrie, Alexander Smith, Harold Hodge, William Moran, Joe Ormsby, Poppy Westfall, Douglas Williams, James Nudeen, Elwyn Eaton, Jean Jostyn and Malcolm Jelks.

Edwin N. Wallack was the general director. Allie Spooner was given credit for the technical effects, Florence Jepperson Madsen for the music and Raoul Ramirez for the dances. And, of course, John Steven McGroarty, epic California dramatist, wrote the play.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF MT. VERNON URGED

If there ever was a time when the government should assume control of Mt. Vernon it is now, preparatory to the national celebration in 1932, of the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth. Uncle Sam is already preparing to restore Wakefield, Washington's birthplace, and is to build a memorial parkway to Mt. Vernon. So what is more appropriate than to take over Mt. Vernon itself and dedicate it to the use of the great American people who so love and revere this most outstanding of all Americans!

Congress was asked to purchase Mt. Vernon as early as 1846, but it was not sufficiently interested. In 1853 the Mt. Vernon Ladies' Association organized for the patriotic purpose of not only assuming charge at Mt. Vernon, but rebuilding an otherwise dilapidated estate. And it did its work well, as the present fine condition of the buildings and grounds attests. But it is time for the nation to add this place to its growing list of shrines and make it public and feeless in all respects, every day in the week.

The Mt. Vernon Ladies' Association is governed by "regents" who draw no pay, but who gather once a year at Mt. Vernon to enjoy its wonderful privileges for some days. Though this organization raised the $200,000 which puchased Mt. Vernon, it must be remembered that the fund was nevertheless a public subscription. Edward Everett, noted orator, delivered lectures all over the country for four years, and gave the proceeds—over $68,000—to the fund. Washington Irving gave $500 and, as in the case of the frigate Constitution, thousands of schoolchildren contributed their pennies, nickels and dimes. Hence the Mt. Vernon Ladies' Association does not own Mt. Vernon in the sense that it can be too autocratic in maintaining narrow rules of administration which are an outrage to present-day sentiment.—[The Pathfinder.

LITERARY

James Sullivan Collins, one-time reporter on the New York World, is the authority for this one. If anybody turns out to be a liar, it is Mr. Collins.

He was assigned to interview Jack Sharkey, the fighter, at the latter's home just outside of Boston. He was accompanied by Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, but when the two arrived at the mansion they were informed that Mr. Sharkey was out at the time, but would soon return. Please to wait.

They waited in the "library," which was destitute of volumes, except for a copy of one of Mr. Van Dine's detective works which was lying on a table. Buckley spied it and picked it up with amazement.

"A book!" he ejaculated. "Jack Sharkey's got a book! Is this guy going to go Tunney on me?"

ALL AT ONCE

Two Weary Willies were seated on a park bench, doing nothing special and thinking of even less than that, when a passing breeze happened to sweep a discarded restaurant menu in their direction. With a tremendous effort, one of the gentlemen of leisure stooped, picked it up and studied it.

"Um," he said. "Don't look bad. Only what's this at the top mean, Bill—'t-a-b-l-e-d'-h-o-t-e.'"

"That's table dottie," his educated pal returned. "You don't got to worry about that. It means them guys get some soup an' some fish an' some meat an' so on. It's like us, only we take it all to oncet an' calls it slum."

Paramount Has Six Pictures on Location

Paramount has six pictures on location, out of eight now in production. The proportion, of course, is unusual, but the figure is indicative of the vogue for authentic backgrounds.

"Morocco," Josef Von Sternberg's new production in which Gary Cooper is starred, has gone to the Mojave Desert. "The Santa Fe Trail," in which Richard Arlen is starred, has a New Mexico locale. George Bancroft's new starring picture, not yet titled, is being filmed aboard a fleet of nine vessels out on the Pacific Ocean. "The Sea God," George Abbott's current production, is at an island port some thirty miles off the coast of Southern California. "Tom Sawyer," Mark Twain's classic story of child life, in which Jackie Coogan and Mitzi Green are being featured, will be filmed in large part at a river in Central California. The sixth picture on location from the Paramount studios is "Playboy of Paris," Maurice Chevalier's new starring picture, for which exterior scenes are being made at the famous Busch Gardens in Pasadena.

Riff Battles Being Fought

With the rock-strewn Chatsworth Hills, thirty miles from Hollywood, doing duty for the mountains of Northern Africa, battles of the Riff war are being fought again for Paramount's "Morocco."

Men, wearing the uniform of the Foreign Legion are storming rocky defiles and narrow passes held by Riff tribesmen. Among the Legionaires is Gary Cooper, who takes the part of an American private in the famous cosmopolitan fighting force.

As director of "Morocco," Josef Von Sternberg is the generalissimo commanding forces in the Chatsworth battles.

McWade Cast For Glum Role

After testing most of the character actors in Hollywood for the role of Louis Heffner, glum little undertaker in Edna Ferber's "Cimarron," a suitable one has been found in Robert McWade.

McWade is a stage player of twenty-five years' experience, who has entered the motion-picture field. He is now appearing in "Losing Game," under Lowell Sherman's direction.

MEESE'S METHOD WAS EFFECTIVE

(Synopsis of preceding chapters.)

Malcolm Meese is a home-loving man. He loves to slip about in his carpet slippers reading the papers, and he loves his wife, Ataxia, dearly, but hates to hear her complain of his shiftless habits. Now as she keeps complaining of them from morning till night, Meese finds it extremely difficult to keep his mind on his pipe and his eyes on his paper. He thinks of spending his time at a club or at the movies, but is inherently such a home-loving man that the very thought is repugnant to him. So he stands his wife's unceasing flow of words until one day something he sees in the paper (while he is smoking his pipe) gives him a brilliant idea.

WHY SALT MELTS SNOW

Salt melts snow and ice because of a physical rather than a chemical process. The freezing point of a solution is always lower than that of the solvent. When Gabriel Fahrenheit, the German physicist, was experimenting with varying degrees of temperature he found that the lowest temperature he could obtain was produced with a mixture of salt and ice. Salt mixed with snow or ice at a temperature not too far below the freezing point forms a solution with a lower freezing point than water, snow or ice. That is why salt causes snow and ice to melt. If salt is mixed with snow in extremely cold weather little change is noticed, because the resultant liquid freezes as fast as it is formed. Ice and salt make an excellent mixture for freezing ice cream. The cream is not frozen by taking cold from the ice, as popularly supposed; it is frozen because its temperature is lowered by the absorption of heat by the melting ice. A freezing temperature cannot be obtained inside the ice-cream freezer unless the ice is melted. Salt is added merely to hasten the melting of the ice and to speed up the process of freezing the cream by absorbing heat from it.—[Exchange.

MAGIC

The Great Optical Illusion trick had just been completed in the vaudeville house. The magician had locked his female assistant in a box, waved his wand, unlocked the box and opened it. The lady had disappeared completely, but within was a fluffy chicken. Applause.

The performance ended, the wizard put on his hat and left the theater. At the stage door he was met by a colored gentleman who had been a member of the audience.

"Mister," said he earnestly, "could yo' all do dat if yo' was to put mah wife in de box?"

"Why, I guess so," the actor laughed. "But are you so anxious to get rid of your wife?"

"'Tain't dat," the other answered. "She'd come back, sooner or later. Only Ah'd so't of like to have de chicken to return to de judge dat I borrowed it offen 'bout 2 o'clock dis mornin'."

Hurry, Hurry, Hurry

The fond parents were talking about their courting days and happened to mention a circus both had enjoyed.

"Why wasn't I along, mamma?" demanded little Elsie.

"You weren't born yet, child," said her mother.

"Well," sniffed the tot, "You might have waited a few years."—[Washington Star.

COMEDIAN WILL MAKE FILM DEBUT

Joe Cook Plays Leading Role in "Rain or Shine" Coming to Orpheum

With its next picture, "Rain or Shine," starting Saturday, the Orpheum Theater will present the motion-picture debut of Joe Cook, whom Percy Hammond, noted dramatic critic, has termed "the funniest man in America."

About twelve years ago Cook appeared at the Orpheum Theater here without a fanfare of trumpets. In fact, he was then known as a "No. 2 act," which means one degree above the opening jugglers of that period. Today Cook is recognized as a leading comedy star of the stage.

"Rain or Shine," which Frank Capra directed for Columbia Pictures, served Cook as a stage vehicle for over two years. The picture brings to the screen the comedy of the stage play, plus the best parts of Cook's vaudeville act, it is said. Louise Fazenda, William Collier, Jr., Joan Peers and others are in the supporting cast.

"The Dawn Patrol" is the current feature.

Red Tomahawk Pledges Faith with Gen. Foch

It happened at Bismarck, N. D. There had been some fine speeches, both by Foch and by his Legion hosts. An old Indian, very wrinkled and very bowlegged, had been sitting over to the left of the stage. Several times he had partly risen, thinking it his turn to speak, but each time he sat down quickly as soon as he learned his error.

At last his turn came. He made a fine figure in his feathered war bonnet and fringed buckskin clothes. Foch rose, too. Red Tomahawk held a long-handled red stone Indian pipe in his two hands. He began to talk in the rich, mellow language of the Dakotahs. After a bit he paused. His diminutive interpreter began the translation in a scared tenor voice. "The Chief says: 'This is a very ancient pipe—one that I carried in the old days on many a war path. Now I am going to smoke it with the great war leader from over the Great Water where the sun rises. I make a peace with him and with his nation. Many of my tribe crossed over to help his nation in the Great War.'"

Colonel Parker, at Foch's side, then translated this into French, and Foch, listening attentively, smiled and bowed graciously.

Again Red Tomahawk spoke. Again his message was translated first into English and then into French: "The wood in this pipe is ash—which as you know is very durable, and a long lasting wood. So shall our friendship be. The bowl of this pipe is of stone—hard and strong and firm. So also shall our friendship be."

Foch beamed.

Red Tomahawk raised the pipe and pointed to the red streamers hanging from the stem.

"This red will tell you that we are now of one blood—we are brothers. The white is to show that we have washed away the old hatred from between our nations—for, as you know, many winters ago, the French and Dakotahs were enemies, and now we are friends. The blue represents the sky shining above you and above me wherever we may be. It will always remind us of this pipe of peace which we are now going to smoke together."

Thereupon Red Tomahawk, leaning forward, scratched a match on the highly polished surface of a table which some Legionnaire's wife had lent from her best parlor suit for the occasion. There was a gasp from the whole audience and a particularly loud one from the table owner.

The pipe was got going. The Indian drummers and singers to the left of the stage pounded their tom-toms and broke into shrill staccato singing. Gravely the old Chief passed the pipe to Foch. Foch as gravely accepted it and took several puffs. Red Tomahawk began to step an ancient war dance, and Foch's feet started moving in time with the Indian's. The name which the old warrior of the Sioux gave to Foch—Wa-kia Wa-ta-ka-pe, meaning Charging Thunder—put the last touch on the colorful and impressive ceremony.—[American Legion Monthly.

FILM STORY CREDITED

Josephine Lovett wrote the original story, the continuity and dialogue on "What a Widow," the Gloria Swanson starring vehicle coming here soon. At present Miss Lovett is writing the scenario on "The Squaw Man" for Cecil De Mille.

DANCER PLAYS ROLE

Rosita Moreno, appearing opposite Richard Arlen in Paramount's "The Santa Fe Trail," has been a well-known Castilian dancer in both North and South America since her debut in Buenos Aires in 1918.

SHOW GIRL IN FILM

Alice Adair, selected recently by Pearl Eaton, Radio Pictures' dance director, as Hollywood's most perfect show girl, is appearing in "Check and Double Check," the starring vehicle of Amos and Andy.

KEITH CHOSEN FOR PART

Ian Keith, featured player of stage and screen, will play the principal "heavy" role in Louis Wolheim's first directorial effort for Radio Pictures.

'CUP OF SUGAR' SEEN AT VINE

Dorothy Mackaye Returns to Local Stage

Farce by Lynn Starling Often Amusing

Psychoanalysis Figures as Motivation

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Your old acquaintance, the non-eventuating bedroom farce, is back in town—this time at the Vine-street, where it is called "A Cup of Sugar." Lynn Starling, no slouch as a playwright, is the author, but what is more important (at least here) is that the premiere marks the return to the stage of a comedienne who is quite the most delightful thing about the comedy. She is, as any ad will tell you, Miss Dorothy Mackaye.

The vehicle in which she rides is at once bright and unimportant; but it is so much better in its rudiments than most of the comedies that have dragged across the footlights at this house in late months that it almost takes on an irrelevant glory. It allows its chief figure to take part in a madcap escapade at Atlantic City with another wife's husband; it allows her to shriek at the arrival of each bellhop and waiter, to sate herself with an unwonted supply of gin, and finally to be put to bed in the same state of single blessedness that saved the unwilling maiden in Preston Sturges's recent "Strictly Dishonorable." It is a long act, this second one, and when it is told the play is told.

The opening act is three-quarters explanatory, and the closing one even more so. I don't think this hitherto unproduced farce of Mr. Starling is one of his best; not after "Meet the Wife," "In His Arms" and "Weak Sisters" it isn't; but in its broad way it should prove a sizeable favorite. And it has, as I have noted, Miss Mackaye.

The actress displays an ingenuousness admirably adapted to requirements, only the difficulties of a first performance militating against a more complete command of her role. Hardly less effective is Lorin Raker, in the Ernest Truex-like part of a neighbor's spouse who, according to his wife, is suffering from a neurosis. (Did I forget to mention that "A Cup of Sugar" is all about psychoanalysis?)

A twist is lent to the matrimonial-fracas theme when the wife makes the somewhat surprising suggestion to her husband that he be "untrue" to her. The idea, you see, is all wound up in her experiment of psyching. When Mr. Parker (that's the husband) retaliates by putting the idea into execution—at least outwardly—the complications—but pshaw! stop me.

Kathryn Gavney plays the wife for all both are worth—a little too heavily, I mean, for farce. Douglas Gilmore is more en rapport as Miss Mackaye's husband; and Dina Smirnova was more than passingly applauded for her belated entrance as a Russian lady. Individual bits, bellhop and waiter, were gayly realized by Charles Moore and Maurice Brierre. Boyd Irwin portrayed Parker's uncle with unction.

Some laugh-catching lines—even the one that Shaw is supposed to have written to Isadora Duncan or somebody—make the moments frequently hilarious; and these with Miss Mackaye, constitute the play's justification. Certainly the plot doesn't.

Notables Play Extra Parts in 'The Poor Nut'

The surprise element figures in every performance of "The Poor Nut" at El Capitan Theater, as members of the audience are never sure when they are to see their favorite motion-picture star seated in the rooting section used in the second act.

Stage and screen friends of Elliott Nugent, Norma Lee, Ruth Nugent and other members of the cast visiting backstage between acts, often accept invitations to leave their orchestra seats and sit in the front row of the cheering section. Robert Montgomery, Russell Gleason and several other picture players attracted the attention of film fans recently as they cheered Elliott Nugent over the line at the finish of the race.

"The Poor Nut" is now in its second hilarious week at El Capitan.

Two will Take Bows on Stage

Arthur Lake and Dixie Lee, who play roles in "Cheer Up and Smile," will appear on the stage at the Boulevard Theater in conjunction with tonight's showing of the picture. The management arranged the presentation of the youthful favorites on the request of many of their fans who have telephoned and written during the past few days.

"Cheer Up and Smile" is a humorous college story bringing both Lake and Miss Lee to the screen in familiar roles. Several students of the University of Southern California lent college atmosphere to the picture under the direction of Sidney Lanfield, and have signified their intention to attend tonight's performance.

Current Events Now on Screen

The house of Vanderbilt triumphed over the house of Morgan for the honor of defending the America's Cup against the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton, in the speed trials recently conducted off Newport, R. I.

Harold S. Vanderbilt's yacht Enterprise proved faster than the Weetamoe, the J. P. Morgan entry, and was named for the coveted right to defend the trophy, which has been in the United States for the past seventy-nine years.

Jean Harlow

Enacts the only important feminine part in "Hell's Angels," now showing at Grauman's Chinese Theater, in a satisfactory manner.

'Western Front' Breaks Records in Mexico City

"All Quiet on the Western Front" is enjoying success in Spanish-speaking countries, word from Mexico City to Universal studios indicating that the film smashed all theater patronage records at the Regis Theater.

Similar reports come from the Porteno Theater, Buenos Aires, it is said, where an event often chronicled in imaginative American theatrical advertising actually happened—the crowds smashed in the doors of the theater.

"All Quiet" will have a triple premiere in Spain and Portugal in Madrid, Barcelona and Lisborn. In London the film is now in its twelfth week, playing in two houses simultaneously in the West End.

The opportunity to see "All Quiet" at the Criterion Theater here is bringing large audiences, according to an announcement.

Menjou Stars in Film Coming to International

Adolphe Menjou, noted actor and linguist, stars in the Paramount Spanish film, "Amor Audaz," which comes to the International California Theater Friday.

"Amor Audaz" is a Spanish version of "Slightly Scarlet" and Menjou is supported by a company of Spanish-speaking artists, including Rosita Moreno, Barry Norton and Ramon Pereda. Louis Gasnier directed. Menjou is said to be the most popular actor in Mexico, Central and South America and the management feels confident that he will prove as much a favorite with the natives of these countries who are residing here.

"El Cuerpo del Delito," the first Paramount Spanish feature, with Antonio Moreno and Maria Alba, closes Thursday.

No moral lesson is attempted in the John Galsworthy drama, "Old English," in which George Arliss is starring on the screen at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater, it is said, but the film rather presents a sympathetic story of an aged, but spirited, old man whose early indiscretions finally catch up with him.

Arliss played "Old English" for three years on the American stage. The screen version was worked out with the consent and assistance of the author, John Galsworthy, who cabled the necessary additional dialogue to Hollywood from England. Alfred E. Green directed.

Doris McMahon Joins Cast of Musical Show

Doris McMahon, dancer, who sidestepped a contract with Ziegfeld for a New York stage show in order to remain in California for the summer and fall, has temporarily abandoned her screen career, and has signed for "The Temptations of 1930," opening at the Mayan Theater soon. Her most recent film appearances have been in "Madame Satan," "No, No, Nanette" and "Playing Around."

With LeRoy Prinz, former Earl Carroll associate, directing the ensembles and dances; Ted Snyder supervising the music, Frank Brockman the lyrics, and Frank Davis creating the sketches, "The Temptations of 1930" is well under way.

HERSHOLT SIGNED FOR TIFFANY ROLE

Jean Hersholt has been signed by Tiffany for a leading role in "The Third Alarm." Hersholt recently returned to the Universal fold to appear in "East Is West," which Monta Bell directed. Carl Laemmle, Jr., retained him for a second picture.

MACKENNA SELECTED

Kenneth MacKenna plays the role of a young scientist in Paramount's "The Virtuous Sin," featuring Walter Huston and Kay Francis.

Comedy Called Main Factor in "Follow Thru"

Though it contains romance, girls and golf, "Follow Thru," which starts at the United Artists' Theater tomorrow morning, is practically all comedy. In addition to the young lovers, Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll, a fine comedy cast, was assembled for the production.

Jack Haley, who heads the comics, is a well-known vaudeville and musical comedy star. He gained note as the comedian in the stage production of "Follow Thru." Zelma O'Neal is another New York stage star. After playing in vaudeville in a sister team, she was signed by Schwab and Mandel as the comedienne in "Good News." Her next role was in the stage production of "Follow Thru," where she was also the comedienne.

The remaining comedian is Eugene Pallette, well-known Paramount player.

"Manslaughter" Opens Thursday

The Million Dollar Theater will present "Manslaughter" on the screen opening Thursday. A colorful lobby display is being installed, and the management is working with clubs and city officials in the exploitation of the theme of the picture. Claudette Colbert and Fredric March have the leading roles.

Another important booking has been made in conjunction with "Greater Vaudeville Week," which follows "Manslaughter" on Thursday, the 11th inst. The film will be "Hell's Island," featuring Jack Holt and Ralph Graves. Dorothy Sebastian has the leading feminine role.

TWO COMICS COSTAR AT PLAYHOUSE

Kolb and Dill Present Stage Comedy from Pen of Aaron Hoffman

BY JOHN SCOTT

Those two hardy and seemingly inexhaustible comedians, C. William Kolb and Max M. Dill, have joined forces once more in a piece called "Good Old Days," dealing with a subject described in the program as: "A political and economic issue, 'The Volstead Act.'"

Kolb and Dill have been pastmasters, on the west coast at least, of a special brand of entertainment consisting of prolonged arguments on any given subject. This time the subject is prohibition, and so one finds Mr. Kolb on one side and Mr. Dill on the other. No definite conclusion is arrived it, although solutions come thick and fast during the two hours of the comedy at the Hollywood Playhouse.

The two veterans of the stage have been seen to better advantage. For one thing, the subject matter is more or less questionable in regards to suiting and pleasing all the varied types of people who visit a theater. True, the comedy of Kolb and Dill is pleasant, if a bit antiquated, and quips here and there bring the days of 1916 depicted in the first act up to date, resulting in a goodly round of laughs from the audience.

Naturally the comics dominate the production. Kolb is still the lively, arm-waving Kolb of former days, and Dill is as compact and easygoing as ever, joining heartily in the amusement of the audience at the antics of the entire cast. The two are still favorites hereabouts and last night each received a rousing reception.

The arguing in "Good Old Days" starts with the two partners, Nick Schloss and Albert Wagner, engaged in heated verbal battles in their jointly owned saloon. Their breaking up of the partnership brings out humor and a bit of pathos. Then comes the closing of the beer parlor with the coming of the Eighteenth Amendment. Wagner sticks to his business, as a bootlegger, and Schloss joins the Volstead Act Enforcement League. The subsequent business on the stage winds up with the estranged partners again united.

The supporting cast includes some interesting types. Fritzie Wagner, the wife of Dill, is very actively portrayed by Julia Blanc. William J. Parker, the fly in Dill's ointment, is realized by Franklin Farnum, and romance is provided by Marguerite De La Motte and James Bush. "Bum," the broken-down porter in the saloon who later turns out to be quite a gentleman, is played by S. Arthur Harris. Others are Allyn Lewis, Henry Shumer, Robert Bowen, Charles Edler, Ben Taggart and George Spelvin.

"Good Old Days" is the product of Aaron Hoffman's pen and was staged by Max Dill. Kolb takes credit as supervisor.

Marx Brothers Prove Popular

The number of patrons reported returning to the Paramount Theater for a second viewing of the four Marx brothers in "Animal Crackers" indicates that the comic foursome are living up to their fast-paced laugh record, according to the theater management. It is understood that the film will be held over another week.

Featured in conjunction with the four Marx brothers is the first Paramount stage show.

SUSPECT STICKS TO NAME DENIAL

Atchison Insists He's Not Joseph R. Adkins

Killing of Oklahoma Man in 1897 Held Untrue

Federal Government Says He Escaped Jail

While Robert Atchison, arrested here by local police, steadfastly maintains he is not Joseph R. Adkins, the man wanted in Oklahoma on a murder charge, he is being held on orders of the Federal government. He was arrested about a week ago.

It is charged that Adkins killed John Coontz in Custer county, Oklahoma, in 1897. Oklahoma then was a Territory and the asserted offense comes under Federal law, it was pointed out. It was stated that Adkins escaped from jail at El Reno, Okla., in 1897.

CANADIAN COUNTY WON'T CLAIM ATCHISON

EL RENO (Okla.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Canadian county probably will make no move to extradite Robert Atchison, believed to be Joseph R. Adkins, from Los Angeles to serve a life sentence imposed thirty-three years ago, Fred Wallace, County Attorney, said today following a conference with the Board of County Commissioners.

The commissioners decided that the importance of the case does not warrant the expenditure of the $1000 estimated necessary to return Atchison here, Wallace said.

The Canadian county officers expressed the opinion that the expense of extradition, if asked, should be borne by Custer county, since the crime of which Adkins was convicted—the murder of John Coontz, a rancher—was committed in the latter county and Adkins was tried in Canadian county on a change of venue.

Death of Two Men Yesterday Called Suicide

John Carroll, 22 years of age, ended his life with cyanide at his home, 1109 North Melrose avenue, Glendale, yesterday. His parents, with whom he lived, could offer no explanation of his act.

Another suicide reported to the police yesterday was that of Steve Cramley, 37, found hanging in a lavatory in Norwalk Asylum. He'd been committed there February 13, last. He was still alive when an attendant found him, but died a few minutes later.

Observing Girl

Little Sue was visiting in the country and saw some little pigs for the first time. What attracted her attention most was the twist in their tails. After gazing at them in wonder for a time she asked: "Say, grandpa, does the piggies' mamma put their tails up in curl papers every night, or does they have a permanent?"—[Exchange.

Looking Over Their Winged House

Power Plant Gets Special Attention

R. V. (Pete) Reinhart, left, points out to his flying partner, Loren W. Mendell, perched on catwalk around motor, part of the special greasing system on the endurance-plane engine that they expect will keep them aloft 1000 hours.

ENDURANCE TAKE-OFF SET

Reinhart and Mendell will Start Attempt to Establish 1000-Hour Air Mark Next Tuesday

Between adjustments on their plane's motor, directing construction of its soundproof radio-broadcasting "studio" and installation of wing tanks, Loren W. Mendell and R. V. (Pete) Reinhart, dethroned air-endurance champions, announced yesterday at Grand Central Air Terminal they will try again a week from today.

Their ship, to be christened the Spirit of Hollywood, one of the most thoroughly equipped for an endurance grind—is nearly ready to fly.

Just before Mendell steps into the ship for the take-off he will be married to Sadie B. Hays. His bride will not go along.

WILL BE HOUSE ON WINGS

When it takes to the air it will be a veritable house on wings. Up front is a single seat for piloting—the seat Mendell and Reinhart will occupy in regular shifts in their attempt to stay aloft 1000 hours. The record of 647h. 28m. 30s. is now held by the Jackson-O'Brine team of St. Louis, Mo.

Aft of the control room is the radio "studio"—its walls and bulkheads padded with sound-proof material so the flyers can give descriptions of their progress and direct refueling activities through a short-wave sending set.

R. V. (Doc) Howard, Western Air Express radio expert, will go along as radio operator. He is directing installation of $4000 worth of equipment. The local plane will be the first to carry both sending and receiving sets on an endurance flight.

Four broadcasts will be made during each twenty-four-hour period on a ninety-five-meter wave length, Howard said. The short waves will be picked up at four stations, located near Los Angeles, and rebroadcast so it can be heard through home sets.

SPECIAL OILING SYSTEM

The high-winged cabin Albatross monoplane also contains comfortable sleeping quarters and a "kitchenette." All the capacity load of 271 gallons of gasoline will be carried in wing tanks, leaving the fuselage free for living quarters.

Each full load of gas, the flyers estimated, will keep them aloft fifteen hours. A hatch in the top will be opened during refueling from a Curtiss Carrier Pigeon biplane, C. Hjalmar Holdson, will be in charge of refueling operations, but the pilot of the second ship has not been selected.

A special oiling system and catwalks built on each side of the front part of the fuselage will allow the flyers to nurse the Wright Whirlwind 300-horsepower motor along for 1000 hours, they declared. The ship and motor are being conditioned in the Aircraft Service Company hangar at Grand Central, start of the proposed flight.

The local pilots established a record last summer over Margaret Perry's Airport in Culver City.

Two days before the scheduled take-off Mendell will appear in local Federal court to have his trial date set on a charge of conspiracy to violate the immigration laws. He has pleaded not guilty.

Oil Agent's Suit for $3,250,000 Opens Thursday

Hearing on a suit for $3,250,000, instituted by W. T. Brownridge against Irving V. Augur and the Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation, is scheduled to begin Thursday in Superior Court.

Brownridge, an agent for oil properties, asserts he was responsible for the consolidation of the Cushing Refining and Gasoline Company, Blackwell Oil and Gas Company, Mulberry Oil Company, Blackwell Pipe Line Company, Anoiu Petro Company, North American Oil Consolidated, California-Eastern Oil Company and the Bolso Chica Oil Corporation.

For these asserted services, he says he was to receive a commission of 5 per cent. Augur is an official of Bolsa Chica.

FLAMING YOUTH HELPS

Arthur Draper, able New York newspaper editor, says the modern world needs "flaming youth." Young people, he says, by their accomplishments are removing the questionable meaning of the phrase. He agrees with Sir James M. Barrie that "we need youth with courage, gay, lighthearted."

With flaming youth Draper would associate such words as sportsmanship and loyalty. Today's youth hates deceit and hypocrisy more than did the older generation.

MYSTERY OF FRUIT JAR MONEY STILL UNSOLVED

Where the $17,850, which she hid in a fruit jar, has gone, remains a mystery to Mrs. Annie Rosenbaum, after a preliminary court skirmish with her husband, Samuel Rosenbaum, pants manufacturer, in Superior Judge Hahn's court. The story of the fruit jar with the valuable preserves came out at the hearing where Judge Hahn modified a restraining order, and permitted Mrs. Rosenbaum to borrow $1000 on a $15,000 trust deed in order to raise expenses. The judge also allowed Rosenbaum to raise money by encumbering his machinery.

The Rosenbaums married June 9, 1897, and separated June 3, last. Their community property is estimated to exceed $60,000. Mrs. Rosenbaum has instituted a suit for divorce, asserting that her husband choked her and threatened to kill her. In his answer, Rosenbaum asserted his wife is unbalanced mentally.

When he filed an insanity complaint, his wife fled to Reno, Nev., escaping jurisdiction of the California courts until her attorney, Thomas L. Nair, obtained an order restraining Rosenbaum from sending her to trial for her sanity. In the meantime, Mrs. Rosenbaum drew $17,850 from their bank and hid the money in a fruit jar in their home. She asserts that when she searched for it later, the jar and its contents had vanished.

She also took possession of a $15,000 trust deed. This was the instrument which Judge Hahn permitted to be used for borrowing $1000 for expenses pending trial of the divorce suit.

ALASKA MINING PIONEER AIDS IN FILMING NOVEL

Robert Harris

Robert Harris, friend and partner of Rex Beach during the Alaskan gold rush days of thirty years ago and today owner of one of the wealthiest and most extensive independent gold-mining properties in the northern country, has arrived in Hollywood for a new experience in an eventful lifetime.

Harris, from his vast fund of knowledge won by adventure on the world's frontiers, will assist Paramount in the first sound filming of one of Beach's stories now in production in the Hollywood studios and at various locations.

Harris's mother and father were pioneers of the long trek of '49, six months and six days to California from Texas in an ox-drawn covered wagon. He was born in the Sacramento Valley. As a child 10 years of age he knew the activity of Tombstone, Ariz., when that camp town was booming. Later the family removed to San Bernardino and then to Los Angeles, where the boy attended the old Railroad School near the Plaza. Los Angeles at the time had a population of near 40,000.

In 1900 Harris was an apprentice to the machinist trade in Downey. Word of the gold strike at Nome swept the Pacific Coast and young Harris was among the first to go. He reached Nome in the spring of 1901 on one of the first ships in after the ice broke up to admit passage through the Bering Sea. He found a town of tents and rough board hovels, swarming with men, and with no law other than the law of the guns all carried.

Because Harris "got in" early, he filed claim on a section of beach. Others who came later were forced to hunt out claims in the creek beds and canyons six miles back from shore. The strike at Nome was the only one in the history of mining where free gold was found in the sands of the shore.

Harris's claim adjoined that of Rex Beach, a young lawyer from Chicago who had heard of the strike and hastened to take part in it. Beach was 22 years of age. Harris was 30. There, on the sands of Nome began a friendship that has lasted through twenty-nine years. They still correspond regularly although they have not seen one another for years. Harris divides his time between his claims above Nome in the summer and his winter home at Idyllwild in the mountains near San Bernardino.

In Nome, Beach and Harris knew intimately such men as Tex Rickard, owner of Nome's largest saloon and dance hall, the Northern; Wilson Mizner, Alexander Pantages, "Lucky" Baldwin, Virgil and Wyatt Earp and Ben Olcot, who later became Governor of Oregon. These men were leaders in the wild mining camp that Nome became.

Harris's great fund of information has been of material help to the Paramount corporation in filming Rex Beach's story. From a memory that is almost photographic in detail he placed approval on duplication of the town of Nome as it was thirty years ago, on the reproduction of the Midas mine in Anvil Creek, and on other historic details.

The reproduction of Nome at Point Hueneme, near Oxnard, covers more than two square miles of beach front and extends for more than a mile along the shore.

JOB SHIFTS FOR JUDGES ANNOUNCED

Municipal Court Jurists will be Shifted About as Vacation Season Ends

With all but three judges of the Municipal Court returning from vacation a general reassignment, effective today, has been announced by Acting Presiding Judge Pope.

Judge Stafford is assigned to Division 3, master calender felony preliminary division; Judge Ballard to Division 5, misdeameanor court without juries; Judge MacCoy to Division 6, women's misdeameanor court; Judge Sheldon to Division 7, misdemeanor jury court; Judge Valentine to Division 11, Traffic Court; Judge Chambers to Division 15; Judge Galbreth to Division 17; Judge Baird to Division 18; Judge Eagan to Division 20; Judge Lickley to Division 21 and Judge Willis to Division 26.

All the latter are civil divisions. In every case the assignments have been to the courts in which the judges named presided before their vacations except in Division 3, where Judge Stafford replaces Judge Ballard, transferred to Division 5 after nearly a year's service in the master calendar court.

CITY'S SCHOOLS CALL CHILDREN

Total of 236,000 Expected to Enter Classes

Budget This Year Million Below Last Term

Increased Efficiency will Offset Reduction

Through many thoroughfares will pass 236,000 more or less earnest seekers of knowledge this morning on their way to the first day of school. The majority of these will be children, but among their number will be many adults learning trades that will enable them to earn a living.

Awaiting them are 294 elementary schools, twenty-three junior high schools, twenty-nine senior high schools, and various other institutions of instruction. The age of the scholars range from toddlers enrolled in kindergarten to men and women well past middle life.

Frank A. Bouelle, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday that notwithstanding the heavy enrollment expected today, the budget appropriation for conducting the schools this year, and meeting the various needs of the Board of Education, is $1,026,232 less this year than last. Greater efficiency in operation will offset the reduction in the appropriation for educational purposes, he said.

Two new high schools and four elementary schools are under construction, Mr. Bouelle added, and work on these will be rushed so as to meet the needs creased enrollment, and sands of others who later. Superintendent B dicted that by the end o no less than 440,000 stu have been enrolled in all cational institutions in th largest in the city's his

ANGELS, SEALS DIVIDE BILL

Lose First Contest, 9-1 to San Francisco Club

Baecht Hurls Seraphs to 5-1 Win in Nightcap

Los Angeles Wins Series from Northerners

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The Seals won the first game of the double-header today, 9 to 1. Los Angeles won the second game, which was a seven-inning affair, by a score of 5 to 1. Los Angeles won the odd game of the nine-game series, winning five and losing four.

ED BAECHT.

Jimmy Zinn pitched the first game and turned in his twenty-first win of the season. Ed Baecht won the second game for the Angels and it was his twentieth victory of the season.

Art Delaney stood the Seals off for six rounds in the first game, but he was batted out of the box in the seventh, when the Seals bunched seven hits and scored seven runs. Crosetti got a home run with two on bases in that inning to help the Seals along.

The Angels made their only run off Zinn in the second inning when he walked Schulmerich and Jacobs and the former scored on sacrifices by Statz and Parker.

Henry Oana was the batting star of the first game with two singles and two doubles. Zinn hit a home run and a single off Delaney. Pinelli and Crosetti got three hits each.

Elmer Jacobs started the second game and he got off to a poor start, the Angels scoring

THE AMERICA'S CUP

"HOW old is the America's Cup?" writes a correspondent interested in the pending international yacht battle between Enterprise, the defender, and Shamrock V, the challenger.

Well, just about old enough for none of our living graybeards to furnish a bird's-eye account of the America's achievements.

The America's Cup was won in 1851, and it was named after the first boat that won it.

The America crossed the ocean and sailed against seventeen British cutters and schooners of varying tonnage—and beat them all.

That was the only way in which the America could get a race, and the cup—put up by the Royal Yacht Squadron—became the permanent trophy of the America.

Later the gentlemen forming the syndicate which built the America and sailed her across the ocean penned a deed gift to the New York Yacht Club, making the cup a perpetual challenge trophy.

In its nearly eighty years of existence the America's Cup has been challenged for on numerous occasions, and Sir Thomas Lipton's current bid is his fifth. He first challenged for the cup in 1898.

THE DOUBTFUL CUBS

THE CUBS started their road trip yesterday and the fireworks began. They dropped a double-header to the Cincy Reds, and as you will note in another column the Cubs are only four games ahead of the heap with three outfits in a nose-and-nose gallop to overtake them. And they have all the worst of the remaining schedule.

The Brooklyn Dodgers play all but two of their games at home, the Giants leave the home pits but twice—a tri pacross the bridge to Brooklyn—the Cubs hit the home lot in only four of their remaining games and the St. Louis Cards play eight at home.

The sole factor in the Cubs's favor is a three-game engagement with only one of their three leading rivals. However, if the other second-division clubs treat them as did Cincinnati yesterday this means no advantage at all.

SHEIK ATTACK CRUSHES REDS

Shellenback Has Easy Time Capturing Opener

Home Runs Put Skids Under Knott in Nightcap

Barbee and Heath Each Rap Two Circuit Swats

BY BOB RAY

Just too much power, that's all! Inasmuch as the football season is rapidly approaching it might not be amiss to start today's lead that the Hollywood Stars steam-rollered the Missions into submission in yesterday's Labor Day twin bill at Wrigley Field, for that's just what Oscar Vitt's league-leaders did.

DAVE BARBEE.

After hammering their way to an easy 15-to-4 triumph in the opener, the Sheiks had to unload their home run attack to come from behind and annex the nightcap, 6 to 2.

After Jack Knott, promising Young Mission right-hander, had held them to no hits in the first four innings of the final game, the Stars got their attack functioning in the fifth to make a walk and a home run by Mickey Heath good for two tallies that tied the score. Then in the sixth another walk and three hits, the last a circuit clout by Dave Barbee with two on, produced four more Hollywood markers and put the contest on ice.

Knott held the Vittmen to four hits in the afterpiece but those home run wallops deprived him of victory after a brilliant pitching exhibition.

BARBEE, HEATH SHINE

Barbee and Heath, by the way, each hit two home runs yesterday to continue their battle for circuit clouting supremacy of the league. Barbee's total is now thirty-two and Mickey is just one behind and tied with Fuzzy Hufft, who got his thirty-first homer in the second contest.

As a result of their double victory yesterday the Stars ran off with the series by a six-to-three margin and increased their lead over the second-place Angels to three and a half contests. The Sheiks and Missions continue their battle at San Francisco today, while Jack Lelivelt's Seraphs and the Seals start an important seven-game series at Wrigley Field this evening.

ARNOLD TAKES ALTOONA RACE

Chicago Driver Cinches Driving Laurels

Litz Finishes Second in Shortened Clash

Cantlon Given Third as Rain Halts Event

BY A. NORMAN GAGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

ALTOONA SPEEDWAY, ALTOONA (Pa.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Billy Arnold, young Chicago speed king, won the Labor Day race on the board oval here today, finishing ahead of Deacon Litz of Dubois, Pa., after a thrilling duel. The event was scheduled for 200 miles, but was stopped after 116 1-4 miles when the rain which had threatened to postpone the race from the start, broke into a heavy shower and made completion dangerous and impossible.

MEL KENEALLY

Arnold completed the 116 1-4 miles in 1h. and 1m., an average of 113 miles an hour. The victory gave him 139 points and increased his season total to 1027. Shorty Cantlon of Akron, O., his nearest rival for the 1930 A.A.A. championship, won 104 points by placing third today and increased his season total to 584.

CROWN CINCHED

Ted Allen, secretary of the A.A.A. contest board, said Arnold's triumphs today guarantee him the 1930 title since Cantlon, by winning the remaining official event at Syracuse next Saturday, could add only 120 points and could not overtake Arnold.

The shower which terminated the race broke up a duel between Arnold and Litz which had the crowd of about 30,000 excited from start to finish. Arnold set the pace from the moment Starter Jack Rose sent the field away. He averaged 120 miles an hour during the first fifty miles, a speed which only Litz was able to match.

Litz twice sent the spectators to their feet when his efforts to overtake Arnold were coupled with "breaks" which endangered his life. On the fiftieth lap of the mile-and-a-quarter track, the "Deacon" was just about to pass Billy when Litz's machine skidded and shot into the dirt on the eastern turn. The incident, aside from thrilling the crowd, had no effect on the duel and Litz was immediately in Arnold's wake.

Litz gained the lead a few minutes later when Arnold went into the pit to change his left front tire.

CUB LEAD OVER GIANTS SHAVED TO FOUR GAMES

Ball Bounds Over Hack Wilson's Head in Ninth to Give Reds Twin Win; Cards Annex Two

CINCINNATI (O.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds dealt a stunning blow to Chicago's hope of sewing up the National League race soon by taking a Labor Day double-header and leaving the Cubs only four games ahead of the field. Scores were 5 to 0 and 2 to 1.

The Cubs had the second game won, 1 to 0, with two down in the ninth inning when one of baseball's worst breaks went against Hack Wilson. Sukeforth's hit to center bounced weirdly over Wilson's head and went for a triple, scoring Stripp and Crawford, who had walked.

HACK WILSON.

The first game was a victory for Red Lucas, who gave the Cubs only three hits and shut them out. His team-mate, Frey, did almost as well in the second game, letting the Cubs down with five hits, although Osborn did jus tas well for Chicago. The Reds could not find him from the first inning to the sixth. Scores:

National Loop Race Tightens as Cubs Lose

Chicago four games ahead of New York.

New York one-half game ahead of St. Louis.

St. Louis one-half game ahead of Brooklyn.

That's the way the hot National League flag races stand today following yesterday's barrage of double-headers.

The Cards are only five games out of first place, with about a month to go, and each one of the four teams must survive a gruelling stretch drive if it hopes to win. The season officially closes the 28th of this month.

The league-leading Cubs have twenty games yet to play, four of them at home and sixteen on the road. The Giants move over to Flatbush to play the Dodgers twic for their only away-from-home games in their remaining eighteen contests. St. Louis is on the road for fourteen contests, and has eight at home. The Dodgers go to Philadelphia for two games and play nineteen at home.

The Cubs, however, meet only one of their major opponents, playing a three-game series with Brooklyn. For the rest of the games they pick on second-division opposition, including three games with Cincinnati, which handed the Bruins a brace of defeats yesterday.

The Giants play two with Brooklyn, four with St. Louis and three with the Cubs. The Cards face the Giants four times and Brooklyn on three occasions. The Dodgers also hook up with all three leading foes, playing the Giants twice and the Cubs and Cards three each.

St. Louis has the greatest number of games to play, encountering twenty-two opponents, playing fourteen games in fifteen days on the road. The Dodgers have twenty-one contests, the Cubs twenty and the Giants eighteen. All four out-

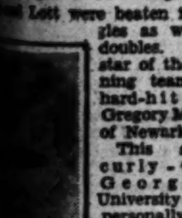
ESTERN NET STARS BEATEN

Scores Surprise Victory as Doeg, Lott Lose to Van Ryn, Mangin in Doubles Clash

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

[illegible] EST HILLS (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Overturning the national dou[illegible] champions, George Lott and Johnny Doeg, a surprisingly powerful [illegible] of eastern tennis stars defeated the West by a count of three [illegible] to two in the annual intersectional series today before a gallery

[illegible] West proved weakest where [illegible] thought to be strongest and [illegible] Lott were beaten in singles as well as doubles. The star of the winning team was hard-hitting Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J. This sturdy, curly-haired Georgetown University senior personally accounted for Doeg in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, and paired with Johnny Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., to [illegible] the Lott-Doeg combina[illegible] 6-3, 8-6.



NNY EG

Lott also was trounced in straight sets by Frank Shields, 6-3, 6-2, the young New York giant decisively outplaying the Chicago star who shared with Bill Tilden the Davis Cup singles assignment against the French.

The outstanding player for the West was Berkeley Bell, lithe little human dynamo from Austin, Tex., who defeated J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, in singles and then joined forces with 18-year-old Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Cal., to overcome Shields and Hall, 6-4, 6-4.

PERRIN, MURPHY TIE

J. E. Perrin and P. G. Murphy tied for first place in the three-day ringer tournament held at the Brentwood, according to an announcement made last night. Both Perrin and Murphy had 60's. E. A. Swan and Dr. F. L. Mitchell tied for third with 61.

MISS CARSTAIRS AGAIN DEFEATED BY GAR WOOD

DETROIT, Sept. 1. (AP)—The third and final attempt of Marion Barbara Carstairs, courageous young English sportswoman, to beat Gar Wood in a Harmsworth trophy race, ended in failure when Wood piloted his Miss America IX to an easy victory in the final heat of that classic today. As was the case in the first heat of the race Saturday, the British challenger Estelle IV, came to grief when its fuel tanks collapsed and Wood was not even pressed by the British boat.

GAR WOOD

Wood, heading a team of three boats, covered the thirty-mile course at an average speed of 77.390 miles an hour, which betters his former record for the Harmsworth of 75.287 made last year.

Estelle IV, with Bert Hawker at the wheel, performed well for four laps and then suddenly dropped out. Accepting a tow to his boathouse, Hawker reported that Estelle IV's tanks had collapsed just as did those of Estelle V, in the third lap Saturday.

Miss America VIII, driven by George Wood, finished second today and took the credit of having made today's fastest lap, at a speed of 79.185 miles an hour.

Before the second heat today Miss Carstairs, who has spent approximately $500,000 in her effort during the last three years, to recapture for England the trophy that symbolizes the world's speedboat championship, announced definitely that she would not again challenge for the Harmsworth trophy.

In a last heroic effort to beat Wood, Miss Carstairs surrendered any personal ambition she may have had and gave her place at the wheel of Estelle IV to Bert Hawker, with instructions to force the Wood brothers to the utmost, or "crack up Estelle IV, if necessary to do it." Apparently Hawker followed orders for the crack-up came in the fifth lap and it was the same kind of a breakdown that befell the Estelle V, when Hawker had it wide open in the first heat Saturday.

The British had better luck in another international race today. Hubert Scott-Raine drove his Miss Britain I to a point score victory in the Detroit News trophy race for five and one-half liter hydroplanes. Miss Britain I and the Phantom of Houston, Tex., driven by Frank Robertson, engaged in a thrilling battle in the second heat of this race after Miss Britain I had taken the first heat by default.

GLEN SHULTZ CAPTURES PIKE'S PEAK ROAD RACE

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Glen Shultz again has conquered the steep and tortuous road which leads 14,109 feet into the clouds to the summit of famed Pike's Peak.

In a Stutz special he roared up the twelve miles of precipitous grades in 18m. 8.5s. today to win the twelfth annual Labor Day hill climb. Shultz averaged better than forty miles an hour. Despite excellent road conditions he failed to break the course record, set by himself in 1928, of 17m. 41.6s.

Riding with the fourteen drivers who flashed over the course was the handicap of heavy grades, sharp curves and rarified air which robs the motor of power, the racing cars flashed around hairpin curves where a skid would have meant a drop of hundreds of feet.

Louis Unser in a Coleman front-drive came in behind the leader in 18:37.4, while Robert Mason in a Cliff House Special was third and Angelo Cimino, Broadmoor Special, fourth, with Ed McConglogne, Coleman Special, fifth. To Shultz and his car it was an old story. His victory today was his sixth and he was placed in the money three other times since starting his hill-climbing career in 1921.

In the light stock-car class, W. P. Shepherd in a Willys six was fifth in 24:18.8. L. L. Bowser, also in a Willys six, was second in 25:15.

Edward Phillips, with a Cord, had no competition in the heavy stock-car class and took his time to finish in 29:18.4.

Shultz won $1250 cash for first place. The Penrose trophy was awarded to Shepherd for the best time in the stock-car class.

CALIFORNIA GIRLS WIN

Helen and Mercedes Marlowe, Caroline Babcock and Dorothy Workman Cop in National Play

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Favorites came through with ease to enter the third round of the girls' national tennis championships which started today on the Philadelphia Cricket Club turf courts.

The survivors included Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, Mass., defending champion; her sister, Joanna; Helen Marlowe, Caroline Babcock, Mercedes Marlowe and Dorothy Workman, all of California; Helen Fulton, Chicago; Billie Plumer, Westfield, N. J., Barbara Christy, Montclair, N. J., and Helen Boehm, Helen Bidwell and Hilda Boehm, all of Boston.

HELEN MARLOWE

Miss Workman, seeded No. 3, who holds the Pacific Coast girls' championship, was extended somewhat to get out of the first round. She won, 6-4, 6-3, over Katherine Winthrop, Boston, and then breezed through to a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Polly Converse, Philadelphia, in the second round.

Sarah Palfrey, seeded first, lost a total of only two games in her two matches, defeating her 13-year-old opponent, Millicent Hirsch, 6-1, 6-0, and winning from Mary Mattson, Philadelphia junior champion, 6-0, 6-1.

After drawing a bye in the first round Helen Marlowe, seeded No. 2, raced through her second-round match, defeating Julia Park, New York, in love sets.

Joanna Palfrey, with whom Sarah will attempt to win the doubles crown, brushed aside Agnes McClure, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-2, in the second round.

LAUNDRYMAN SURPRISES IN BORDER MAIN RACE

AGUA CALIENTE, Sept. 1.—Laundryman, a speedy gray runner bearing the colors of Gardiner and Smith, startled a large gathering of "getaway day" fans by scoring his first victory of the summer meeting in the Labor Day Handicap at a mile and a quarter here this afternoon. James A. Parson's Seth's Hope gathered the place, while Dr. Higbee, of the Camp Cady stables, copped the show.

Nine races marked the closing day's program at the border oval which will be closed until Christmas Day, when it will reopen its gates for the winter session. Four thoroughbreds faced the barrier in the Labor Day race.

As Dr. Higbee and Seth's Hope separated coming into the stretch, Laundryman pressed through the opening, disposed of the two leaders and went on gamely to win by a length in the good time of 2:04 4-5.

In the Sir Harry Handicap, for juveniles and older horses, Chet Parson's 2-year-old Nadia gained the verdict over Harry Mason's Chard. Brooksie, owned by Johnny Coburn, was third.

Because of the success of the first summer meeting, it was announced by James A. Crofton, general manager of the Agua Caliente plant, that another midyear session will be held in 1931. The opening date will be the same as it was this year,

Labor-Day Crowd of 72,000 Sees Athletics Split Double-Header with Yankee C

RUFFING ALLOWS CHAMPS TWO HITS IN NIGHTCAP

Macks Take Opener, 3 to 2, Due to Home Run by Simmons, but Yanks Score Win in Second, 2 to 0

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—A Labor Day crowd of 72,000 fans saw the world champion Athletics, making their last local appearance, break even in a double-header with New York. The A's took the opener, 3 to 2, but the Yanks won the second, 2 to 0.

Charlie Ruffing set the champions down with two hits in the nightcap, striking out Al Simmons, whose home run in the first game defeated the Yankees, three times in a row. George Earnshaw, striving for his twenty-second victory, allowed only six hits, but a wild pitch let one run across the plate, while Babe Ruth drove in the other with a single.

In the opener, Lefty Grove was rushed to the rescue after Walberg and Mahaffey had failed and the Athletics' ace stopped the Yankees by striking Ruth out in the ninth with two men on base. Al Simmons's thirty-second homer of the season with Cochrane on base proved to be the winning margin. Scores:

SOLONS WIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Washington gained a game on Philadelphia by winning two hard-fought contests from Boston today, 2 to 1, and 6 to 3.

Lloyd Brown relieved Marberry in the second contest with two men on and no one out. He retired the side without further scoring and then drove out a home run in the seventh to put the Senators in the lead.

In the first game with the tying run on third in the ninth and two out, Joe Cronin leaped high in the air to check Reeves's line drive and then made the catch as he and the ball were falling. Cronin also stole home in the seventh inning of the second game. Scores:

TWO FOR TIGERS

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers took the holiday double-header from the White Sox here today, winning both games by scores of 6 to 5 and 4 to 2. Earl Whitehill got his fifteenth win of the year in the second contest after Ted Lyons had failed in an effort to win his twentieth.

The winning runs in the first game came over in the ninth, when Funk doubled, went to third on an infield out, and scored on a single by McManus. The second game went to the Tigers when hits by McManus and Akers coupled with two errors by Watwood let in a pair in the fourth, and hits by Gehringer, Stone and Akers scored two more in the sixth. Alexander and Reynolds hit home runs in the opening contest. The scores:

INDIANS COP

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians celebrated Labor Day here today by winning a double-header from the St. Louis Browns, the first game 13 to 8 and the nightcap 9 to 5. The second game was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness.

In winning the second game Wesley Ferrell of the Indians chalked up his twenty-fourth victory of the season and his thirteenth triumph in a row. Willis Hudlin, the Indians' third pitcher, was the winning hurler in the first encounter.

Porter hit a home run for the Indians in the first game and Hodapp, also of the Indians, hit for the circuit in the nightcap. The scores:

BALKO SETS RECORD TO COP TURF EVENT

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Balko, 6-year-old son of the famous Omar Khayyam from the Sagamore stable, established a new track record for six furlongs today over the Widener straightaway as Belmont Park opened its fall meeting. Balko stepped the distance in 1:09 2-5 under the crushing weight of 136 pounds, clipping four-fifths of a second off the mark made by What'll I Do in 1926 under 107 pounds.

GIANTS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL WITH PHILS; ROBINS SPLIT TWO WITH BOSTON

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Giants did plenty of slugging today but the best they could get was an even break with the Phillies, New York taking the opener, 8 to 4, and Philadelphia the second, 4 to 3.

Carl Hubbell held the Phillies to seven hits in the first game while his team-mates were banking away at three Phillie hurlers for fourteen safeties, including homers by Fred Leach and Frank Hogan and a triple, double and two singles by Bill Terry.

In the second encounter the Giants hung up thirteen hits, but could not bunch them, while the wildness of Bill Walker let the Phillies get away to a nearly 4-to-1 lead. The McGraw men sent Ray Benge to the showers in the ninth, but Collins stopped the rally by disposing of O'Farrell for the third out. The scores:

BRAVES SPLIT

BOSTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—The fast-slipping Brooklyn Robins tumbled into fourth place in the National League standings today, breaking even in a double-header with the Boston Braves, while the Cards were taking two from Pittsburgh. Boston accounted for the first battle, 5 to 3, after rain had delayed the start, but the Robins took a 4-to-2 decision in the second game.

Wally Berger's thirty-second home run, off Ray Phelps, drove in three of the Braves' five runs in the first game, while Lopez's homer off Sherdel accounted for all of the Robins' tallies.

Hollis Thurston opposed Bob Smith in the nightcap and won his own game, while he doubled in the seventh, scoring two base runners. The scores:

ANGELS, SEALS DIVIDE BILL

three runs in the first inning. The Seals were never able to catch up.

Sigafoos started the game with a single and then retired to rest his injured leg, and Johnny Rawlings took his place at second base. Rawlings was thrown out trying to steal. Harper and Haney were walked. Schulmerich and Jacobs followed with hits to score two runs and the third run scored when Statz forced Jacobs at second.

A wild throw to first base by Crosetti let the Angels score a run in the fifth. The Seals had their best chance in the last of the fifth, but got only one run. Oana singled and went to third on Coleman's hit to right. Gaston struck out. Zinn batted for Elmer Jacobs and his single to right scored Oana. Zinn tried to go to second and was thrown out, and Powles's out retired the side.

Pudgy Gould pitched the last two innings and got by the sixth unhurt. With one man out in the seventh, Schulmerich singled to right and was thrown out by Coleman when he tried to stretch the hit to two bases. A run was thrown away right there, for Ray Jacobs followed with a home run into the left-field bleachers. Scores:

Lits lost it about ten laps later through his second mishap at the eastern turn.

Lits's right front tire blew as he was coming out of the turn. His car skidded into the dirt, swung completely around while the crowd gasped, and was finally righted by superb driving and was piloted into the pit. The tire change cost Lits nearly a lap and he resumed the race about a mile behind Arnold, who had regained the lead.

The official list of the finishers was:

Arnold, first; Lits, second; Cantlon, third; Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, fourth; Russ Snowberger, Philadelphia, fifth; Mel Keneally, Los Angeles, sixth; Lou Moore, seventh; Lou Meyer, South Gate, California, eighth; Phil Pardee, Los Angeles, ninth; "Speed" Gardner, Pittsburgh, tenth.

Jimmy Gleason of Philadelphia and "Stubby" Stubblefield of Los Angeles, did not finish. A broken connecting rod forced Gleason out after twenty-five miles, while a broken piston accounted for Stubblefield at thirty miles.

City Elevens Issued Grid Suits Today

Marking the first year of the newly formed twelve-school city league, coaches at all the institutions will call the football roll this afternoon. In most cases uniforms will be issued and football practice will start tomorrow.

Besides the seven members of the old City League, five schools of the Minor loop, are in the new circuit. The complete membership includes Poly, L. A. High, Hollywood, Franklin, Jefferson, Lincoln, Manual Arts, Fremont, Belmont, Fairfax, Roosevelt and Garfield.

CARDS COP

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals went on a hitting spree here today, beating Pittsburgh in both games of a holiday double bill, to assume third place in the league race. The score in the morning was 11 to 6, and in the afternoon, 5 to 1.

Rhem was victor in the morning when the Redbirds compiled seventeen safeties off Swetonic and French. Grimes had an easy time in the afternoon, holding th Buccaneers to one run.

Kremer was out to win his twentieth game, but he could not hold the Cards in check. Scores:

CALIENTE COURSE OPENING TONIGHT

Mayor John C. Porter will officially open the new Caliente golf park tonight with a dedicatory speech. The park boasts two complete eighteen-hole courses with a so-called pasture pool course said to be an innovation in pool and golfing. It is claimed that the Caliente courses, between the miniature and regulation golf course size, has cost nearly $140,000 to build. They are said to be the last word in courses of this type.

MICKEY COHEN WINS BOUT

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1. (AP)—Mickey Cohen, Denver lightweight, won a newspaper decision over the veteran Joe Glick of New York, in a ten-round boxing bout here tonight. Newspaper men at ringside gave Cohen six of the ten rounds.

STARS NAB HOLIDAY BILL

Sheiks Hammer Out 15-4 Win in Opener and Then Home Run Way to 6-2 Victory in Nightcap

the mound for the Sheiks in the final contest, but gave way to Jim Turner after blanking the Reds in the first. Rhodes is still troubled with a lame arm and was left at home when the Stars departed for San Francisco last night.

Turner was touched for eleven hits in the six innings he worked, but had a lot of tough luck. At that the "southern gentleman" from the Piedmont League was tighter than popcorn in the pinches and deserved the victory.

HUFFT HITS HOMER

After three scoreless innings in the nightcap Hufft dropped one into the right-field bleachers for a circuit clout in the fourth to give the Reds a one-run start.

The Missions picked up another score off Turner in the fifth when Knott singled to left, was bunted along by Mulligan and driven home by Rodda's hit to center. Barbee then caught Monroe's line drive and doubled Rodda off second with a perfect throw to Lee to end the rally.

In the sixth a lucky hit by Hufft and a bunt by Burns that was called fair by Umps Cady despite the fact that it was a foot foul, gave the Reds a flying start. After Rosenberg had popped to Severeid Kelly walked to fill the bases. Turner then fanned Bert Cole, batting for Brenzel, and retired Knott on a roller to Catina to get out of a tight spot that he shouldn't have been in.

A walk to Carlyle and Heath's clout far over the right-field wall evened the count for Hollywood.

STARS SEW UP CONTEST

Turner opened the sixth with a double to center but he was nipped at third on Hill's bunt to Knott. Lee then walked and Gazella delivered a timely single to score Hill with what proved to be the winning run. To make it even more emphatic Barbee hit one over the left-field fence to score three more and bring the count to its final resting place.

Mulligan and Hufft got singles in the seventh but Turner kept the Reds from getting a man past second and clinched his victory.

The opener was a wild affair in which the Sheiks hammered Dutch Lieber and Lefty Johnson for twenty hits and piled up fourteen runs in the first four rounds.

Shellenback eased up after getting such a big lead and let the Reds collect twelve safeties, but they were good only for two earned runs.

Jesse Hill cracked out three singles and a triple in his first four times at bat and led the Hollywood attack in the opener.

The Reds got a run in the first on Rodda's single, Lee's muff and Hufft's double but the Stars came back with two in the second when Heath homed into the center field stands after Carlyle had singled.

Six more Hollywood runs pattered over the plate in the third, two hits by Hill, singles by Lee, Carlyle and Severeid, two walks, a wild pitch and two errors making possible the big innings.

Johnson started pitching in the fourth and Gazella and Barbee greeted him with successive homers over the left field fence. Carlyle's double, Heath's single, Bassler's double, Catina's single and Hill's double, on which he completed the circuit when Kelly bobbled the ball, made it six more runs in the inning and put the contest in the Hollywood cooler.

The Reds bunched hits in the fifth and sixth to get their other three runs off Shellenback while the Stars picked up their final run in the eighth when Cook got his second hit and scored as Kelly muffed Hill's long fly.

The rest of the field trailed off in the distance. Three favorites gained the 75 station. They were William Jeliffe and Danny Sangster, both Los Angeles, and Herb Schultz, Jr., of Oakland. All played over Cypress Point.

Another trio, Chester Lyday, Los Angeles; Rudy Bain, Piedmont, and A. G. Sato, San Francisco, posted 77's. Lyday and Sato played Cypress Point, and Bain, Pebble Beach.

Despite a disastrous 10 on the ninth hole for a 40, Francis Brown of Honolulu came back to turn in a 78. Three under par for the first eight holes, the former champion of Hawaii dumped his second shot on the ninth into a deep trap. He took five strokes to get out of the pit. It is one of Cypress Point's worst hazards.

The most disappointing showing of the day was made by Jack Neville, defending title-holder, who virtually eliminated himself with an 88. The Pebble Beach entrant was off his game from tee to green. Only a most brilliant comeback tomorrow will win him a place in the select thirty-two who will fight it out for the crown. Neville, a veteran, has held the title six times. He played at Cypress Point today.

Several other favorites, all playing at Cypress Point, were well down the list. They were Fay Coleman, Los Angeles, with 78; F. C. Stevens, Jr., of Hollywood, runner-up in 1929 event, with 79; Charles Seaver and Winston Fuller, Los Angeles youths who carded 80's; Bon Stein of Seattle, 82, and the Thompson brothers of Glendale—Harold and Russell — who turned in 83's.

Weather conditions were good today with practically no breeze. In tomorrow's concluding qualifying round, the fields will reverse, those playing Cypress Point today changing to Pebble Beach and vice versa. Scores of Southern California golfers follow:

Jackson Faces Lawless Tonight

SLUGGERS IN OLYMPIC BOUT

Fast Battle Expected in Feature Struggle

Evans Takes on Varner in Semifinal Clash

Pete Sarmiento Appears Against Ross

BY KAY OWE

Two young prospects face tests tonight in the Olympic's main event. They are Sammy Jackson, Santa Monica High School Negro, and Claude Varner, the watermelon rancher from Bakersfield.

HUERTA EVANS

Jackson boxes the highly rated Bucky Lawless in the ten-round main event. Varner meets Huerta Evans in the six-round semi-wind-up.

Lawless has had such a great string of wins over eastern headliners he should be choice over Jackson, but will probably be no more than even money at post time. The Syracuse Irishman took a ten-round decision from Jack Thompson early this year. Thompson won the welter title from Jackie Fields the next start.

BEAT FREEMAN

Lawless also beat Joe Dundee and his brother, Vince. He won from Tommy Freeman, who fights Thompson for the championship this week in Cleveland.

In one appearance here Lawless won handily from Babe Anderson, the boy Benny Miller nearly stopped at Hollywood. It is Jackson's victory over Miller that makes him a [illegible] with Lawless.

Last week Jackson knocked out Charley Feraci at San Diego and a short time ago stopped Young Harry Wills and Charley Cobb in the same arena.

Lawless is a club fighter. Judged by what he showed against Anderson he has no picnic in store for him with Jackson.

Young Varner and Evans look like a pair of game little sluggers who may steal the play away from the main event. It depends on the condition of Evans who hasn't been active lately.

Olympic fans saw Varner work against Charley Sullivan two weeks ago. The bout had a bad ending when Sullivan claimed foul, but Varner looked like a ring tiger.

KNOCKOUT STAR

The Bakersfield kid strikes out with both hands. He has run up a string of twenty-two knockouts in a short time. Not since Baby Sal Sorio was an Olympic card has the Grand-avenue people witnessed such hitting.

[illegible] Miller gets a lively opponent in Johnny DeLano in the second semi-wind-up. Billy Wagner, who has been scoring frequent knockouts at small clubs, is paired with Evans Fortune in a four. They weigh 168. Tony Ross, a youngster being tutored by Al Lang, opposes Pete Sarmiento in the opening bout.

Speicher Wins at Arrowhead

LAKE ARROWHEAD, Sept. 1.—Dr. R. A. Speicher, former Hollywood Country Club golfer, won the first flight of the three days' Labor Day match play golf tournament which ended here today. R. J. Schmertz of the Midwick and San Gabriel Country Club was runner-up. Frank Jennings, Virginia Country Club, won the second flight with F. Lyon of Wilshire Country Club runner-up.

Low gross in the qualifying round was won by Bill Jenkins of Midwick, while W. K. Pryor of the San Bernardino Country Club won low gross for nine holes. The consolation round staged this morning resulted in a three-way tie, R. W. Hannis, J. G. Jeffery and G. R. Claypool each turning in a 76 net.

An elimination match will be played at the convenience of the three to determine the winner of the trophy. The week-end hung up a new record for the mountain course, according to A. E. D. Trabue, secretary-manager. More than 250 players were registered at the caddie house, Trabue said.

Ray Skeete in Deauville Win

Ray Skeete of the Deauville Beach Club yesterday upset the field to win the annual A.A.U. five-mile ocean marathon staged yesterday at the Deauville club at Santa Monica. Skeete came from behind in the last half-mile and finished in the time of 2h. 57m. 29s., which is considered fast as the sea was very rough. His team-mate, Bill Greer, finished twenty-five yards behind him.

Tex Robertson, one of the favorites from the L.A.A.C., placed third and was followed by Larry Bayliss, unattached, and Sheldon White of the Deauville. This quintet was all that survived the gruelling grind out of a squad of eighteen that started.

Bob Bond of the Ambassador Club won the boys' junior half-mile race in the morning in 14m. 16s. Paul [illegible] of the Venice Swimming Association and Ed Scott of the San Diego Rowing Club were second and third. Noreen Forbes of the Lake Norco Club captured the girls' junior race in 16m. 51s. Margaret [illegible] of Venice and Louise [illegible] of the Lake Norco Club were second and third.

OSWALD WINS TENNIS TITLE

BOISE (Idaho) Sept. 1. (AP)—North Oswald of Spokane won the Idaho State tennis championship for the fourth time by defeating Mel Gallacher of Salt Lake City in a gruelling five-set match here today 6-4, 3-6, 2-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Yankee Yachts Take Laurels

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Sweeping the first three places, the American team of six-meter yachts won the opening day's brush with the British defenders of the British-American Cup in Long Island Sound today.

Mars, sailed by Van S. Merlesmith, finished first with Briggs Cunningham's Lucie second and Cherokee, piloted by Cornelius Shields, third.

The overwhelming victory of the American sloops ran up a total of 24¼ points for the Challengers while the British, with yachts in fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth places, counted only 12. The series is decided on a best four out of seven basis.

Prudence, sailed by Kenneth H. Preston, led the British forces in fourth place with the Pintra, piloted by Evelyn S. Parker, fifth. The American Aphrodite, sailed by C. Sherman Hoyt, captured sixth place and the final British entries, Felma, with P. A. Richards at the helm, and Coral, sailed by Major A. A. Stuart, seventh and eighth respectively.

BISBEE NABS SECOND HALF

BISBEE (Ariz.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The Bisbee Bees won the second half of the Arizona State League race here today by defeating Tucson, 9 to 0, while El Paso was dropping a game to Phoenix. El Paso, by winning, could have tied the Bees in the standings. Phoenix and Globe tied in the first half-season race, and will begin a play-off at Phoenix tomorrow to determine which is to meet Bisbee in the State title series.

MIKE McTIGUE BEATEN

CANTON (O.) Sept. 1. (AP)— Patsy Perroni, Canton light-heavyweight, won a ten-round decision over Mike McTigue, New York veteran, here tonight.

JOHNSON WINS UPSET BATTLE

Redondo Star Scores Over Robbins on Court

Cliff Johnson, Redondo tennis star, furnished the first big upset of the annual Santa Monica tennis tournament yesterday, when he conquered Cliff Robbins, U.C.L.A. racket wielder, in a long-drawn court battle, 9-7, 2-6, 6-4. Robbins was seeded No. 3 in the tournament, and was expected to get into the finals.

Johnson followed up his surprising victory by taking another three-set engagement from Kellogg, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4, coming from behind with a fine exhibition of skill. Harold Steiner, prominent local junior, turned in four winning matches yesterday, defeating Guareney and Keich in the men's singles, and defeating Boyd Georgi and Janss in the junior singles. Phil Hanna was the victor in one of the best-played matches of the day, defeating E. E. McCabe, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

Matches in the events for women and girls went about as expected, with Violet Doeg taking two matches. Sergt. Pauch in Rifle Victory

CAMP PERRY (O.) Sept. 1. (AP)—The navy match of the national rifle matches here was won today by an army sergeant, Frederick Pauch of Somerville, N. J., who topped 1484 shooters with a score of 97 out of a possible 100 points.

Robert B. Moore, Joplin, Mo., civilian and Sergt. John Carlson, Fort George Wright, Washington, also had scores of 97 each, but Pauch had the largest number of shots in the inner ring of the bulls eye. Three service men tied for second at 96 points each, Sergt. Willard Brown, United States Marine Corps; Lieut. Kemiel Martens, Fort George Wright, and Robert F. Gadd, Connecticut National Guard.

Ensign D. L. McDonald, United States Navy, won the match last year with a score of 96.

Maj. C. H. Hodges, Fort Benning, Georgia, carried off the day's honors at skeet shooting, a modified form of trapshooting, with 24 out of 25 targets. J. H. Otterson, Wilmington, Del., and F. J. Ward, Camp Perry, had 23s for second place.

Thurman Randle, Fort Worth, Tex., is leading the shooters attempting to qualify for the twenty places on the United States team which next Sunday will fire in the annual Dewar international shoot against marksmen of Canada, England, France and Belgium. Randle's score was 795 out of a possible 800. Sergt. Edgar L. Doyle, New Haven, Ct., is next with 794 and Fred J. Hansen, Chicago, third with 793. The team is to be selected the latter part of this week.

The Leech Cup rifle match was fired late today, with 1412 entries, but results were not announced. Heavy rain delayed the firing.

GLADYS PATZ WINS SAN JOSE NET TITLE

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Sept. 1. (AP)—Pupil bettered master today to carry off the honors as 1930 men's singles championships in the annual San Jose all-comers' tennis tournament. BRIGANDS FILL PRISONS

Prisons of Albania are reported to be filled with "gentlemen" brigands. In that country a brigand is considered an honorable person. To take to the mountains and become a highwayman is born in the blood, and although brigandage is punishable by imprisonment there is no shame attached to the crime. As the result of wholesale arrests brigands fill the prisons and, according to Albanians, all brigands are gentlemen.

SCOFIELD HEARING TODAY

Light May be Thrown on Confused Condition in Water and Power Board

Some light may be thrown on the confused condition of affairs now existing in the Board of Water and Power Commissioners at a public hearing this afternoon of the City Council's Water and Power Committee, Councilmen Jacobson, chairman; Williams and Cooke.

The specific purpose of the meeting is to consider Mayor Porter's action in summarily removing from office Water and Power Commissioner Scofield. This removal must have the sanction of the Council.

In order to go into the matter deeply the committee has invited Mayor Porter, Commissioner Scofield and the other members of the commissioner to be present and offer testimony.

While officially presenting no reason for his action, Mayor Porter has said that he removed Scofield because he is not in "harmony." Scofield came back with the reply that he is fighting a "plot" to hamstring the Bureau of Power and Light and that it isn't he who is out of tune, but Commissioners Brooks and Johnson.

Councilman Williams, when the matter first came to the attention of the Council, said he vigorously opposed a "deal" whereby Scofield's resignation was to be placed "in escrow" pending his appointment to the directorate of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

OPERA SETS AND CHORUS TO GO NORTH

Special Train with Forty Singers to Depart Today for San Francisco

A special train of nine cars will leave Central Station this morning for San Francisco with forty chorus singers and $150,000 worth of scenery for the opera season in the north. The sets are the property of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association and will be returned here for use in the local opera season in the Shrine Auditorium the 29th inst. to October 13.

The forty singers were selected from more than 100 aspirants, after several months of training. They will be united with a similar group in the north, and all of the singers will return to Los Angeles for the local season.

Public sale of tickets will start this morning at Barker Brothers.

Ten operas are to be presented on nine nights. Six favorites from the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, five of whom have appeared here before, will be heard in leading roles. They are Maria Jeritza and Queena Mario, sopranos; Dorothee Manski, contralto; Frederick Jagel and Beniamino Gigli, tenors, and Ezio Pinza, bass.

MEXICANS TO BE GIVEN CELEBRATION PERMIT

A request by the Confederation of Mexican Societies for permission to celebrate Mexican Independence Day at Lincoln Park on the 14th, 15th and 16th inst. at Lincoln Park, where 20,000 persons are expected to assemble, has been referred by the Park Commission to Secretary Hassett with power to act. Hassett said the necessary permission will be forthcoming.

Home? Where Husband Lives

Home is where the husband is, Superior Judge Yankwich has just ruled in granting Walter McDonald a divorce from Clara McDonald.

"Although I have tried time and again to coax her to live with me, she persistently turns me down for her mother," testified McDonald.

"The law is still old-fashioned. It allows the husband to choose the place of abode," ruled Judge Yankwich. "Decree granted."

His wife's mother has substantial means, McDonald said.
